HILLMAN'S REDS PUT HANNEGAN ON F.D.R. SHELF

Communists Spark 4th Term Drive.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 23.—The Democratic campaign management is continuing to "clear everything with Sidney" as President Roosevelt is reputed to have instructed his lieutenants on the eve of the Chicago convention.

Sidney Hillman.

Sidney Hillman, Russian born chairman of the Communist dominated CIO political action committee and head of the American Labor party, ably aided by Earl Browder, president of the Communist Political association, is the brains and the dynamo of the fourth term canvass. Robert Hannegan, chairman of the Democratic national committee, has been pushed so far into the background that he is being facetiously referred to in Democratic circles as Roosevelt's latest "forgotten man."

One reason is the Democratic committee's lack of funds, its war chest being but a fraction of Hillman's, despite the fact that the PAC has fallen down on the job of collecting a 6 million dollar campaign fund or anywhere near that much by assessment of CIO unions and individual workers.

No Job for Hannegan.

The quiet of a gentlemen's club pervades the Democratic headquarters in the Biltmore hotel. With Hillman doing the job there is not a great deal left for Hannegan and his associates to do. The activity is reminiscent of that which prevails at the Democratic headquarters at the Mayflower hotel, Washington, between elections.

But over at Hillman's PAC headquarters at 205 E. 42d st. one views a great organization in full operation. Departments, and divisions, and offices hum with activity to the accompaniment of clattering typewriters, ringing telephones, and the rumble of trucks laden with campaign literature. Here the Communists and fellow travelers and other left wingers labor from 8 to 12 hours a day to achieve the fourth term that Hillman has proclaimed they must get or fold up as an effective economic and political force.

Fear Russian Brogue.

Broken English and thick foreign accents proclaim the foreign origin of many of the workers at the Hillman headquarters. Hillman himself directs his campaign for control of the American government in a heavy Russian brogue that fills the Democratic managers with dismay and forebodings.

In fact, a good part of the activity at Democratic headquarters is devoted to keeping Hillman's Russian brogue out of general circulation from fear of the impression Demo-

FIRST TRIBUNE POLL RESULTS WILL BE PRINTED TOMORROW

First results of the straw vote for President being taken by THE TRIBUNE thruout Illinois will be published tomorrow. The poll also tests the strength of candidates for United States senator, governor, and state's attorney of Cook county. Further results will appear on succeeding days.

The straws to be tabulated tomorrow will be from Chicago wards, and several country towns, collected on street corners by workers with ballot boxes, with residents of the neighborhoods indicating their choices. Locations were selected so as to tap opinions of all principal racial and economic groups.

THE TRIBUNE'S straw vote is taken on a scale of 2 per cent of voter registration, which produces far more markings than other polls conducted in Chicago or in the state, with a corresponding higher degree of accuracy.

Mine Worker Shoots 3 at Union 'Trial'

Edward Heckelbech, 41, of 1638 Chase av., regional director of the United Mine Workers of America, District 50, and two other persons, were shot last night in the union's offices at 35 S. Dearborn st., by Arthel Shelton, 41, of 5337 S. Wabash av., Negro, an organizer for the union. Shelton then walked to Central police station and surrendered.

Arthel Shelton.

Police recognized him as the Arthel Shelton who, last August, in the role of bodyguard for Norman Zuckowsky of New York, vice president of the International Ladies Handbag, Luggage, Belt, and Novelty Workers union [AFL] swung at Sgt. Harold Enger of the police labor detail, while Zuckowsky was attempting to take over the offices of the Chicago Novelty Workers union, 209 W. Jackson blvd., by force.

Pair Freed by Judge Quilici.

Both Shelton and Zuckowsky were jailed and fingerprinted. Judge George L. Quilici, when he heard about it, went to the police station at night, ordered both men released on bonds which he signed himself, and assigned their cases to his own court.

A few days later he released them and ordered their fingerprints expunged from the records, after excoriating police for "taking people from their homes and hiding them from their loved ones."

The other victims of last night's shooting are Henry Johnson, 47, of 4147 South Park way, special representative of district 50, and Frank Alsup, 40, of 235 E. 35th st. Both Johnson and Alsup are Negroes. Johnson was shot in the abdomen. Heckelbech and Alsup received leg wounds.

Shots Halt Union Trial.

The shooting occurred during a hearing of charges preferred by Shelton and Dominic DalleAve against Heckelbech and Johnson, accusing them of malfeasance in office.

"During the hearing, Johnson began abusing me and made a motion like he was reaching for a gun," Shelton told police.

"I pulled a Luger pistol out of my brief case and began shooting. I aimed for Johnson, but I don't know whether I hit him. I saw Heckelbech running for his office and I knew he had a gun there. I don't know how many shots I fired.

"I then went to the police station where I surrendered."

Police found a .38 caliber automatic pistol in Heckelbech's desk. In Johnson's desk was a .45 caliber automatic. Both guns were loaded.

At the police station Shelton charged that Heckelbech had held up his pay check for $189 for two weeks' work, and that Heckelbech threatened him with a gun in the union office last Saturday.

Judge Quilici's intervention in behalf of Shelton and Zuckowsky at the time of Shelton's previous arrest was at the instance of Alfred Kamin, an attorney, former secretary of the Chicago chapter of the National Lawyers' Guild, of which Quilici formerly was president. The Lawyers' Guild frequently has been described as a communist front organization.

Infant Flown to U.S. Met by Grandmother

New York, Oct. 23 [Special].—Gurgling happily at all the fuss over him, 6 month old Kenneth Barry Maloney today kept a date for his dead father, a Yankee flyer. Arriving by plane from England, the little orphan met his daddy's mother here tonight and was on his way to his new home in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Mrs. William Maloney recalled that her son, Lt. Kenneth B. Maloney, had told her he thought he would be home soon. But he was killed after completing 100 bombing missions.

"In his last letter he said he would meet me in New York and we would do the town," she said, her eyes misty. Then looking down at the chubby, ruddy faced tot in her lap, she kissed his upturned nose and added: "Instead, it's my grandson I'm meeting on my first trip to New York."

Mother Died at Birth.

Little Kenneth's father was killed before he could marry his English sweetheart. Several months later she died in childbirth. Then her parents, with whom the baby was living, were killed when a robot bomb demolished their home in England. The infant was the only survivor.

British and American Red Cross coöperated to bring the baby here. A Red Cross nurse flew with the little war orphan on the long trip on which he was the youngest passenger ever to cross the Atlantic on an army transport plane.

"When the Red Cross told me he was here," his paternal grandmother related, "I left the dishes on the table and just jumped right on the next train for New York. I didn't have a reservation but the conductor took pity on me and found me a berth.

All in Readiness.

"Isn't he a wonderful, healthy baby. His hair and eyes are just like his father's. I hope he grows up to be just like him."

Upon his arrival yesterday, Kenneth passed a physical examination with flying colors. He was tended by the Red Cross until his newly found grandmother got here.

She said everything was in readiness for the infant. She has fixed up the old nursery in her 12 room home in Grand Rapids and has clothes, toys, and even a playmate —a 2 year old cousin — awaiting him. He'll even have a picture of his father and mother smiling down at him from a nursery wall.

"It was in the lieutenant's effects that the army returned to me," Mrs. Maloney explained. "They had it taken to send to me but didn't get around to it themselves."

DODGE, FIANCEE FEAR DAD MAY LEAVE THEM WAITING AT A CHURCH

Denver, Colo., Oct. 23 [Special].—Corp. Horace Dodge III., 21, heir to one of America's largest motor fortunes, faced a new dilemma tonight in his efforts to marry Margery Gehman, 20, red haired sculptress and daughter of a Buffalo university mathematics professor.

The dilemma was that the corporal has secured a 36 hour leave beginning tomorrow at 7 p. m. for the purpose of matrimony, but has now agreed to postpone the ceremony until his thrice married father can arrive from the east to be best man. The father, Maj. Horace Dodge Jr., is leaving Stamford, Conn., for Denver tonight but is not expected to arrive in Denver before Thursday.

Maj. Dodge was originally reported opposed to the marriage, and the corporal and Miss Gehman were quoted as saying the ceremony would take place nevertheless. Miss Gehman asserted she and her bridegroom would live on his corporal's salary and what she could earn. The major relented, it was said, after a telephone conversation with his son.

Corp. Dodge said tonight he will wait for his father, altho he hopes his precious leave hasn't expired before the major arrives. He is now under orders to report back to near-by Lowry field at 7 a. m. Thursday.

FIND MAN'S NUDE BODY NEAR FIRE IN VACANT ROOM

Firemen, responding to a still alarm last night in a vacant building at 821 S. State st., found the nude body of a man, his body pocked with evident cigaret burns, near the flames of a rubbish fire.

A preliminary medical examination disclosed a gash in the top of the head which may have been caused by a bullet or by a heavy instrument. Coroner Brodie soon afterward reported the finding of the apparent cigaret burns.

The victim, about 45, and clean shaven, had been dead six to 12 hours. He may have been slain elsewhere, and his body carried to the abandoned building. The fire then was set, police surmise, to destroy his body. The rubbish fire was relatively small, however, and only seared parts of his body, and burned most of his socks, the only articles of clothing he was wearing. The rest of his clothing was nowhere to be found. Police were unable to say whether or not the victim was a S. State st. floater. A check of finger prints revealed the man had no police record.

Reveal Yanks' Pre-Invasion War in Greece

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 19 [delayed] (AP).—One of the toughest guerrilla warfare tasks undertaken by Americans was waged in the mountains of Greece before the allied invasion, it was disclosed today.

An American army colonel led 250 Greek speaking Americans who lived and fought about four months beside Greek guerrillas. The Yanks lived on goats' milk, cheese, and black bread.

"Our job," the colonel said, "was to stiffen the Andartes [Greek guerrillas].

Landed by 'Chute.

"We parachuted into Greece. Our targets were the main exit highways and the Athens-Salonika railroad."

Many German trucks and troop trains were destroyed on the roads and railways.

"We carried a couple of bazookas with each group," the colonel said. "A shell in a locomotive tears the tubes, and it is a long repair job. The second shell we slapped into the second car of the train or the last car, where Jerry usually placed his armored car. By that time, the train would be brought to a standstill. We would spray it from end to end with machine gun fire and then beat it.

Hostages in Front.

"By the end of the campaign, we reached the point where the Germans were unable to get Greek crews for the locomotives, but they had an angle figured for that. They put a flatcar in front of the locomotive with a barbed wire cage of hostages aboard it.

"Attacking road transport was much the same. We hid in the hills, watching the road thru the day and, if it looked worthwhile, slipped down at night and laid mines. A couple of times we pulled off bigger shows with the support of British mortar crews."

Battle casualties were comparatively light but the disease rate was high, particularly from malaria.

"We had only one doctor and the British had one—and that's not much to cover a whole country," the colonel said.

Push Thru Thermopylae.

ATHENS, Oct. 23 (AP). — British troops pushed today thru ancient Thermopylae to Lamia, 95 miles northwest of Athens and 50 miles south of Larissa, as they pursued the Germans retreating in northern Greece.

A combined force of British troops and Greek patriots forced the surrender of Khalkis, chief city on the large island of Evvoia [Euboea] off the Greek mainland north of Athens.

RUSSIAN ARMY TAKES ALMOST ALL OF MEMEL

Foe 35 Miles Inside East Prussia: Nazis.

LONDON, Oct. 24 [Tuesday]—(AP).—The Red army in a two way smash into pre-war Germany has overrun almost all of Memel territory and penetrated 19 miles deep into East Prussia from the east on an 87 mile front, Moscow announced last night.

A soviet offensive for the first time carried Russian troops into the Nazi homeland on the road from Moscow and Stalingrad. Premier Stalin announced in a special order of the day that Russian troops, led by the young Jewish tank expert, Gen. Ivan D. Cherniakhovsky, had overrun 900 towns and villages, 500 of them German, in an attack from the east.

A soviet bulletin then announced the capture of 500 towns and villages in the conquest of Memel territory. This is a 1,099 square mile area ceded to Germany by Lithuania March 22, 1939, under German pressure.

Clear Bank of River.

All of Memel territory, except the city of Memel, was captured in a break-thru by an army which cleared the Niemen river's northern bank from its mouth on the Baltic to the Lithuanian town of Jurbarkas.

The Russians surrounded the city of Memel with a 25 mile steel arc anchored on the Baltic north and south of the city, trapping the axis garrison inside the port.

Thus a second front clear across the top of East Prussia has been formed. Berlin said the Russians were attempting to cross the Niemen and take Tilsit, a large rail city.

The smash by Cherniakhovsky's troops into East Prussia, now a week old by Berlin's account, was the deepest allied penetration yet of Germany. A Berlin broadcast said the Russians had reached the Angerapp river, 17 miles west of captured Goldap, for a total penetration of 35 miles inside East Prussia.

Aimed Toward Koenigsberg.

The Russian attack into East Prussia was on both sides of the Kaunas-Koenigsberg highway, aimed toward Insterburg and Koenigsberg, East Prussian capital.

At captured Walterkehnen, 12 miles north of Goldap and seven miles south of Gumbinnen, the Russians were within 20 miles of the rail hub of Insterburg. Koenigsberg lies 50 miles west of Insterburg. It also was threatened on the northeast by Russian troops which were 52 miles from the capital after reaching the Niemen river.

Germany is the eighth foreign country invaded by the Russians. Berlin implied that soviet Arctic troops also entered a ninth by crossing into Norway from northern Finland.

Capture Mining Area.

Stalin's first order of the day announced Russian Alpine troops, moving thru the land of the midnight sun, had captured all the nickel mining area around Petsamo and cut the Rovaniemi-Kirkenes highway as they converged on Kirkenes, big German naval base in Norway.

Franco Army Battles Rebels in North Spain

LONDON, Oct. 24 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Northern Spain is seething with armed conflict, the Spanish national radio disclosed early today, as Spanish Republican forces waged persistent guerrilla warfare with Gen. Francisco Franco's regular Spanish army.

The national radio said the fighting was centered in Navarra on the Spanish-French frontier. Other advices told of skirmishes at various points in the Pyrenees.

The extent of the uprising was not entirely clear.

Headquarters of the Spanish Republicans in London said the guerrilla warfare to overthrow Franco was mounting rapidly.

Calls "Infiltration" Over.

One Spanish national radio broadcast, heard by the British ministry of information, gave what it described as an "eyewitness" report of the clashes at the frontier, saying:

"American soldiers disarmed several groups of Spanish Reds who recrossed the frontier after being defeated and pursued by the Spanish forces guarding the Spanish-French frontier. Forty individuals were disarmed by soldiers of the French army.

Report Rebels Surrender.

"Fugitives are still roaming thru the mountains of Navarra. Some of them in groups are being pursued by the national forces. Many of them are surrendering without arms.

"When taken prisoner all express disappointment at not finding conditions favoring formation of a so-called army of liberation."

A dispatch from Lerida, Spain, earlier had said that Spanish troops were gathered for a cleanup of guerrilla forces which had infiltrated into the Aran valley in the eastern Pyrenees west of Andorra during the week.

The dispatch said that during operations Sunday Spanish troops reëstablished communications with Viella, the largest town in the valley, almost cut off from the rest of Spain by a spur of the Pyrenees, and with Benasque, west of Viella.

Recapture Mouth of Tunnel.

Spanish army units also recaptured the southern mouth of the tunnel on the main road leading into the valley from Lerida, which is 90 miles west of the coastal city of Barcelona.

Republican sources in London said the revolt against Franco, which began some months ago on a small scale, now involves several thousand men, and additional recruits are being added daily.

It is being directed by a Spanish guerrilla high command under the political leadership of a "supreme junta of national unity," these sources said. The junta is dedicated to the overthrow of the Franco regime by force.

YANKS TAKE 11 COMMUNITIES IN LEYTE AREA

Gain in 2 Sectors; Japs Repulsed.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HDQ., Leyte, Philippines, Oct. 24 [Tuesday] (AP).—American liberation forces made new gains along the entire Leyte Island front today, tightening their squeeze on the strategic Leyte valley, after a Japanese counter-attack in one sector was beaten off in bloody fighting.

Gen. MacArthur's bulletin also announced the liberation of three flank islands to Leyte and 11 communities on this island.

On the southern end of the 18 mile long front, advance elements of the 24th corps reached the outskirts of San Pablo, a highway goal seven miles inland from captured Dulag, Gen. MacArthur's bulletin reported today.

Repulse Counter-Attack.

The enemy counter-attacked north of Palo, American held town about four miles south of Tacloban, and was repulsed "bloodily," the bulletin said. "Some enemy opposition" also has been encountered west of Palo on the main road.

American forces are attempting to drive along this route to reach the northern end of strategic Leyte valley.

Earlier, it was announced that American forces held the main coastal approaches to Leyte valley after winning dominating hill positions and fighting thru swamps that had impeded their westward thrust on Leyte Island.

Spearheaded by tanks, the doughboys drove Japanese from the hills blocking the northern entrance to the valley, while other forces threaded the swamps at the southern anchor of the line. These advances threatened to trap Nipponese defending the southern end of the front, who already were in retreat northwestward.

Seize Hill Near Town.

Yanks of the 24th division, commanded by Maj. Gen. Frederick A. Irving, attacked from Palo in the northern sector. They combined surprise and overwhelming fire power to seize an important hill southwest of the town of about 3,000.

A heavy bombardment by American warships standing off Leyte in the gulf dislodged the Japanese from their concrete positions atop the hills. When the bombardment lifted the enemy started to reoccupy their dugouts. American infantrymen, however, outraced them and gained the summit thru machine gun fire.

The southern spearhead, paced by tanks led by Lt. Col. Herbert R. Edmonsen of Gainesville, Ga., hurtled strong enemy defenses in its thrust from Dulag.

Palo, the hub from which the northern thrust was stemming, is about 14 miles above Dulag.

Both east coast ends of Leyte valley, which roughly parallels the eastern coast of the island, are held by MacArthur's forces. The valley is about 25 miles wide at its lower end on the gulf.

Yank Patrol Isolated.

WITH THE 96TH DIVISION, Leyte, Oct. 23 (AP).—From a craggy hill sporadic fusilades of mortar and artillery shells fell into the 96th division's beachhead for the third day today, while our troops inched upward seeking the buried enemy positions.

Some patrols were isolated temporarily part way along the ridge which begins at the seashore and extends two miles inland. Infantry men were trying vainly this morning to reach one patrol which had reported heavy casualties before communications were interrupted.

Wherever Japanese shells began dropping the scene was the same—men diving into foxholes until the fusilade had ceased.

Refugees still are trickling thru the lines amid the shelling, carrying bundles of household goods. One woman of 70 waded trembling thru deep mud yesterday, both arm clutching her one possession—the family crucifix.

Filipinos Return to Palo.

WITH AMERICAN FORCES AT PALO, Leyte Island, Oct. 22 [Delayed]—(AP).—Long lines of Filipinos tonight were streaming back into Palo, second Leyte Island town of any size to be liberated by American forces.

Their town virtually untouched by the American naval bombardment, and their steel bridge, pride of Palo, still standing, the people came back from the near-by hills. Normally Palo had a population of 3,000.

The Japanese killed the town as surely as if they had wiped it out. They were cruel to the people. They fixed prices and then bought out the merchants with worthless invasion money. Today the stores are closed.

Snipers failed to stop the townsfolk from giving the Yanks a real welcome. More than a hundred of the villagers were sheltered in a convent when the Americans landed.

Osmena Thanks United States.

Washington, Oct. 23 (AP).—Commonwealth President Sergio Osmena in his first message to President Roosevelt thanked the American people today for the "immense war effort" which enabled the Philippine government to return to its homeland.

The message, described as a cable from the island of Leyte, was released by the White House. Actually it appeared to have been a radio message, but Stephen Early, press secretary, said: "We look forward to the early reestablishment of cable connections with the Philippines."

Osmena said he felt certain that "this military operation, which has begun so well, will prove once again, as did the battle of Bataan, that our two countries are linked together by imperishable ties of understanding and friendship."

Planes Bomb Palaus.

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Oct. 23 (AP).—Incendiary bombs have been dropped on Japanese soldiers on Angaur and Peleliu Islands in an effort to dislodge them from their hiding places, the navy reported today.

Adm. Nimitz also reported raids on Lap, Iwo, and the Marshall Islands. One Liberator was lost at Iwo, but three Jap planes were shot down.

No Time as Critical: Japan.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Premier Gen. Kunaiki Koiso warned the Japanese people today the Pacific war has reached a critical point and Masanori Ito, naval commentator, acknowledged that "Japan is now on the defensive."

Koiso said Japan's enemy "still possesses a powerful force of warships and men and looks forward to victory relying on his material strength. There is no doubt that the enemy will reënforce his forces and, by concentrating a more powerful strength, again attempt to smash our strategic defense.

"There has been no time as critical as today when the all-out effort of the people is so vitally necessary."

ESSEN AND BERLIN BOMBED BY BIG BRITISH ARMADA

LONDON, Oct. 24 [Tuesday].—(AP).—More than 1,000 British heavy bombers battered the German railway center of Essen and Berlin last night after a day in which most United States 8th air force planes remained at their bases in England because of bad weather on the continent. Other British bombers set four vessels on fire and damaged a fifth in two attacks on German shipping off Norway.

Eight hundred United States heavy bombers from the 15th air force in Italy hammered objectives yesterday near Munich, Regensburg, and Augsburg in southern Germany, and in western Czechoslovakia.

Liberators from Italy bombed objectives near the Brenner pass railway line into northern Italy. Tactical air force Thunderbolts, flying thru almost solid cloud banks over the Po valley, strafed and bombed enemy transport.

The Germans made two buzzbomb attacks on southern England and London during the night, ending a 48 hour lull that followed 11 straight nights of bombing. One bomb crashed in the center of a town.

NAZIS ORDER TROOPS TO AVOID CIVILIANS; FEAR DEFEATIST TALK

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 1ST ARMY IN GERMANY, Oct. 23.—German troops are being isolated as much as possible from the German people they are supposed to be defending, it was learned today. Orders have been issued to the Nazi military police not to permit any more contact than necessary between soldiers and civilians, apparently to prevent the soldiery from being infected by the disgruntled civilians.

Nazi leaders are being forced to abandon their scheme of mass evacuation of the Rhineland. It was planned to move 10,000,000 Rhinelanders to central Germany before the battle for this territory began, but housing already is a problem thruout the reich, thanks to allied bombings. Presumably the Nazi leaders realized that a sudden shift of this enormous number of people would dislocate the economy of the rest of the nation.

Already, according to an American officer, civilians are urging soldiers to lay down their arms. He said the soldiers are being told they are silly to continue the struggle and in one instance an irate frau openly cursed a soldier for refusing to quit.

BRITISH LAND ON NICOBAR ISLES, TOKYO REPORTS

New York, Oct. 23.—The Japanese news agency Domei has announced that British troops have landed on the Nicobar Islands in the Indian ocean, a British broadcast said today.

Advance in Burma.

SOUTHEAST ASIA HDQ., Kandy, Ceylon, Oct. 23 (AP).—The British 36th division, which captured Mohnyin in north Burma, 70 miles southwest of Myitkyina, has made an advance six miles to the east toward Kazu, today's bulletin announced. The advance promised a linkup with other allied forces patroling south of Kazu, 18 miles below Myitkyina.

In western Burma, further gains were made from captured Tiddim toward the Chin hills stronghold of Fort White, 20 miles to the southeast, where the Japanese were falling back on Kennedy peak. West Africans crossed the upper Kaladan river in the Arakan area.

Belgian Leader to Visit London for Arms Parley

LONDON, Oct. 23 (AP). — Paul Spaak, Belgium's foreign minister, is expected here tonight or tomorrow for conferences on urgent military and food supply problems in his country. Reliable sources said the Belgian government was perturbed over its inability to get arms and equipment for its fighting forces.

CHINESE GAIN IN ATTACK ON JAPS NEAR KWEILIN

CHUNGKING, China, Oct. 23 (AP).—Successful Chinese counter-offensives 21 miles north of Kweilin and along the West river front 160 miles farther south were reported tonight by the high command.

The bulletin said Chinese attacked Japanese 12 miles southwest of Hingan, and had scored "appreciable gains." The attacks apparently were designed to smash the enemy's threat to Kweilin.

The Japanese last week drove to a point 18 miles west of Hingan in an attempt to outflank Kweilin, former site of a large United States air base, but the high command said the invaders had been driven back 6 miles by the counter-attacks. The Chinese offensive in the Kweiping and Pingnam areas has checked an enemy drive on the American air base at Liuchow.

Five Midwestern Yanks Rescued in Philippines

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HDQ., Philippines, Oct. 22 [Delayed]—(AP).—Among the first 83 American prisoners of war to be rescued from the Philippines five were from the middle west. They were on a torpedoed enemy transport and were hidden by guerrillas until removed from the islands. They are 1st Lt. John P. Gillespie, Sigourney, Ia.; 1st Lt. Theodore Pfueger, Rochester, Mich.; 2d Lt. Francis E. Leclear, Lansing, Mich.; Sgt. James R. Treeve, Altamont, Ill., and Pvt. William E. Biddle, Vincennes, Ind.

WITH THE U. S. 24TH DIVISION, Leyte Island, Oct. 23.—The town of Palo was captured yesterday by a battalion of eager infantrymen led by 28 year old Lt. Col. Robert Spragins of Chicago, son of a major general now in Europe.

Spragins carried his pennant down from some heights which he had previously occupied and moved on after the Japs without bothering to make a progress report.

Infantry units led by Lt. Col. George H. Chapman, Rawlins, Wyo., went forward to clear the next barrier.

MacArthur Is Hailed.

Liberated Filipinos are showing they regard Gen. MacArthur as their greatest hero of the day. This writer had an eloquent demonstration of the almost reverential regard in which the people here hold the Southwest Pacific leader.

To a group of islanders who had come back thru our lines, the writer imparted the information that an American expeditionary group similar to this had established another beachhead near Leyte Island's largest city, Tacloban, 15 miles to our north, and that Gen. MacArthur was with that group.

There was an incredulous gasp among the begrimed listeners, who included men, women, and children who had lived miraculously thru our preparatory bombardment—one of the most intensive ever delivered.

"That Is Wonderful."

Their faces lighted with a rapt expression, then a young woman threw her arms upward.

"He says Gen. MacArthur is now on Leyte," she said in an awed voice. "O, that is wonderful!"

Cheers followed for a few minutes, then the Filipinos chattered excitedly among themselves. They left no doubt that the casual announcement marked an event of the highest importance in their lives.

PEARL HARBOR VETERAN.

Lt. Col. Robert Spragins, son of Maj. Gen. Robert L. Spragins, was graduated from West Point in 1939. His wife, Mrs. Sally Spragins, and a daughter, Jane, 2, whom he has never seen, live with Mrs. Spragins' mother, Mrs. M. A. Spalding, at 817 Forest av., Evanston.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Spragins were married in Hawaii in June, 1941, and both were there when the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor. Mrs. Spragins subsequently was evacuated to the mainland. Her husband has been in Hawaii or the South Pacific since September, 1940.

Mrs. Spragins received a letter from her husband yesterday dated from New Guinea early in October.

ESTIMATE YANKS IN PHILIPPINES TO TOTAL 100,000

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—A restudy of dispatches indicates that the striking force which Gen. MacArthur put ashore in the Philippines may have amounted to between 100,000 and 150,000 men. This compares with first estimates that 250,000 men were landed.

Dispatches from the island have identified the 7th, 24th, and 96th infantry divisions, the first cavalry division and the third engineer brigade as being ashore. The normal strength of an American division is about 15,000. The size of a brigade is in the vicinity of 12,000.

These organizations therefore would account for about 72,000 men. Service units in battle zones usually are about 30 per cent of the size of combat forces. To these groups would be added a small number of attached units, specialists and other personnel, bringing the total strength to approximately 100,000. The possible presence of other divisions not yet identified might lift the total to about 150,000.

TWO AMERICAN SUBMARINES ARE LOST IN PACIFIC

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—The navy announced today the loss of two submarines in the Pacific, the U. S. S. Herring and the U. S. S. Golet, which carried crews of 65 men each.

Commanders of both submarines were listed in navy records as heroes of the war of attrition against the Japanese, each holding the silver star for sinkings.

Overdue and presumed to be lost, the Herring and Golet were comparatively new vessels. The Herring, commanded by Lt. Comdr. David Zabriskie Jr. of Los Angeles was commissioned May 4, 1942, at Portsmouth, N. H. The Golet was skippered by Lt. Comdr. James Clark of Palo Alto, Cal., and was commissioned Nov. 30, 1943, at Manitowoc, Wis.

OUSTED HEAD OF GUATEMALA OFF TO MEXICO CITY

TAPACHULA, Mexico, Oct. 23 (AP). Guatemala's ousted acting president, Gen. Federico Ponce, and seven of his supporters left here today by plane for Mexico City. They had been refugees in the Mexican embassy at Guatemala City. Members of the party said Ponce's son was killed during the revolution. Gen. Puente and Gen. Coronado, who was minister of war, were in Ponce's party.

LATE DEMOCRAT AID FOR BATAAN IRKS CLAN CHIEF

When Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas, Democratic nominee for congressman at large, asked thru a women's committee to address members of the American Bataan clan, A. C. McArthur of Villa Park, president of the organization, said he doubted whether the nominee knew what might confront her.

McArthur in a return letter told Mrs. Eleanor E. Perkins, chairman of Mrs. Douglas' committee, her request would be referred to the executive committee of the clan. But he added that his personal opinion was she might be asked such questions as:

"Where have you been, Mrs. Douglas, in the last 2½ years while these relatives of the men who died and were captured on Bataan were trying to get succor to their loved ones?

"Is it not strange that you discover us at this time and seem interested enough to desire to address us? Is that not somewhat similar to the fact that your 'commander in chief' discovered Hawaii now that Gen. MacArthur is no longer a candidate for the Presidency?"

Russian Patriarch Calls Stalin 'God-Sent Leader'

MOSCOW, Oct. 23 (AP).—The growing warmth of relations between the Orthodox church and the Kremlin was emphasized today with the release of a letter from acting Patriarch Alexis to Premier Stalin. The churchman addressed the marshal as "our dear supreme leader whom God has sent us." The letter announced the clergy, which previously had raised a considerable sum for tanks for the Red army, now is raising another fund to aid families of soviet service men.

BRITISH BATTER NAZI SHIELD FOR WEST HOLLAND

Report Canadians Give Up Town of Breskens.

LONDON, Oct. 24 [Tuesday]—(AP).—The British 2d army early today hammered at 's-Hertogenbosch, the German shield for all of western Holland, but Canadian forces to the southwest were reported withdrawn from Breskens on the south shore of the Schelde river estuary in a "confused" situation.

In their advance on 's-Hertogenbosch, Lt. Gen. Dempsey's British wiped out a whole battalion of the 712th German infantry division and took 500 prisoners, including one regimental and one battalion commander.

The British, smashing in on s'-Hertogenbosch from three directions, pushed the Nazis back approximately six miles in taking the important towns of Schijndel, Middelbode, Olland, and Bruggen.

Dempsey's vanguards, in three columns, were 2½ miles northeast of the city at Rosmalen, four miles east of it at Berlicum and four miles south of St. Michaelsgestel, and were fighting for a bridge across the Dommel river at Boxtel, six miles to the south. A flooded countryside and thousands of anti-personnel mines added greatly to the difficulty of the advance.

Junction of Five Rail Lines.

'S-Hertogenbosch, a city of 41,000 population, also known as Bois-le-Duc, is a junction of five rail lines and an important center of motor roads and waterways. It is the capital of North Brabant province. The Nazis captured it May 12, 1940.

Canadian troops, sweeping north from the captured town of Esschen on the Belgian-Dutch border north of Antwerp, were reported little more than three miles from Rosendaal and threatening to flank the heavily fortified German position of Bergen op Zoom, seven miles to the west and slightly south.

The Canadian 1st army had taken Breskens, a ferry port on the long waterway leading to Antwerp, Sunday and had pushed beyond. Late dispatches from supreme allied headquarters at Paris, however, said the Canadians had retired from the town last night and that there was see-saw fighting in the area.

"Heavy Going" at Fort.

A dispatch from the front said the Canadians attacked Fort Frederik Hendrik, a mile from Breskens, and "heavy going" seemed likely before the Germans could be driven from that strongpoint.

Schoondijke, three miles south of Breskens, was captured yesterday by Canadian infantry. The town, which has a normal population of 2,000, was reported in ruins when the Canadians entered.

Nazi forces on the south side of the estuary now are estimated to number fewer than 4,000 men, while some 11,000 are believed to occupy partially flooded Walcheren island and the South Beveland peninsula on the north side.

R. A. F. Lancasters attacked gun emplacements on the Dutch island of Walcheren, making the second assault in three days by British heavies on German batteries which have been harassing the Canadian ground forces.

Claim Guns Still Firing.

The German radio claimed that long range Nazi guns still effectively prevented allied supply ships from entering the estuary, altho field dispatches said these guns on the north side of the river had been reduced to one battery.

Activity on the American 1st army front was limited to mopping up in the Wurselen area northeast of Aachen, whose fall finally was admitted by the Berlin radio.

Lt. Gen. Patton's 3d army troops, sorely handicapped by almost continuous rain and deep mud in northeastern France, fought into the village of Bezange-la-Petite, 19 miles east of Nancy, but were forced to withdraw by dug-in German tanks.

To the south other Yank units had reached hill 284, west of Moncourt, and held two-thirds of Moncourt forest, but had not yet penetrated in a camp outside the city, will not be permitted to return. The 200 who remained in the city, however, will not be molested.

Materials to Be German.

Maj. Lancer said materials for the water system would have to come from German stores and the Germans would have to provide the labor.

Next will come reconstruction of the sewer system. This was damaged by explosives hurled by Yanks at German soldiers fighting from underground positions. Electricity, telephone, and transportation services are regarded as luxuries that the Germans can worry about later.

Yanks Drive on Vosges Fort; Push Across Mortagne River

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 7TH ARMY IN FRANCE, Oct. 23.—The Yanks were less than 10 miles from the German fortress of St. Dié and were fighting in the forest of Domaniale de Champ today after crashing thru the western outposts and crossing the Mortagne river.

The enemy has not dug in or otherwise well prepared positions until within a few miles of St. Dié and is apparently dropping back in this sector to one anchor of his principal Vosges mountain line.

St. Dié and its immediate approaches present all the attributes of location for a powerful defensive stand. The area is in the Meurthe river valley and the river runs thru St. Dié. The enemy has many guns in and around the town and has mined and boobytrapped all the western entrance routes.

Cross Mortagne River.

Other strong stations of the Germans' main Vosges front are Raon l'Etape and Baccarat to the north of St. Dié, and Ste. Marguerite, Saulcy, and Gérardmer to the south.

Cracking of the enemy's outer perimeter of this front involved the taking of Bruyeres, Brouvelieures, Belmont, and getting over the Mortagne river. Our offensive began a week ago with infantry attacks in the Bruyeres region and heightening of our artillery activity, both aided by air power when clear skies gave our flyers a chance.

How stoutly the Germans tried to hold the line was evident today when it was learned that their casualties in a week numbered more than 4,000, of which about 1,600 were taken prisoners and others killed and wounded. Our losses were described as "light" considering the prisoners and in what terrain and weather we had to fight.

Come Upon Soft Spots.

After Brouvelieures was taken American infantry men suddenly came upon soft spots. Northeast of that town they found a bridge across the Mortagne river still intact. The Germans hadn't planned it that way—they had planted demolition charges in the span and left a crew behind to set the fuses. Doughboys swarmed over, captured the demolition detail, and removed the explosives.

Then we put smoke pots to work to conceal the bridge. Irate enemy cannoneers threw in more than 400 rounds of artillery, ranging from 88 to 170 millimeter calibers. But Yank foot troops still were moving over the bridge into the forest of Domaniale de Champ.

Forty-seven Thunderbolts gave the enemy another raking all along the line from St. Dié to Baccarat and were aided by artillery in levelling a German command post east of Brouvelieures.

Among the prisoners we took other two wanting to counter-attack.

3 MIDWEST SOLDIERS TAKE PART IN DRIVE THRU GERMAN TOWN

WITH U. S. INFANTRY AT WURSELEN, Germany, Oct. 22 [Delayed]—(AP).—"We've never been subjected to such heavy artillery fire as we are getting here," the commander of a veteran infantry outfit said today as his doughboys edged toward the center of this small town in Germany a few miles northeast of Aachen.

Enemy shells fell all around in a barrage lasting several hours. It took an hour move from the message center to a battalion observation post—about a half a dozen city blocks. "They call this street Purple Heart lane," said Pvt. Paul Turner, Madison, Ind., a runner. One of the calmest men along the route was Sgt. George Hoffman, Marshfield, Wis., a mortar sector squad leader, who stood in a doorway puffing on a cigar. "They have been knocking hell out of those houses across the street," he said.

In another doorway was Sgt. Walter Feireisen, Random Lake, Wis. He pointed to a couple of water jugs filled with eggs he and two other tank crew men had found in a house and said "we are going to have an egg fry tonight."

2 CHICAGOANS REWARDED FOR AID IN INVASION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Two lieutenant colonels from Chicago who took part in the Normandy invasion have been awarded bronze stars, it was announced today. They are Harry J. Dooley, 2000 Lincoln Park West, and Harry Smyth, 1400 Lake Shore dr.

Smyth, a field artillery officer, helped draft embarkation plans. In Chicago he was associated with Halsey, Stuart & Co., investment brokers.

Dooley, also a veteran of World War I. and member of the transportation corps, was chief of road traffic headquarters and was responsible for road traffic of thousands of American vehicles during the Normandy assault. President of the CHIETO club [Chicagoans in the European Theater of Operations], which has 5,000 members, Col. Dooley was president of the Associated Gray Line Motor Bus Companies of North America.

SEEK MAYOR FOR AACHEN—MUST BE ANTI-HITLER

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 1ST ARMY IN AACHEN, Germany, Oct. 23.—Captured Aachen began to come back to life today and the allied military government [AMG], which took over at noon, started to look around for an anti-Hitler burgomaster.

He will be appointed from a list supplied by army intelligence of men who were officials in pre-Hitler days and did not hold important office under the Nazis. Six possible appointees have been listed.

The police force will be chosen from among men who were policemen before Hitler came to power and are now more than 50. It is believed that men of this age are the least likely to have been influenced by Nazism.

Of 160,000 Aachen citizens, only 200 burrowed in and lived thru the battle for the city. It first appeared there would be few to govern, but 5,000 have returned and are clamoring to go back to their homes.

Rebuilding Up to Germans.

AMG quickly let Aachen's people know that reconstruction is their task. They will have to rebuild, foot the bill of their upkeep during occupation, and to pay the usual government expenses, including officials' and other public servants' wages. Maj. Thomas F. Lancer, New York City, said not a penny's worth of American supplies and equipment would be used for rehabilitation except when necessary to prevent civilian chaos behind our lines.

It was made plain to the citizens that all captured food stores belong to the United States and that the city is expected eventually to pay for rations given to its people.

Sixteen Regulations Issued.

AMG issued 16 regulations for civilian conduct, including a curfew from 6 p. m. to 6 a. m. Gatherings of more than five persons were prohibited; mail, telephone, telegraph, and radio services were discontinued; the display of Nazi flags, the Nazi salute, and the playing of the Nazi anthem were banned, and the publication of newspapers and other periodicals was outlawed.

Repair of the water system will be given priority. Until water is assured the natives, who are quar-

CARGO SHIPS COLLIDE OFF HAWAII; BOTH ARE TOWED TO PORT

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Oct. 23 (AP).—Two American merchant ships collided north of Hawaii Oct. 18, but there were no casualties and both were brought into port, the navy disclosed today.

The vessels were the E. A. Christenson and the Antigua. Both were operated by the war shipping administration.

The Antigua was under navy charter. She received a bad hole forward of the deckhouse on the starboard side and was towed to port by the salvage vessel Deliverer, with the aid of the ocean going tug Mataco. Each ship is approximately 7,000 tons.

EDITOR DOOMED IN FIRST PURGE TRIAL AT PARIS

Suarez Files First of Two Possible Appeals.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, France, Oct. 23.—After a jury deliberated 20 minutes and found him guilty, the Paris court of justice today sentenced Georges Suarez, former editor of Aujourd'hui, a collaborationist newspaper, to death for having had intelligence with the Germans during the occupation. It was the first of the treason trials to be held in Paris.

The sentence was read six hours after the trial opened. Suarez, unkempt and nervous, stood as the verdict was read and regained his calm as he shook hands with his lawyer.

Immediately afterward Suarez filed an appeal. If that fails he may appeal to Gen. Charles de Gaulle, chief of the French provisional government. If he loses both appeals he will be executed before a firing squad.

Six Jurors on Bench.

The trial took place before Judge Auguste Ledoux and a jury of six civilians chosen by lot from a panel of 300. The jurors sat on the bench beside the judge. It was a form of procedure having a precedent in the French revolution. The bailiffs wore frock coats and white ties and the gendarmes black jackets, blue pants, and red piped caps.

The audience was quiet and there were no demonstrations, even when the verdict was read.

In the same setting 1,500 alleged collaborationists now detained in concentration camps near Paris will be brought to trial in the next few weeks. About 100,000 are being held thruout France and 254 courts have been established to hear their cases.

Two Cases Presented.

The indictment against Suarez charged that he had been appointed as director of Aujourd'hui by Otto Abetz, German ambassador; that he had been paid about $1,600 a month by the Germans, and that his writings urged extreme collaboration.

Suarez, who pleaded not guilty, said that he might have committed errors and been duped in his political ideas, but he disclaimed that he had intended any disservice to his country. His counsel sought to have the indictment quashed on the ground that the armistice between France and Germany was the legal ending of the state of warfare and that there could have been no intelligence with the enemy after it was concluded. The prosecution argued that despite the armistice a state of enmity continued between France and Germany. The court overruled the motion to quash.

Judge "Ashamed" of Writings.

Suarez denied he received his salary from the Germans.

Judge Ledoux, who wore a scarlet robe with a white ermine collar, looked at him and remarked, "I have 103 articles written by you before me and I am ashamed that a Frenchman should have written them."

"Collaboration had a different aspect when those articles were written," Suarez snapped back.

BRITAIN CAN'T PAY WAR DEBT, VISITOR FINDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—Rep. Compton [R., Conn.] warned the nation today not to expect any repayment from Great Britain of the more than 10 billion dollars of American lend-lease goods supplied the United Kingdom during the war.

Compton, just returned from a three weeks trip to Britain and France, declared in an interview that "we might as well be realistic about this lend-lease business."

"Britain simply won't have the money or goods to pay us after the war," he said. "Economically and financially, she is in tough shape and will be worse off by the time the war ends. She has used up most of her credits abroad, lost many foreign markets, and suffered physical destruction running into billions from German bombs.

SOLDIERS TAKE U. S. FLAG OFF PICKET'S SIGN

Object to 'Profaning' of Banner.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 23 [Special].—In the second outburst of violence in three days against union pickets by service men here, a group of soldiers, several wearing overseas ribbons, today forcibly removed an American flag from a placard carried by a picket for the AFL painters' district council.

The incident took place near the intersection of 12th and Baltimore sts., which Saturday was the rallying point for a group of soldiers and sailors who visited the American Aviation company's bomber plant, where they dispersed pickets and destroyed union signs.

The picket who aroused the anger of the soldiers today was a 72 year old man marching with a union placard in front of a liquor store that reportedly was being redecorated by nonunion painters. A small flag was attached to the top of the sign.

Refuses to Remove Flag.

Witnesses said that nine soldiers were in the group which halted the picket and ordered him to remove the flag.

"I fought for that flag overseas and I don't like to see it profaned by that sort of thing," exclaimed an army sergeant who acted as spokesman for the soldiers. "Take it off."

Instead of complying, the picket started calling for the police. One of the soldiers took the placard from his hands.

Police came to the scene while the argument was in progress. By this time a crowd had gathered with several score service men in it.

Take Flag; Return Sign.

"We aren't going to bother you," witnesses quoted the sergeant as saying, "but if you try to put a flag on this sign again we'll not only take it off, we'll tear up your sign, too."

The soldiers took the flag from the sign and returned the sign.

The picket appealed to police for the return of his flag and police protection in displaying it with the sign. The police advised him not to display a flag with the sign. He then resumed his marching with the flagless sign and the soldiers dispersed.

At headquarters of the Kansas City AFL Building Trades council union officials refused to identify the picket.

The strike at the bomber plant was at an end today following decision of the 16,000 workers at a mass meeting yesterday to go back to work.

POLES IN LONDON CHARGE RUSSIA BOOSTS DEMAND

LONDON, Oct. 23 (AP).—Grave pessimism over prospects of an early accord with Russia and the soviet sponsored Polish national liberation committee prevailed today within Poland's exiled government here despite the official report from Moscow of progress in settling their dispute.

Polish officials reported that both Russia and the liberation committee increased their demands upon the exiled government over those presented by Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk during his first trip to Moscow.

They described as unjustified the elation which developed in Great Britain and the United States over the joint Anglo-Soviet bulletin which said "important progress" had been made toward ending the long quarrel. Mikolajczyk, who has just returned from his second mission to Moscow, postponed until tomorrow his report to the cabinet on the situation.

CHIANG CALLS ON EDUCATED BOYS TO JOIN ARMY

CHUNGKINK, China, Oct. 23 (AP).—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek today launched a movement for the enlistment of the initial 100,000 of China's educated youth in China's fighting forces.

Declaring one division of educated youth would be equivalent to raising China's striking power by 10 ordinary divisions, Chiang called for volunteers to "serve as privates who actually do the fighting, breach and seize the enemy defenses and serve as the real vanguards of the people."

"Now that the war has reached its decisive stage all our efforts must be directed toward the final triumph," he said, adding that the situation was even more serious than on the eve of the 1911 revolution.

Brig. Benjamin Heads British Jewish Brigade

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Brig. Ernest F. Benjamin, a royal engineer officer, has been appointed to command the recently formed Jewish brigade group. A son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benjamin, who lived for many years in Canada, Brig. Benjamin is 44 years old and is now serving in the middle east.

GEN M'NARNEY DEPUTY CHIEF IN MEDITERRANEAN

ROME, Oct. 23 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, 51, assumed his duties today as deputy supreme allied commander in the Mediterranean theater under Gen. Wilson and as commanding general of the North African theater of operations of the United States army, it was announced today. He succeeds Lt. Gen. Devers, now in command of the 6th army group in France.

McNarney arrived at an Italian air field today from Washington D. C., where he was deputy chief of staff under Gen. Marshall. Effective Nov. 1 The North African theater of operations of the United States army becomes the Mediterranean theater and McNarney will be commanding general of American army forces in this theater.

[In Washington the war department said Lt. Gen. Thomas T. Handy, chief of operations, will succeed McNarney as deputy chief of staff, and that Maj. Gen. John E. Hull will succeed Handy.]

ALLIES APPROVE GEN. DE GAULLE RULE IN FRANCE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—France emerged again today as a sovereign nation when the regime of which Gen. Charles de Gaulle is president was simultaneously recognized as a "provisional government" by the United States, Britain, and Russia.

Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

In accordance with the recognition, Gen. Eisenhower turned over to De Gaulle's administration virtually all of France except the front combat zones by declaring the noncombat area to be an "interior zone." This includes Paris, the capital of the provisional government.

Recognition by the three great powers was accompanied by similar action of other nations, including Canada, Australia, Brazil, Peru, and Venezuela.

U. S. Names Ambassador.

The United States named Jefferson Caffery as its first ambassador. He arrived in Paris a few days ago to be a "representative" to the De Gaulle administration, which until today was considered to be only a "de facto authority."

Immediately after announcing recognition, the United States undertook several adjustments to bring its relations with France in line:

1. The state department announced that business and professional people who can show a good military or civilian need for their presence in France may obtain passports to go there.

2. Diplomatic and financial authorities predicted the early unfreezing of 1 billion dollars of French assets in this country, including about 900 million dollars credited to the Bank of France as well as heavy private holdings.

Work on Business Plans.

3. Treasury officials said the question of reopening business communications between the United States and France was under consideration. Action is expected in about 10 days.

The recognition was announced here by Acting Secretary of State Stettinius, who described it as being in harmony with American policy toward France. He said:

Two arguments prevailed in memoranda presented to President Roosevelt by his advisers in urging recognition for France. These were that De Gaulle has succeeded in setting up an administration within France without rousing any opposition such as Washington had feared, and that a stable French government had become essential to the organization of European affairs.

Leaders Met Twice.

Mr. Roosevelt twice has met the fighting French leader. The first time was at the Casablanca conference in January, 1943, and instead of making friends De Gaulle and he struck sparks from each other's personalities. The President is said to have been unfavorably impressed by De Gaulle's insistence on personal leadership for the future greatness of France, and De Gaulle objected to the American backing then being accorded Gen. Henri Giraud as French military leader in North Africa.

Relationships between De Gaulle and the allies became so bad about the time of the invasion of Europe last June that De Gaulle went to London for conferences and finally in July came to Washington. After those talks he and Mr. Roosevelt parted in a cordial atmosphere.

FRENCH GRATIFIED

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 23.—France's provisional government directed by Gen. De Gaulle is expected to be able to govern the newly created "zone of the interior" with a strengthened hand as a result of the recognition by the United States, Britain, and Russia announced today in Washington, D. C.

Government circles are gratified that the period of difficulties during which there was disappointment over the failure to recognize De Gaulle, apparently has been ended.

Foreign Minister Georges Bidault tonight summoned press representatives to a conference at the Quai d'Orsay, at which he expressed the hope that France would be granted a larger voice in international councils.

Stricter Control.

Recognition, it is foreseen here, will give De Gaulle a chance to bring confused elements in the French political situation under stricter control.

News of the recognition was conveyed to Bidault thru the joint visit of Russian Ambassador Alexander E. Bogomolov, United States Ambassador Jefferson Caffery, British Ambassador Alfred Duff Cooper, and the Canadian minister, Maj. Gen. George P. Vanier.

Famous Laval Antique Furniture Found Fake

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—Auction of the property of Pierre Laval today at Chateldon, France, was a failure because most of his "famous antique furniture was not genuine," the American broadcasting station in Europe [ABSIE] said tonight. Laval, chief of government in the Nazi occupation, has been condemned to death in absentia and France has confiscated his estate.

YANKS, BRITISH GAIN SLOWLY IN ITALIAN DRIVE

ROME, Oct. 23 (AP).—American 5th army troops today consolidated newly won positions eight miles south of Bologna and the British 8th army enlarged its grip on the Adriatic sector in Italy by capturing Cervia, 12 miles below Ravenna. It was slow, difficult progress for the allied armies striving to break into the Po valley of northern Italy.

The Americans were about one mile south of Pianaro on highway 65, a main road leading into Bologna. Since capture of Livergnano was announced a week ago, the advance up highway 65 has measured less than two miles. The latest won positions were on dominating heights, however.

Canadian troops established a bridgehead a mile wide and 1,000 yards deep across the Savio river two miles north of Cesena, 50 miles southeast of Bologna on the Rimini-Bologna highway. The British also enlarged their bridgehead across the Savio west of Cesena.

Costa Rica Hears Rebels Score Gains in Honduras

'PUBLIC UTILITY' THEORY IN SUIT OPPOSED BY AP

Supreme Court Is Asked to Reverse Ruling.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—"News-gathering agencies are not public utilities and should not be made such by judicial action," the Associated Press said today in a brief asking the United States Supreme court to reverse a lower court ruling that the AP must change its membership by-laws.

The brief, submitted in an appeal from a summary two to one decision Oct. 6, 1943, by a special federal three-judge court of the southern district of New York, concludes that "so grave a step as transferring the press from the field of private enterprise to the status of a regulated public utility is the last thing which the courts should do on their own motion—and the last thing that should be done at all so long as any possible alternative exists."

1,200 Members Named.

The appeal is the latest development in the government's civil suit, under the Sherman anti-trust act, to force the Associated Press, a coöperative, non-profit organization, to change its membership structure and make its news report available to any applicant. Named as defendants in the suit, in addition to the AP, were its 18 directors and the approximately 1,200 other members in the United States as a group.

The government has until Nov. 6 to file its brief and the AP's reply brief is to be filed the week of Nov. 13, the week when the Supreme court is to hear the case.

"The majority of the court below," the AP brief said, "arrived at this public-utility result by the intermediate step of finding, not in terms but in effect, that a successful news agency is bound to admit all applicants on equal terms—and violates the anti-trust laws if it does not do so."

Previous Decisions Cited.

The decision would make the AP "in effect a public utility and subject to regulation as such," the brief asserted, despite many previous court decisions that "news agencies are not public utilities" and despite "the public policy which underlies the first amendment—that, so far as humanly possible, the press should be left free."

The effect of the decision "and the public utility principle on which it is based," the brief continued, "means that the court has assumed permanent supervision over the AP and, by a parity of reasoning, over other comparable news-gathering agencies," and:

"It is the belief of these defendants that submission to the public utility principle . . . would be a first step toward becoming a subservient instrumentality of the government."

By-Law Edict Described.

The brief said the decision had the effect "of imposing an obligation upon the AP to admit competitors of members in that it required that any new by-law shall affirmatively declare that the effect of admission upon the ability of an applicant to compete with members shall not be taken into consideration in passing on his application."

The District court also restrained the AP, until it should revise its membership regulations, from enforcing certain other by-laws intended to prevent disclosure of AP news to nonmembers, altho the latter by-laws were not held illegal in themselves.

The brief recalled that the District court found that the AP did not "monopolize or dominate" the gathering or distribution of news, that other adequate news agencies were available to newspapers lacking AP service, and that the AP never had "held itself out to serve all comers."

"To be truly free—to perform its true function—the press must be both bold and fearless," the brief contended. "It is inconceivable that true freedom of the press could exist if the press were subjected to such controls."

INDICT FOREMAN OF SHELL PLANT FOR WAR FRAUD

Held for Substituting Rejected Missiles.

Paul M. Love, 26, of 1437 Jarvis av., a foreman at the Clayton Mark & Co. steel plant at 1900 Dempster st., Evanston, was indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury on four counts of violating the war frauds act. It was the first indictment under the act returned in this area.

Love is charged under the indictment with substituting imperfect 20 mm. armor piercing aircraft cannon shells for those accepted by government inspectors. More than 120,000 shells, valued at $40,000, were involved, United States Atty. Woll said, and an additional 32,000 are believed to have been put in use even tho they were defective.

Motive Is Given.

The prosecutor said that the substitutions were engineered by Love in order to build up a reputation as a good production man and to enhance his standing in the eyes of his superiors. He was reported to the federal bureau of investigation by his workers.

In July, 1943, Woll said, 20,000 shells manufactured by the company were rejected at the army proving grounds because they failed to meet the armor piercing test, a quality imparted thru heat treating.

The rejected shells were returned to the company where they were retreated, and 12,000 of them subsequently were accepted. The remaining 8,000 were scrapped.

Rust Cleaned Off.

During September of that year, Woll said, Love directed the employes under him to remove the defective shells from the shed in which they were stored, clean off the rust, and deposit them inside the plant.

Love then caused them to be substituted for shells that had been approved by government inspectors, Woll said.

Love, Woll said, ordered employes to remove a few of the inspected shells from each basket, replacing them with the rejected shells, cleaned until they appeared superficially to be like the others.

Assigned to Watch Love.

After Love's employes reported the substitutions to the FBI, a special inspector was assigned to watch Love and keep track of lots of shells in which substitutions occurred.

Love, who faces a maximum imprisonment of 10 years on each of the four counts and a total of $40,000 in fines, had no thought of immediate monetary profit from his alleged defections, Woll said.

Woll absolved the company of any complicity in the deception.

STIMSON GETS SECRET REPORT ON HAWAII RAID

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—The complete behind the scenes story of Pearl Harbor tonight was in the hands of the secretaries of war and the navy with no indication that its release to the public before the Presidential election, two weeks from tomorrow, is under consideration.

The finding of facts in the case of Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short, totaling 5,000 pages, were handed this afternoon to Secretary of War Stimson. He directed that the bulky document be sent to Maj. Gen. M. C. Cramer, judge advocate general, for his consideration.

Last Friday, the naval court of inquiry into the actions of Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel during the Japanese attack on Dec. 7, 1941, presented its findings to Navy Secretary Forrestal. He referred them to Adm. King, commander in chief of the fleet and Rear Adm. Thomas L. Gatch, judge advocate of the navy, for their consideration.

Quiz Took 3 Months.

Both the army and navy had spent some three months in investigating the conduct of the two leaders. They were directed to do so by congressional resolution last June and to institute court martial proceedings if the facts warranted such action. The navy court of inquiry began its work July 17 and the army board was appointed three days later.

The only word from the war department in connection with the army report was a memorandum that Secretary Stimson will personally review the findings and such part of the record as may be advisable.

Called "Top Secret."

Both reports were classified partly as "secret" and partly as "top secret," the two highest classifications given military and naval documents to prevent their unauthorized disclosure. It was expected that delay in their publication would be laid to a study by military and naval experts of the portions which could be released without violating security.

Rep. Maas [R., Minn.], ranking minority member of the house naval affairs committee, has asserted there could be nothing of value to the enemy in reports on the three year old disaster. He accused the administration of withholding the reports to avoid political embarrassment.

WOMAN AND FATHER SEIZED BY G-MEN AS GERMAN SPIES

New York, Oct. 23 (AP). — Marie Koedel, 26, today pleaded innocent in Brooklyn Federal court to a charge of espionage conspiracy and was held in $25,000 bail.

Simon and Marie Koedel.

The justice department in Washington, D. C., and the FBI had announced earlier today that her foster father, Simon Koedel, 62, had been arrested at Harper's Ferry, W. Va. The FBI charged the two collected information on military developments, particularly on shipping in New York harbor, before Pearl Harbor. DEATH OF SON TOLD IN SIMPLE WIRE BY PATCH

General's Grandson Lives in Wilmette.

That message, radioed from France by Lt. Gen. Alexander McCarrell Patch, commander of the 7th army, and relayed to a home at 1107 Elmwood av., Wilmette, passed the torch of a distinguished family's military tradition into the hands of an 18 month old baby.

"Mac" was Capt. Alexander McCarrell Patch III., 24, commander of a rifle company with the 1st army in France, son of the lieutenant general. His son is Alexander McCarrell Patch IV.

The first Alexander McCarrell Patch was a tough, hard riding cavalry officer in the western frontier wars. The Patch family has been in the army ever since.

Yesterday's message telling of his death was sent to Capt. Patch's mother, now living in Staunton, Va., by his father. His mother relayed the message to Wilmette, where Alexander McCarrell Patch IV. is waiting for the day he will be old enough to enter West Point.

STAFF SGT. CHESTER F. FILAR, 21, a gunner on a Flying Fortress, was killed in action in China Sept. 28, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Filar, 1849 N. Damen av., have been notified. He attended Lane Technical High school, and entered the army air forces March 27, 1943. He also is survived by three brothers and four sisters.

PVT. JOHN B. MEIXNER, 22, was killed in action July 29 in France, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard A. Meixner, 7606 Philips av., were notified yesterday. Earlier Pvt. Meixner had been reported missing. He had been in the army 13 months, was a graduate of Hirsch High school, and was a junior at Duke university when he was inducted. A brother, Robert, is an army lieutenant.

FIRST LT. BENJAMIN C. McCARTNEY, 28, son of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Albert J. McCartney of Washington, D. C., formerly of Chicago, was killed Sept. 22 while serving as a bombardier on a B-26 Marauder bomber in Italy, his parents have been notified. His father formerly was pastor of the Kenwood Presbyterian church.

LT. WALTER F. MIEHLE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Miehle, 4252 N. Spaulding av., previously reported missing in action since Aug. 26, is a prisoner of war in Germany, his parents have been advised by the war department.

GERMANS FORBID DUTCH TO HAUL FOOD ON BIKES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The Germans are trying to break a railroad strike in Holland by prohibiting the transportation of food by truck, pushcart, or bicycle, a member of the Dutch underground movement said here today.

The strike, called by the London Dutch government in exile on Sept. 17, which was the day of the parachute attack on Arnhem, has forced the Germans to use their own personnel in attempting to operate the railways. However, the Dutch claim only three trains a day are running between Amsterdam and Rotterdam instead of the normal schedule of 50.

The member of the underground, who has been in England only a few days, said the food shortage is becoming serious since it is no longer possible for the Dutch to cycle into the country to obtain supplies.

The Germans enforce their prohibition on transport by requisitioning bicycles or carts if the Dutch attempt to use them.

The Nazis offered 1,000 railway men in Utrecht double wages and double rations if they would return to work, but only four accepted the offer.

FATHER SEEKS OWNER OF DOG WHICH BIT BOY

N. F. Wilkie of 7926 Ingleside av. yesterday appealed to the unknown owner of a brown, part collie dog which bit his 8 year old son, Larry, to permit the dog to be examined for rabies. Otherwise the child must submit to a lengthy and trying course of anti-rabies treatments.

The dog, which wore a collar and a harness from which one strap was torn, attacked the child in the alley in the rear of his home, Wilkie said. Three bites were inflicted upon the boy's legs.

Students at the St. Francis de Paula school, where Larry is a student, have been asked to join in the search for the dog. The examination must be made within five days to eliminate the need for the anti-rabies treatment, the boy's physician, Dr. Paul Rosborough, said.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

by BEN MARKLAND

Rough fish being seined from farm ponds after most of the water had drained off. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Oct. 23, 1944.

THE three ponds on the Wheaton farm, now almost completely drained of water and barren of fish life, will provide excellent fishing for the farm residents in the summer of 1946 if the present restoration program is successfully completed.

The first step was taken last week when workers from the fish division of the Illinois conservation department seined the ponds to remove all the carp, bullheads, and other rough fish. About 4,000 bullheads and 50 small carp were taken out. The carp will be destroyed and the bullheads placed in a near-by stream, where they will provide sport for hundreds of Illinois residents along its course.

Eliminate Rough Fish.

George Kuhn, in charge of the state crew, said that the farm waters, like hundreds of other ponds thruout the state, can be cleaned and restocked to provide excellent sport for farm residents. The cleaning process consists of draining the ponds as completely as possible, then seining the water to remove all unwanted fish. The ponds will be left dry this winter to complete the eradication of small rough fish, which will be frozen out.

Early next spring, the two windmills on the largest of the three bodies of water will augment the seasonal rains to refill the ponds. Because all the ponds are connected by canals and covered tile, the overflow water from the large pond will fill the other two. After the ponds are full, they will be restocked with game fish.

Breeding Plans Made.

Present plans call for placing 20 to 40 breeder bass and 75 to 100 breeder bluegills in the Swan pond; 10 to 20 breeder bass and 25 to 50 breeder bluegills in the Round pond, and about 100 spotted bullheads in the Half Moon pond. A fish barrier will be erected in the canal above Half Moon pond to keep the bullheads away from the bass and bluegills.

After the new fish are introduced next spring, the pond will be rested for a season, but in the summer of 1946 a limited amount of hook and line fishing will be permitted.

★ The GARDEN ★

A LARGE drainage tile provides an excellent winter container for carrots, beets, potatoes, and other root crops. A tile 24 inches long and 20 inches in diameter will hold about 3½ bushels, and a tile measuring 24 by 24 inches about 4½ bushels.

Two or three inches of sand or ashes should be placed in the bottom of the hole to increase drainage. A good way to store the vegetables in the tile is to imbed the roots in layers of sand, each layer containing an assortment of each of the vegetables. There should be at least an inch of sand between each layer of roots. Another way of using the tile is to put the vegetables in layers of sand in bushel baskets, then placing the baskets so they can be removed one at a time thruout the winter.

The top of the tile should be covered with quarter inch mesh "hardware cloth" to protect the vegetables from vermin. A four inch layer of straw over the metal mesh, with an additional covering of loose soil, will protect the vegetables against the coldest weather. An old washtub or similar covering can be used as a roof over the tile.

BRICKER INSISTS SENATE RATIFY FUTURE TREATIES

Denver, Colo., Oct. 23. — Gov. Bricker declared today he believes the senate should continue to ratify any treaties with other nations.

The Republican Vice Presidential nominee took this position at a press conference when asked for comment on President Roosevelt's suggestion that America's representative at the peace conference be endowed in advance, by constitutional means, with authority to act.

"I am in favor of living within the Constitution and carrying on negotiations within constitutional power," said the Ohio governor who made a major campaign speech tonight.

Nearly Ruined Nation.

He asserted he did not favor "giving great blanket authority to the President of the United States in international affairs any more than I am in respect to national and domestic affairs."

"The congress of the United States—the New Deal congress—almost ruined this country by giving him unlimited power and a blank check," Bricker added.

In an address here tonight, Bricker pointed out examples of what he termed a "consistent pattern of contradictions" in President Roosevelt's acts and statements.

Mass of Contradictions.

Bricker cited the President's recent suspension of immigration restrictions, after congress had failed to do so, in order to let into the country 1,000 "frail women and pale-faced children." But when the refugees arrived, after the "usual hush-hush," it was found they were mostly men, Bricker said.

"The consistent pattern of contradictions in Mr. Roosevelt's utterances may be due to several causes. Perhaps he merely changes his mind frequently. He did say one time that the government was operating on a "24 hour" time schedule. Perhaps he lacks the vision to foresee the direction trends are taking.

"Mr. Roosevelt's sincerity is a matter of his method, and of his attitude, of the way he does things. It is the spirit of the intent, and not in the word, that counts. Catch the spirit and you catch all."

Bricker, introduced by Republican Gov. John C. Vivian of Colorado, was cheered repeatedly by a crowd that packed the Broadway theater. Police Capt. O. L. Willis estimated 2,000 were in the theater and nearly 1,000 more stood outside the doors listening by loudspeakers.

Asks Control of Tax Money.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 23 (AP).—Gov. Bricker, urging greater control over the use of taxpayers' money, asserted today that government corporations had spent huge sums never appropriated by congress.

This, said the Republican candidate for Vice President, is in conformity with practices by which "the New Deal has constantly sought to rob congress of its control over government spending."

STORY FOR ONE MAN: RETURN THE PEN, MR. MAYHEW

If you are the gentleman who borrowed a fountain pen while you were buying a ticket in the La Salle st. station about six weeks ago, please return it to the sailor from whom you borrowed it. He needs it badly in his work at base and can scarcely afford another. In addition, the pen was a gift from his mother.

He is Richard H. Smith, United States submarine base, New London, Conn. He appealed to THE TRIBUNE for help.

TRUMAN ASKS DEWEY FIGHT 8 'ISOLATIONISTS'

Taft Among Those He Names.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 23 (AP).—Applauding the decision of Sen. Ball [R., Minn.] to support President Roosevelt, Sen. Truman tonight challenged Gov. Dewey to demand the defeat of eight Republican "isolationist" senators to back up his "strong foreign policy" assertions or "the people must assume he is another Harding."

Timed for Dewey's Trip.

In a statement timed to capitalize both on Ball's opposition to Dewey and on Dewey's scheduled appearance here tomorrow, the Democratic Vice Presidential candidate referred to the Republican nominee's indorsement of "a strong foreign policy" and added:

"If Mr. Dewey meant it he would ask for the election of a senate that would support a strong foreign policy and the defeat of the eight isolationists who were nominated by the Republicans.

"The American people are entitled to know his answer and if he refuses to give a sincere, straightforward answer to that question the people must assume that he is another Harding."

He Lists "Isolationists."

The statement followed a major foreign policy speech at a luncheon of Democratic leaders in which Truman described as Republican "isolationists" seeking reelection Senators Taft of Ohio, Nye of North Dakota; Tobey, New Hampshire; Danaher, Connecticut; Davis, Pennsylvania; Reed, Kansas; Wiley, Wisconsin; and Millikin, Colorado.

In asking Dewey to call for the defeat of Nye, Taft, "and the rest of the isolationists," he also called on him to "repudiate Billie Hearst and Bertie McCormick, both of them case-hardened isolationists and both of them ardent supporters of Mr. Dewey."

The address attributed to senate Republicans a "rule or ruin" policy designed to "blackjack the American people" into electing a President "satisfactory to the isolationists."

Attacks John Dulles.

Truman today told a press conference he was "very happy" over Ball's stand for Roosevelt and added, "I think he [Ball] has always been a Democrat and didn't know it."

BROWNELL ASSAILS TRUMAN SUPPORT OF KLANSMAN STYLES

New York, Oct. 23 [Special].—Asserting the White House doors would open to a motley and dangerous crew if Sen. Truman should become President, Republican Chairman Brownell said in a statement today that Truman's "nothing matters but the votes" philosophy has been exemplified by his indorsement of Hal Styles for congress in California.

Brownell said Styles, the Democratic nominee in the 15th California district, has been exposed as a former leader of the Ku Klux Klan in New York state. Despite this, he said, Truman has asserted, "If he is one of ours, I am for him."

The Republican chairman said that when Truman was asked about his affiliation with the Pendergast machine in Kansas City he told a press conference that "no one who wanted to get elected would refuse their support." Brownell added Truman probably had uttered "the most brazen statements ever made by a candidate on a national ticket."

POOR ROAST CAN SPOIL GOOD COFFEE

Control in roasting is essential for full development of flavor

To produce delicious flavor in the cup coffee must be, first of all, a blend of the finest green coffees. But, more than that, it must be roasted to absolute perfection. For it is during the roasting process that the flavor development of each coffee berry takes place.

Recognizing the variations in results with ordinary methods of roasting, Hills Bros. Coffee, Inc., developed a special process, "Controlled Roasting." By this exclusive method the Hills Bros. Coffee blend, a blend of the finest coffees obtainable, is roasted a little at a time. As the stream of green coffees passes through the roasters, the speed of operation and temperature are precisely controlled. Every berry is done to the exact degree that insures matchless flavor, and any danger of flavor variation is eliminated.

That is the reason why Hills Bros. Coffee is famous for its delicious, distinctive flavor. Users of Hills Bros. Coffee know that they can depend on every pound for the same uniform goodness. By following the directions on the label, Hills Bros. Coffee can be used with successful results in any type of coffee-maker.

LYONS REVEALS LUCAS LETTER VOWING PEACE

Charges Opponent Was Ignorant of Situation.

Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for United States senator, last night revealed a letter written by Sen. Lucas, his Democratic opponent, in which Lucas in February, 1941, assured a constituent: "We are not going into this war."

In a radio broadcast, Lyons tore into the claims of New Dealers that they alone knew what was going to happen.

He read the letter, addressed to W. D. Speight, personnel director of the Keystone Steel and Wire company, Peoria. Written on senate stationery, it was signed "Yours most sincerely, Scott W. Lucas."

"Now, Senator," Lyons said, "you claimed to be close to the fourth term candidate. You claimed you knew everything that was going on. You were claiming you had the vision and foresight of a great statesman knowing all about world affairs.

Challenges Senator's Claims.

"Were you telling this man then? Or are you trying to deceive the people of Illinois when you tell them that during that same period you saw this war coming?"

Lyons pointed to Lucas' parallel of Roosevelt's pledge to the fathers and mothers in 1940. From the congressional record of Oct. 13, 1939, Lyons quoted the text of a national radio address by Lucas on the subject of the Pittman neutrality measure, as follows:

"'I repeat that I shall vote millions for defense but not one dime to send our army across the sea to extract chestnuts from the international fire. Let us stay out.'"

"The New Deal senator made similar statements from many other platforms in the 10 years prior to the attack on Pearl Harbor," said Lyons. "But, like the 'again and again and again' assurance to the mothers and fathers of America by the fourth term candidate, his words didn't mean anything."

Asserts Opponent Shifts.

Lyons said that Lucas loudly advocated an international police force, in which American boys would be drafted to keep the peace in Europe and Asia. But later Lucas discovered that the voters are demanding the return of their sons after the war, and changed his tune.

"His change of attitude is a little belated," Lyons said, "to convince the mothers and fathers of Illinois of his sincerity in this respect."

The New Deal senator, Lyons said, has never explained his failure to act to block the rising federal debt, now mounting to $8,000 per family. Then Lyons continued:

"Nor has the New Deal senator seen fit to tell the people why he accepts the domination of his own political party by Sidney Hillman and his communist controled political action committee, who are stopping at nothing to reëlect him. Nor has he told the people why he has not disavowed the support of Earl Browder, the draft dodging ex-convict, and his fellow Communists, who would have their pernicious doctrines replace our American way of life."

PLANE WORKERS' SITDOWN BLAMED ON CIO POLITICS

A sitdown strike was staged yesterday in the art rod polishing department of the Studebaker corporation's aircraft parts plant at 5555 Archer av., in protest against a woman inspector's waste of war production time on "CIO political action activities and communism."

The inspector, Mrs. Jane March, is the wife of Herbert March, alias Harry Marich, Communist regional director of the United Packinghouse Workers' union [CIO]. Strikers accused her of being away from her job "for hours every day, collecting CIO political slush funds for the reëlection of President Roosevelt and teaching communism," which caused a slowdown of war production because "it was her job to inspect finished rods," strikers said.

After the strike had continued for more than two hours, strikers said, the company transferred her to another department until a committee of the CIO Auto Workers union and management could settle the dispute. Company officials refused comment.

DEWEY, TRUMAN TO SHARE SAME ROOF AT HOTEL

Sen. Truman in his Democratic campaign for Vice President tomorrow will take on the added problem of trying not to get in the way of Gov. Dewey, Republican Presidential nominee. Both men will be in the Stevens hotel.

Truman will arive from Wisconsin tonight, and spend tomorrow in conferences in the Stevens, where Gov. Dewey will meet Illinois Republican leaders and editors late in the afternoon. Officials said the hotel is big enough so that Truman needn't get involved in the Republican activities.

Any one wanting to hear Truman make a speech can go to Peoria Thursday night. The Democratic national committee will have him on the radio to talk about agriculture.

DEMPSEY DRIVE COSTS $250,000, TUOHY CHARGES

William J. Tuohy, Democratic candidate for state's attorney, charged yesterday that $250,000 is being spent for billboards, radio time, and printed matter in the campaign of his Republican opponent, John T. Dempsey.

"He hasn't got that kind of money," Tuohy said at two meetings. "Who do you suppose is putting it up for him, and don't you suppose that they want a return on their investment?"

Tuohy asked a 20 year old question: "Who killed Billy McSwiggin and why?" in efforts to contend that Cook county is now getting comparatively good law enforcement. McSwiggin and Dempsey were both assistants when the state's attorney was Robert E. Crowe, now a Democratic judge.

Campaigners on Defensive.

First delivered before a joint session of the City club and Women's City club in the La Salle hotel, Tuohy's speech was repeated before Democratic precinct captains from the first 10 wards in the Civic Opera house. There Mayor Kelly, who presided as county chairman, introduced Tuohy as a man who would "take care of first offenders and others who are apt to reform."

Kelly and other candidates who addressed the precinct captains went on the defensive on local issues and suggested that the Democratic campaigners try emphasizing President Roosevelt's handling of the foreign policy as indispensable to peace negotiations.

Sen. Lucas, up for reëlection, praised Mr. Roosevelt and said he wasn't going to talk about the issues of burocracy, pay rollers, and Communism. Sen. Pepper [D., Fla.], who also addressed a foreign language group, made the main internationalist speech and at one time asked whether the Roosevelt family or THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE had done the most for America. The audience, deep in thought, failed to applaud.

Courtney Makes City Debut.

State's Atty. Courtney proclaimed that Communism is a false issue. He said he hadn't found any Communists when he campaigned downstate for governor. Courtney challenged Gov. Dewey to a debate on which had the best record as a prosecutor.

It was Courtney's first Chicago appearance in the campaign and the mayor, recalling their past battles, said the organization wasn't going to sell any Democratic candidate short.

Other candidates who spoke were Congressmen William Dawson and William Rowan, Sheriff Mulcahy, and Sveinbjorn Johnson, candidate for attorney general.

The mayor denied claims of civic organizations that vote frauds have been prevalent and said "100,000 Republican watchers" would issue challenges Nov. 7 to try to keep the common people from voting.

"You've got to stand with your backs to the wall and defy them," he said.

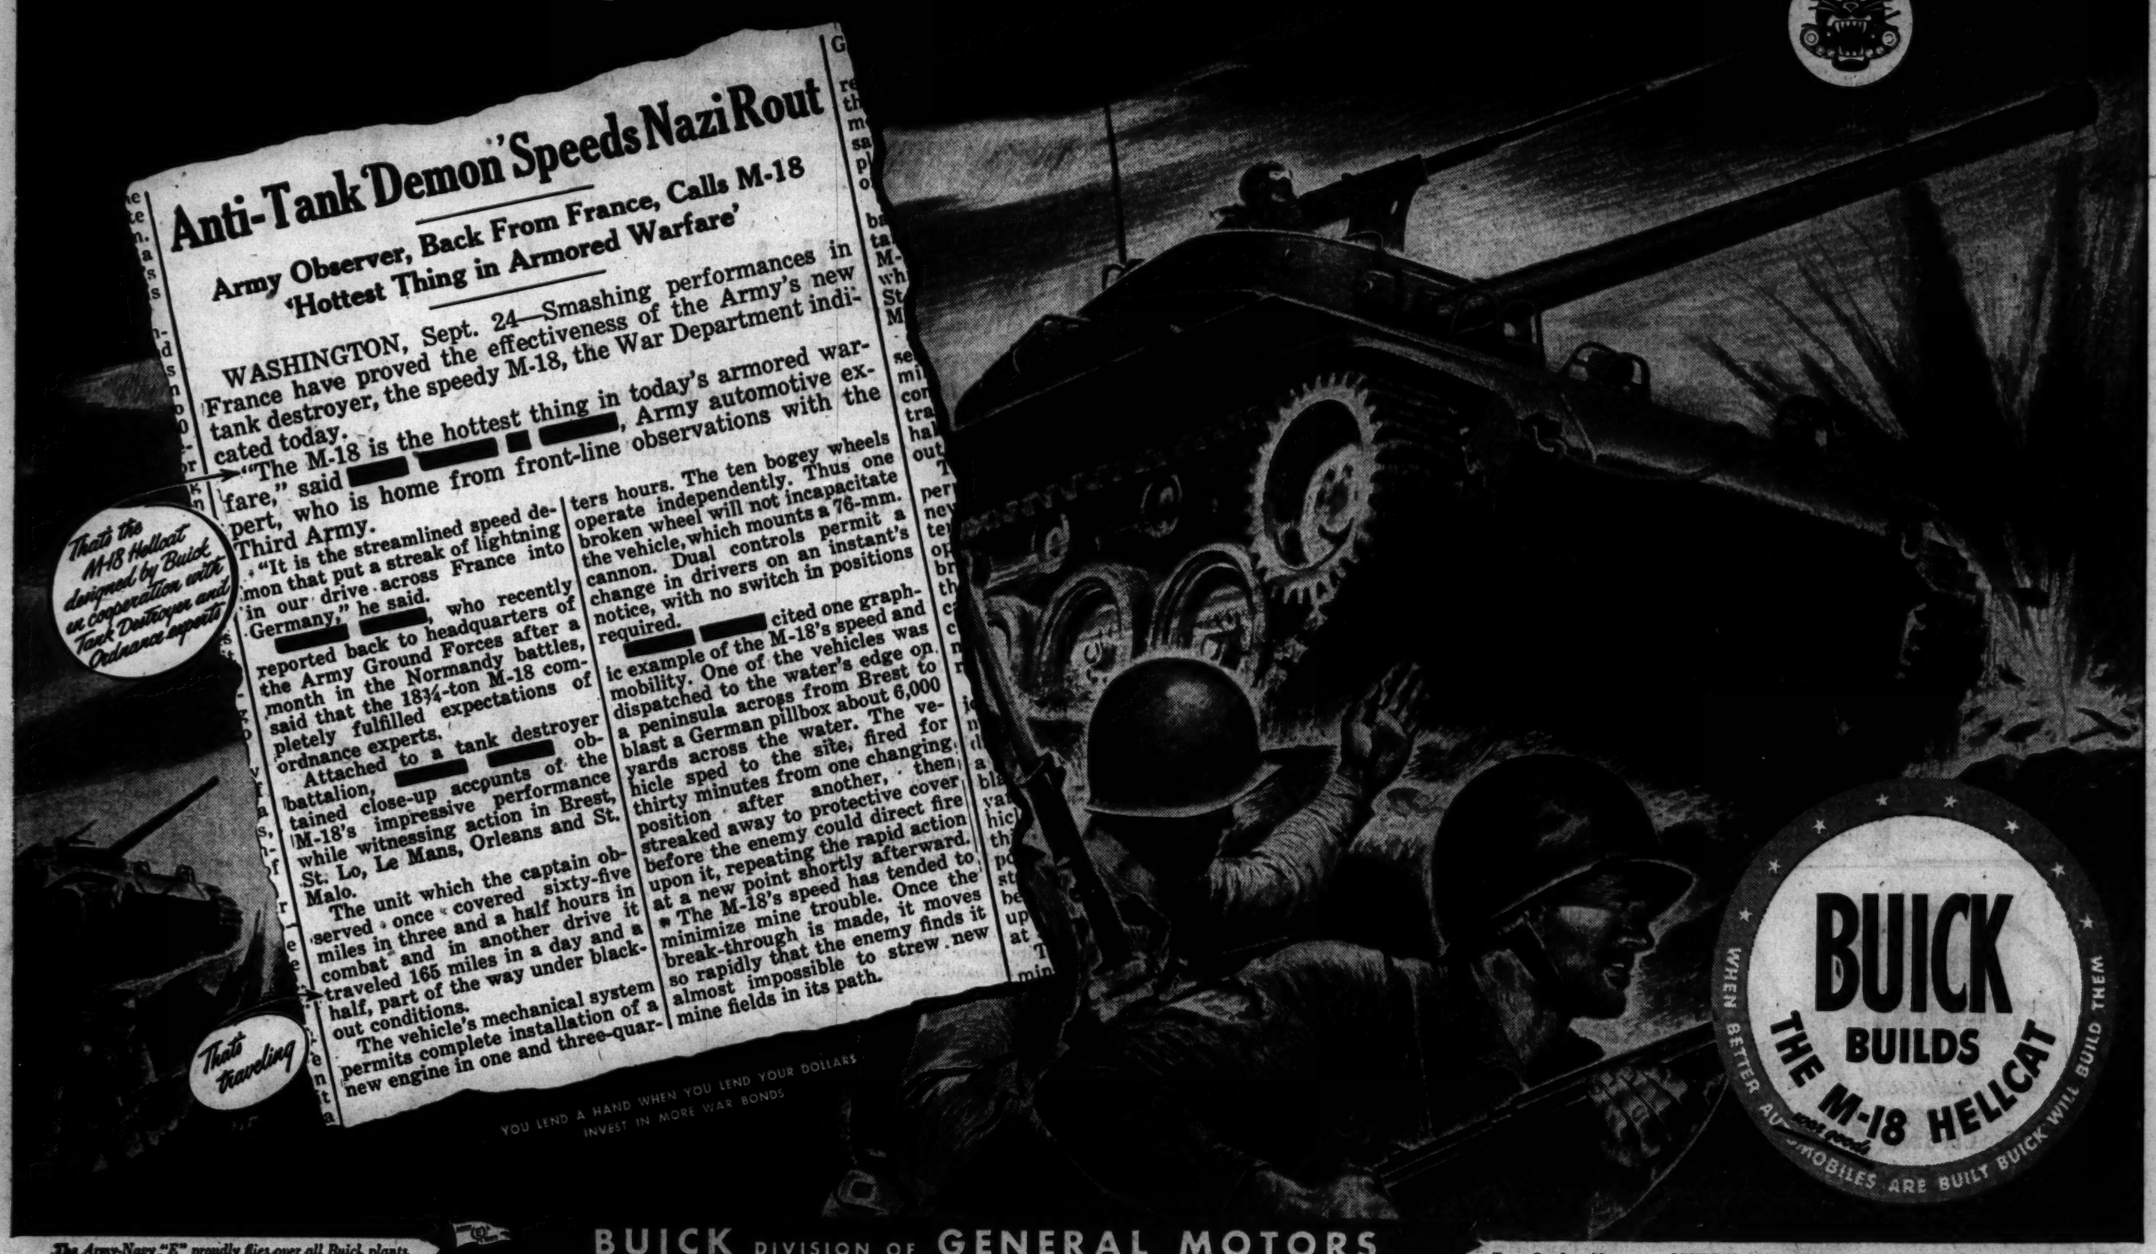
"Hottest thing in warfare"—the M-18 HELLCAT!



Anti-Tank 'Demon' Speeds Nazi Rout
Army Observer, Back From France, Calls M-18 'Hottest Thing in Armored Warfare'
WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—Smashing performances in France have proved the effectiveness of the Army's new tank destroyer, the speedy M-18, the War Department indicated today.
"The M-18 is the hottest thing in today's armored warfare," said [redacted], Army automotive expert, who is home from front-line observations with the Third Army.
"It is the streamlined speed demon that put a streak of lightning in our drive across France into Germany," he said.
[redacted], who recently reported back to headquarters of the Army Ground Forces after a month in the Normandy battles, said that the 18¾-ton M-18 completely fulfilled expectations of ordnance experts.
Attached to a tank destroyer battalion, [redacted] obtained close-up accounts of the M-18's impressive performance while witnessing action in Brest, St. Lo, Le Mans, Orleans and St. Malo.
The unit which the captain observed once covered sixty-five miles in three and a half hours in combat and in another drive it traveled 165 miles in a day and a half, part of the way under blackout conditions.
The vehicle's mechanical system permits complete installation of a new engine in one and three-quarters hours. The ten bogey wheels operate independently. Thus one broken wheel will not incapacitate the vehicle, which mounts a 76-mm. cannon. Dual controls permit a change in drivers on an instant's notice, with no switch in positions required.
[redacted] cited one graphic example of the M-18's speed and mobility. One of the vehicles was dispatched to the water's edge on a peninsula across from Brest to blast a German pillbox about 6,000 yards across the water. The vehicle sped to the site, fired for thirty minutes from one changing position after another, then streaked away to protective cover before the enemy could direct fire upon it, repeating the rapid action at a new point shortly afterward.
The M-18's speed has tended to minimize mine trouble. Once the break-through is made, it moves so rapidly that the enemy finds it almost impossible to strew new mine fields in its path.

DEMPSEY RAPS TUOHY AS KELLY 'MUDSLINGER'

G. O. P. Also Told F. D. R. Neglected Vets.

Two broadsides were fired to further enliven the Republican campaign last night:

1. John T. Dempsey, Republican candidate for state's attorney, replied to an attack upon him by William J. Tuohy, his Democratic opponent.

2. Warren H. Atherton, recent past national commander of the American Legion, demanded the defeat of "the Roosevelt dynasty" in order to get fair treatment of returning war veterans.

Dempsey said the charges made against him by Tuohy show plainly that the Kelly machine is struggling frantically to get out of the rut which leads to defeat Nov. 7. At Dempsey headquarters it was said that material for another kind of reply overflows the files, but that Dempsey does not feel inclined to advertise his opponent by using it.

Foe Slings Mud, Says Dempsey.

"Now that all the signs indicate that Kelly's candidate for state's attorney will be defeated, from here on in we can expect acts of desperation," Dempsey said.

"For some time Kelly's stand-in has been edged closer and closer to the mudpile. Every time a straw vote showed his defeat he was moved closer to the mire. A few days ago he was pushed in. Now he is up to his elbows.

"I do not know Tuohy, but the few people I have met who do know him say he is a nice sort of fellow, but rather weak. It is too bad that the Kelly machine can tell him what to do and what to say. No wonder it wants him for state's attorney."

The State's Attorneys' club yesterday indorsed Dempsey as the man who will "end the apparent immunity of the Kelly machine vote thief." Made up of former prosecutors, the group has arranged a radio presentation for each day this week at 5:25 p. m.

Pledges War on Vote Thieves.

Dempsey told the club members that as state's attorney he would consider it a major duty to suppress vote stealing.

Atherton was one of the Legion headliners on a Republican program of the Past Commanders' club in the La Salle hotel last night. Gov. Green, Richard J. Lyons, G. O. P. nominee for United States senator, and Dempsey were among the guests.

Atherton ripped into the Roosevelt record on veterans' legislation. It shows, he said, that nothing but lip service at election time can be expected from the New Dealers towards solving problems of returning fighters.

"During the Roosevelt administration 25 bills granting benefits to the veterans were passed by congress only to be vetoed by President Roosevelt," Atherton said. "And during the entire six months the G. I. Bill of Rights was in congress the voice of the President never was raised in its behalf.

"Did Nothing; Sought Glory."

"In the darkest days of this bill, when its fate hung by a thread, the President did absolutely nothing. But when it finally was passed he had a moving picture made showing him signing the bill so that the people thruout the nation might get the impression that he fought for and supported it."

"In the final weeks of this campaign we are getting another answer. Thomas E. Dewey in plans and phrases of courage and faith in America calls to our people to break the New Deal shackles which bind industry, farm, and office, and to end the philosophy of defeatism and despair."

The Legion's recent leader urged Legionnaires to call upon every citizen with a service star in the window to tell them that fair treatment of veterans awaits the end of the "Roosevelt dynasty."

Lyons assailed the tactics of Roosevelt's administration in compelling service men overseas to remain in their seats after the conclusion of entertainment programs to listen to political speeches.

POSTAGE STAMP SUPPLY IN N. Y. HOTELS HARD HIT

New York, Oct. 23 [Special]. — New York hotels are finding it increasingly difficult to maintain an adequate supply of postage stamps for the convenience of guests. One of the reasons advanced by a number of hotel mail clerks canvassed today is the acute shortage of bellboys, porters, and other hotel personnel who normally could be employed as messengers.

Another reason, it was learned, is a noticeable increase in the demand for postage stamps of all denominations. Mail clerks of several big, midtown New York hotels asserted their stamp purchases were based on estimated daily requirements averaged over a period of 30 days.

Confronted by abnormal demands, they say, stocks of postage stamps are usually depleted by early afternoon and the supply is not replenished until the following day.

G.O.P. WOMEN PLAN RECEPTION FOR MRS. DEWEY

Women workers in the Republican and Democratic parties are adding semi-social events to their routine party activity this week.

Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt.

The Republican schedule includes a reception at 4 p. m. tomorrow for Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey in the Stevens hotel and a rally at 10:15 a. m. Friday in the La Salle hotel. The Federation of Illinois Women's Democratic clubs is sponsoring a candidates' luncheon rally at 12:30 p. m. Saturday in the Palmer House, with Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt, widow of Maj. Roosevelt, as principal speaker.

Final distribution of 1,000 invitations to tomorrow's reception for Mrs. Dewey was announced yesterday by Mrs. Ernest B. Griffin, chairman of the women's division, Illinois Republican state central committee.

Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for United States senator, and John T. Dempsey, nominee for state's attorney, will address the Friday rally.

United States Sen. Scott Lucas, State's Atty. Thomas J. Courtney, and Emily Taft Douglas, candidate for congressman at large, also will speak at the Democratic luncheon.

WELCOMING OF DEWEY TO INCLUDE PARADE IN LOOP TOMORROW

Chicago will welcome Tom Dewey tomorrow afternoon in a parade thru the loop. The Republican Presidential candidate tomorrow night will make a major address in Chicago Stadium, where he accepted the nomination in person last June.

Dewey will arrive at the North Western station at 2:40 p. m. From here the entourage will go north on Canal st. to Randolph st., east on Randolph to State st., south on State to Jackson blvd., east on Jackson to Michigan av., and south on Michigan to the Stevens hotel, where Dewey will confer with many civic and nationality groups.

John T. Dempsey, Republican nominee for state's attorney, will be chairman of the meeting. Sen. Brooks, Gov. Green, and Richard J. Lyons, Republican candidate for United States senator, will share the speaking assignments. The Stadium doors will be opened at 6:45 p. m.

Tickets for the Dewey meeting may be obtained at room 333 in the La Salle hotel or from any Republican ward headquarters, officials said. There are no reserved seats except for officials on the speaking platform.

RUGS WORTH $4,000 STOLEN.

John P. Norton, 525 N. Austin blvd., a paper box manufacturer, reported to police yesterday that thieves broke into his private office at 2059 Race st. and stole 14 oriental rugs, part of his home furnishings, valued at $4,000.

INDIANA PLANT TO MAKE POWDER FOR ROCKET USE

Charlestown, Ind., Oct. 23 (AP). — An announcement from the war department in Washington today disclosed that powder to be used as a "rocket propellant" would be made in the new $28,000,000 addition to be built at the Indiana ordnance works here. Unofficial conjecture was that the powder might be consumed as "robomb" fuel. Associated Press wirephotos today showed a reconstructed robot bomb undergoing tests in a wind tunnel at the army air forces laboratory in Wright field, O.

"Will I be able to work again, Doc?"
Sure, he'll be able to work again. As good a machinist as ever. Because wartime science is working miracles. But...
WILL THERE BE WORK?...
Will 10 million fighting men find jobs when they come back to the industrial pace of peace?...
Will more millions now at full-time all-out war-jobs—have work in postwar America?
The answer "YES" is right in your hands—the hands now making the goods of war.
War Bonds Today can be JOB BONDS Tomorrow!
It's just this simple: You have a job right now because someone—WAR—is a ready cash customer for everything you can make.
What one big customer can do millions of smaller ones can do if they have the money. And today's War Bonds are the surest, simplest way for American families to have that ready cash to use later on.
The electric refrigerator you save for now to buy postwar will make jobs as well as ice.
It'll be your money that pays welders, electricians, and truckmen... your money that "buys" all the jobs in the making of your one electric refrigerator.
Multiply the postwar refrigerator you're saving for now by millions of refrigerators that other families save for, your postwar car by millions of other cars, your postwar radio by millions of other radios, and postwar jobs for all can total up to the millions America will need.
Yes, this can all be true IF you and millions like you have war savings enough to spend later.
No other group in America is big enough to do this job. That's why America depends on you.

MAKING IT EASY TO GET INTO WAR.

For much the most part, Mr. Roosevelt's address before the Foreign Policy association in New York consisted of untruths and distortions of the truth regarding the management of our foreign relations under his direction. At one point, however, he turned from a discussion of the past to tell what policy he intends to pursue in the future. He said that the Dumbarton Oaks agreement requires the United States to go to war at the behest of the council of the united nations, without a declaration of war by the people's representatives in congress.

The transfer from congress to the council [composed of representatives of 10 foreign nations and the United States] of the power to engage this country in war, he said, will be brought about by constitutional means.

There are no constitutional means, short of an amendment of the Constitution, by which this result could be brought about. The Constitution says that congress and only congress has the power to declare war. Unless the Constitution is changed—and Mr. Roosevelt doesn't propose that—there is no authority in this country except the people's representatives in congress, and certainly no authority abroad that can send this nation to war. It is true that there have been occasions in the past when warlike steps were taken on the President's order, without a congressional declaration, but these were not full-scale wars and the Presidents who ordered the action did so at risk of impeachment. Mr. Roosevelt proposes, in some fashion unstated, to regularize and legalize something which cannot be regularized and legalized as long as the plain words of the Constitution mean what they say.

It is not news that the President is no respecter of the Constitution. It is news, however, that he has gone on record openly and brazenly in favor of evading one of its wisest provisions. This generation of Americans knows better perhaps than any of its predecessors the cost of war in blood and money. Mr. Roosevelt says that in future it is to be easier to get into war than it ever was before. The people and their representatives in Washington will not have to be persuaded that war is necessary and unavoidable. All that will be required is that an appointee of the President, sitting in a council otherwise composed of foreigners eager to have us participate in their wars for their advantage, vote along with his colleagues of the council for war.

Mr. Roosevelt pretends that this method will keep us out of wars. He would oil the hinges because, he says, that will make the door to war harder to open. It sounds absurd and it is absurd, but it is Mr. Roosevelt's announced position and it is in full accord with his whole record in foreign relations. If he had wanted peace in Europe he would not have broken up the London economic conference in 1933. Increasingly, as the years advanced, he wanted war. He got it. And now he blames the Republicans.

He blames them, among other things, for scuttling the navy. In truth, Mr. Roosevelt was himself a leading advocate of this policy. He sent Norman Davis to the London naval conference of 1935, held almost three years after Hitler came to power. Mr. Davis was armed with a letter from Mr. Roosevelt, the full text of which is to be found at page 481 of the fourth volume of Mr. Roosevelt's public papers. In this letter, read to the conference by Mr. Davis, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"The Washington naval conference of 1922 brought to the world the first important voluntary agreement for limitation and reduction of armament. It stands out as a milestone in civilization. It was supplemented by the London naval treaty of 1930 which recognized the underlying thought that the good work begun should be progressive . . . Today the United States adheres to that goal."

He went on to say that "governments impelled by common sense and the good of humanity ought to seek treaties reducing armaments." What he now calls the scuttling of our navy he then referred to as "one of the greatest achievements of friendly relations between nations."

Mr. Roosevelt expressed fear that Mr. Dewey's victory would place isolationists at the head of the senate's committees on foreign relations, naval affairs, etc. Mr. Roosevelt knows, of course, that however desirable or undesirable that might be, it isn't going to happen. Not even the most sanguine Republican expects that the victory of Mr. Dewey will mean a Republican majority in the senate. The whole senate is not to be chosen this year; only a third of the members are to be elected. The Republicans would have to win virtually all the seats, including those from the southern states, to have a majority, and with it the power to reorganize the senate committees.

More particularly, what did the senators and representatives whom Mr. Roosevelt singled out for denunciation do to promote war? Did they institute our undeclared wars before Pearl Harbor? Did they send the ultimatum to Japan when we were unprepared to fight. Before that, did they favor the export of oil and scrap steel to Japan? Did they lend-lease the planes needed in the Philippines? To a man they opposed all these Rooseveltian measures that led to war. The country's foreign policy could be entrusted to much worse hands than those of the men Mr. Roosevelt denounced. We know that because it has been.

MR. TRUMAN IS WELL.

Mr. Roosevelt found occasion to inform his press conference he is in "pretty good health." On the same day Harry S. Truman, the candidate for Vice President, came out into the open with the statement that if he and Mr. Roosevelt should be elected and anything should happen to the President, he had been "told by others" that he is qualified for the Presidency.

"You force me to make this statement," he said.

It is hardly true that anybody has forced Mr. Truman to say anything. What is more likely is that the state of Mr. Roosevelt's health is on his mind, just as it is on the minds of a great many others who have seen Mr. Roosevelt's recent pictures and have heard his voice. Mr. Truman would not be talking about his qualifications for the succession if he did not judge there was a chance there would be a succession.

The news that Mr. Truman is well and considers that he has a number of years ahead of him is, no doubt, gratifying to Mr. Truman. But, inasmuch as he has projected the picture of himself occupying the White House, the American people may also care to dwell upon that prospect.

They know Mr. Truman as a bankrupt in business, a county officer of extravagant habits who lost in a fire the records of where the money went, a candidate always indebted to the Pendergast mob and its ex-convict chieftain, and a man whose pretensions to the stature of a national leader are described in his own unashamed declaration that he considers himself "a Jackson county politician" and "an organization man." His organization is the Pendergast organization. His backing is from it and the other big city mobs, reinforced by the communist dominated political action committee.

Mr. Truman considers himself qualified for the Presidency. On this record, do his countrymen? In voting for the fourth term they may well be voting for the Truman first term.

ALLIES, NOT SUBJECTS.

William J. Dunn, a radio correspondent, who landed on Leyte with Gen. MacArthur's army of liberation, gave a most moving account of the welcome extended by the Filipino population of the island. He told of children hardly 3 years old, who obviously have no memory of any authority except that of the Japanese conquerors, waving and dancing in the streets and piping, "Vic-tor-ee, Vic-tor-ee." The Japanese set up a pretentious propaganda organization to win the Filipinos away from the United States, but all the time these youngsters were being indoctrinated with freedom in their homes.

He told of the gayly dressed Filipino women cheering the American troops and of the universal greeting of "Mah boo hy," which in the Tagalog dialect of the island means "live long," and of the old man who stopped him on the street, shook his hand warmly, said, "Thank you," and walked away.

Reoccupation of the Philippines is going to be a tremendous military task. We are just now becoming accustomed to the tremendous distances and areas that are represented in the seemingly small spots on the globe that have been mile posts in the Pacific campaign. Leyte is a little south of the center of the Philippines, and from it we must fight almost the distance from Chicago to New York to reach Aparri, where the Japs made their first landing in northern Luzon.

In the campaign that we have just opened, however, our troops will have an advantage that exists nowhere else in the Pacific theater. The Filipinos are not only our friends; they are our allies, and they are fine fighters. We know that because it is only a little more than 40 years since we were fighting them ourselves.

When we took the islands from Spain the Filipinos had no reason to believe, from their own experience or that of other peoples in the western Pacific colonial areas, that one foreign master was in any way preferable to another. They had been in revolt against the Spaniards and they continued in revolt against us. We learned some hard lessons about jungle fighting before we pacified the islands.

Forty years of American administration taught the Filipinos that we meant what we said when we told them that we came to them, not as permanent masters, but as educators to prepare them for self-rule. Philippine independence has been proclaimed. The people of the islands who fight beside our men are fighting for their own freedom.

Their aid will be a great military asset. Many of them have never abandoned resistance to the Japanese. Their guerrilla bands are hiding in the mountains, harassing the Japs whenever they get the opportunity. Guerrillas acquire real military importance when they operate in support of an organized army, such as ours, which will absorb the attention of the Japanese. As we fight our way thru the islands every Filipino village will be an intelligence center for our troops. Every Filipino will be a potential soldier ready to take up hidden weapons in the night and kill Jap stragglers, destroy Jap supplies, and cut Jap communications. Every time we beat an organized Japanese force its retreating members will be harassed and cut to pieces by native snipers.

This is an advantage that no European colonial power can expect to enjoy, if and when it gets around to the reconquest of the possessions the Japs took from it. Nowhere else in the Pacific has a native people any hope of freedom to inspire it to assist in throwing off the Japanese yoke. Great Britain, France, and the Netherlands have a tremendously significant object lesson in the Philippines.

ONLY THE IGNORANT USE IT.

[Memphis Commercial Appeal.]

Asked by an impertinent waitress if she "didn't know there's a war on," a Boston girl promptly tipped over a tray of dishes. Her act so inspired an Oklahoma editor that he forwarded her a sum to help pay whatever may be her fine.

"Don't you know there's a war on" long since ceased to be a question. It has become an excuse—an excuse for ignorance, poor service, and absence of poise. Its use denotes complete lack of good manners and appreciation for the sensibilities of others.

If there wasn't a war on the majority of those who use it wouldn't have jobs.

There may be people in this country who don't know there's a war on. If so, they are those who ask a stupid, foolish, insolent question.

OCTOBER RHAPSODY.

Autumn foliage in the Chicago area, never spectacular, is giving its best show in years, almost up to the standard descriptive stuff of poets and painters. Refreshing rains in early September and crisp, dry weather in October have turned the trick. The sodden yellows of the usually damp Chicago fall are now golden in sunlight, and the rarer trees that are alleged to become red are really close to that color. The thinning of leaves, now in rapid progress, improves the vistas, and our civic landscape is in prime condition to give nature writers a reason to swoon in prose or verse.

* * *

Bird life has dwindled down to the permanent residents, who seem to be in a hushed and secretive mood, as if worrying over the cold and hungry months to come. The haze of October is so light that it is hardly observed by the hurrying city dweller, and yet at night it often dims the great stars of Orion, rising slowly in the east, and transforms the small patch of Pleiades into a nebula.

* * *

Small fry in uncouth garments have begun to soap inscriptions on shop windows, in rehearsal of the occult rites of Halloween. Football spectators, thus far fortunate in their Saturday and Sunday afternoon weather, are becoming aware that there is a breath from Lake Superior in the north wind. A bright, fat, crescent moon, setting soon after the dinner hour, starts the idle baseball player in bloodthirsty pursuit of the amiable rabbit and the fine-feathered duck.

* * *

And so another year turns toward its ending in its customary way, serenely unconscious of its place in a distressing human era called the Duration.

WEST MADISON STREET.

"Just like a kite in a tree,"
Said he—
"That's me!"

He paused to blink.
"Would you ever think
I had sky for my drink,

"The four winds for meat,
And a visitor's seat
Where the angels eat?"

(So gray was his head,
And his nose so red—
"Not you," I said.)

"Yes, me—and attend!
To the string's very end
I flew, my friend.

"Why, I flew so far
I played kiddie-kar
With the morning star!

"But now? As you see—
Just a kite in a tree,"
Said he. "That's me."

A Treatise He Never Finished.

The imagination of man is forever being swayed by vague notions and traditions which are heritages of a distant past. There is a tendency to accept differences and likenesses at their surface value, to suppose that things known by different terms are altogether different, and that others known by the same terms are identical.

However, such a story is far too intricate, subtle, and lengthy for a treatise of this type.

If we boldly consider the broad psychological reactions as we see them demonstrated in the contemporary world, we find that great social and intellectual developments loom large in the clarification of doctrines and reforms.

But we shall not go into that here.

It is only thru love, fear, hunger, desire, and imaginative impulses that man is slowly beginning to realize how deeply the education of circumstance may be supplemented by formal instruction, literature, discussion, and critical experience.

This we shall take up in a later chapter. Our present concern is with . . . Hig.

GOLDENROD DAYS.

The grays and browns of autumn sod
Are fired by the goldenrod,
And sniffing it, round late September,
Some are pledged hay-fever member.

And never shy, it does not hide
Deep in woods, but by the side
Of country road it softly glows
And pollinates the passing nose.

Turning leaves are gay, but seem
Pastels to its burnished gleam;
Mentally I must be minus—
Praising that which clogs the sinus.

Goldenrod, last flare of summer—
Am I dumb or am I dumber?
For the mind, what it can do—
Just writing this, and, whoosh! kerchoo!

Friend of Yanks' Kin

By Sally Joy Brown

[This department answers questions related to help available to relatives of service men, in the column or by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent to Sally Joy Brown.]

Mr. O. E. writes: "My son in the marine corps stationed in the Pacific has requested me to obtain a revolver and send it to him. Is this permissible?"

According to postal regulations, firearms may be sent only to commissioned officers, and it is necessary to have a written request from the man accompanied by an affidavit from his commanding officer indicating the firearm is to be used in connection with official duties.

Miss M. L. writes: "I have a friend who is a prisoner of war in Germany. He sent me a card asking for cigarets and candy. Since I am not a relative, I have none of the official labels which are necessary, but I wonder if I could send a package."

No packages may be sent to a prisoner of war without the official label provided by the war department. I suggest you write to your friend's relatives or the person who has been named as his next of kin and ask if you may inclose a gift in the parcel sent to him when using the next official label to be issued. Unless you do that, I know of no way you could send a package.

WHOOPING COUGH VACCINE IN ASTHMA.

ALL too often the patient with bronchial asthma is given up in despair. After trying everything without avail, the sufferer may be told frankly that about the best that can be done for him is to relieve his attacks with adrenalin or a similar chemical.

Many victims are bothered by so many different offenders that specific treatment cannot be administered. Others may fail to evince the slightest response to skin tests. Nevertheless, the symptoms continue in unabated fury.

A few years ago, considerable attention was attracted by a study which set forth that whooping cough and asthma have many points in common. The suggestion was made that whooping cough vaccine could be employed as an antidote. It was found that some of the victims who failed to react to sensitivity checks were benefited by attempts to immunize them against whooping cough.

While the number of reports thus far published is not large, spectacular relief has followed in certain cases. There apparently is little reason to fear bad after-effects and the whooping cough preparation can be granted a careful trial without losing ground.

One girl who came under my observation was a 23 year old office worker. House dust was thought to be responsible and she appeared to improve under inoculations of this material. She was normal for approximately six months. Thereafter, paroxysms returned with increased force. Her physician then decided to try pertussis vaccine. By this time her general condition was poor. She ran an irregular temperature, sometimes with afternoon readings of 101 degrees F.

First of all, an extremely minute quantity of the substance was introduced beneath the outer layers of the skin. Inasmuch as no untoward results ensued, the first dose was injected well into the tissues. Two days later, she received the second. In consequence, expectoration became profuse altho wheezing was lessened decidedly. After the third, fever and all signs of difficult breathing vanished. Subsequent to the fourth, she was wholly symptom-free.

We cannot explain just what happens. Perhaps the individual is able to build up the resistance of the bronchial mucous membrane. At any rate, a favorable influence will be noted in a sufficiently high percentage of cases to warrant consideration of the plan whenever simpler means fail. There is no reason why the vaccine cannot be used with acute as well as chronic sufferers altho it will be of no value in a type of shortness of breath which does not present the characteristic asthmatic wheeze.

May recurrences be expected? Yes. In other words, we are not dealing with a cure but with a bridge which can be reërected as occasion demands. Certain persons have been without sieges for between two and three years which leads us to believe that, in a few instances, we have exactly the remedy which a particular patient requires.

GENESIS.

W. R. writes: How is the rate of the heart beat governed?

REPLY.

By a nervous mechanism which is partly within and partly without the cardiac organ. The impulse arises in the area where the great vessels leave the heart. After extending to the auricles it passes thru the bundle of His [the pacemaker] to the ventricles. If there is trouble anywhere along this pathway the rate may be slow, fast, or irregular. The vagus nerve [pneumogastric] plays an important rôle. It carries fibers which retard contractions as well as those which speed them up.

PRESERVING PEACE

Front Views & Profiles

By MARCIA WINN

The Ho-Hum Front.

Dear Brother:

It was nice to hear from you and to know you are well, but I do wish you and all the men on your ship were not so distressed by what you call rumors from home. I wish I could tell you they are not rumors, but at the risk of ruining your morale for the next two years—as I recall, that is your estimate of the time required to defeat Japan—I must admit they are true. The optimism which you term incredible exists. The war is over except for a few finishing touches. I am surprised you didn't know that. A., who wrote me from Belgium a few weeks ago in just such baffled indignation as you, didn't know it either. What are the army and navy up to that they allow you to keep on fighting?

Perhaps you don't realize that we have a beautiful new subdivision of the home front—the ho-hum front. It came into being in late summer with the liberation of Paris and already is thickly populated.

The early part of the summer was pretty hard on us, you see. One group of our leaders told us to ring bells on D-day and another suggested we pray, and the whole thing left us terribly confused and tired, desperately tired. But we followed the war thru Normandy and had our vicarious triumphs and emotional orgies, and after Paris we just gave up. The thing was too easy. The conquest of Germany was a cinch and that of Japan would follow the next day. Sticking our teeth into the Siegfried line, bombing Formosa, and landing in the Philippines were no surprise at all after that. We took them for granted. We have our victory celebrations all planned, and no one is going to drop paper out of the Empire State building in New York on V-day. Isn't that nice? The war's almost over. It's really won now.

That is what started us ho-hummers. We're tired of the war. That's all, just tired. We're tired of reading about it, tired of seeing pictures of it, tired of distressing facts. "Ho-hum!" we yawn. "I wish this old war would be over!" Ho-hum.

We have to work hard to escape from our armchair mental strain, so we go to the races by the thousands. Here no one brings up that awful subject, war. We go to the races and play the horses at the $50 and $100 windows. The $2 windows are deserted. Here is true excitement, the sound of hoofs on turf, the hysteria of the finish, the fat roll of bills in the pocket. This isn't ho-hum. This is yippee.

Don't you understand? War is boring. You can't read or think about war all the time. It's much more fun to lay a bet on what day the war will end. Many of us ho-hummers lost money on that one back in September. We were terribly surprised, but we're betting now on the day after election.

The way the thing drags along preys on the mind. The solution lies in a shopping orgy. All we ho-hummers have them. Every day. We fight our way thru the stores, and I mean fight, for all the other ho-hummers are doing the same thing.

We have lots of money, and inflation after the war will be terrific, so we're spending our money while it is good. We also are spending our war bonds. We're ho-humming it to the bank and cashing in before the rush. Once the rush is on, the treasury department will go broke and cancel payments.

We're buying the very best we can find—$4,000 mink coats and $1,800 gold shaving mugs [no soap in them, tho] and $125 fountain pens. We're buying furniture, silverware, and diamonds, and the only reason we don't buy cars is that there are no cars. You'd think with the war practically over, the way it is, they could convert a few plants back to cars. Ho-hum.

Well, that's our ho-hum front. Inspirational, isn't it? I do wish you could be here to join it, but I can't understand why you don't know the war is over. You would if you sat in on some of our parlor strategy conferences. We no longer discuss the war. We discuss the coming liquor holiday in December, that little $185 dress we just picked up for $395, and how we are going to manage the peace.

ONE PAY-OFF FOR SIDNEY.

Downers Grove, Ill., Oct. 20.—If President Roosevelt should be reelected by a narrow margin, and thereby find himself indebted to the CIO's PAC, he could pay the debt by filling vacancies, as they occur, in the national labor relations board with men who will be willing "to clear everything with Sidney."

Stooges for Hillman on the board could favor CIO unions over the AFL and MESA craft and trade unions, and over the UMW and its affiliates. They could likewise favor, within the CIO, the faction most amenable to Sidney's political and economic plans.

This is possible, because the Wagner act directs that "the board shall decide in each case whether, in order to insure to employes full benefit of their right to self-organization and to collective bargaining, and otherwise to effectuate the policies of this act, the unit appropriate for the purposes of collective bargaining shall be the employer unit, craft unit, plant unit, or subdivision thereof."

The act does not attempt to define or establish standards to guide the board in measuring "appropriateness." This is left to the discretion of the board, uncontrolled, except as it is directed to "insure full benefits" and "effectuate the policies of the act." Nor are its decisions directly appealable. If the board believes that the employes of an entire plant [a majority of whom prefer "vertical" organization] will be insured full benefits and that the policies of the act will be effectuated in such a unit, it may require a long established AFL or MESA craft group within the plant to surrender its identity, and become a part of the unit found by the board to be "appropriate," and accept as its representative a CIO [vertical] union.

Prime function of the board is to "diminish the causes of labor disputes." It must not only prevent repressive acts on the part of the employer which lead to strife; it must resolve "labor disputes" which arise between competitive labor organizations. It must, in the interest of industrial peace, resolve controversies between relatively small but sharply distinguishable craft groups, and larger industrial units which might be found appropriate. If the board's personnel desired it could find arguments to support the "appropriateness" of vertical unions in every labor dispute which involved autonomy of crafts. It could be so "planted" that it would clear everything with Sidney. M. P. M.

THE HERO MAKES THE OCCASION.

Muskegon Heights, Mich., Oct. 19.—The thought of giving Roosevelt credit for the winning of the war brought to mind this analogy: You are standing on a dock. A man comes up and pushes you in the water. [Maybe you would have fallen in.] Then he throws you a line, but, being a good swimmer, you ignore the line, and get to safety. To whom should you give credit?

This fellow is walking up and down the dock, bragging about how he saved you, but we know better, don't we?

PRO-AMERICAN.

THE TRIBUNE'S KNOCKERS.

Mattoon, Ill., Oct. 17.—For many years I have watched candidates for office—both Republican and Democratic—as they condemn THE TRIBUNE. Many of both parties have joined in this campaign of abuse.

As I think of all these politicians, I am not able to think of a single one who spent his time lambasting THE TRIBUNE who was [as we realized sooner or later] worthy of popular support of the people. These men, as they appealed for votes, had so little of constructive value to tell the people that they turned to abusing THE TRIBUNE instead.

So I lose interest at once in any candidate who spends time and energy knocking THE TRIBUNE. I do not always agree with you and your editorial policies. But I do know that you have a great purpose in your campaigns and you have the courage to fight for what you think must be won. So I wish you even greater success in the days and years to come than ever before.

WALTER C. SWENGEL.

MEN WHO GROW FAT ON OTHER MEN'S LABOR.

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 20.—Allow me to congratulate you upon your editorial "Dan Tobin Defended." Thanks to our commander in chief, we have more union racketeers who live off gullible dues paying workers than ever before. If any society or lodge interminably indulged in the disgraceful conduct that has marked that of the Teamsters' union, the state militia and the FBI would have been called upon to squelch that organization long ago.

There is about as much chance of dislodging Dan Tobin from his comfortable nest as that of the proverbial snowball surviving hell. We can credit the Roosevelt administration for bringing into being a perpetual heirarchy of soft, lazy union bosses who use terroristic practices to extract money from every one who can be bulldozed into helping maintain a legitimatised fraud.

RIGHT TO INHERIT.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—When my mother married my stepfather she was a widow and owned a small amount of property. Now that she has died, I should like to know whether [1] I am not entitled to inherit something from her, especially because [2] I cared for her the last two years. F. O.

1. Your rights in her assets would depend upon whether the assets were in joint tenancy, whether she left a will, and on other facts that are not before us.

2. "It is a general rule of law that services rendered by one member of a family to another, without contract or agreement to pay for the same or without a request for the services, are presumed to be gratuitous and do not constitute sufficient consideration to support a promise to pay for the same." Meyer v. Meyer, 39 N. E. 2d 314. Since the Illinois evidence act excluded the claimant from testifying against a deceased's estate, other witnesses will be needed. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FRAUD HUNTERS BARE MASS PLOT TO STEAL VOTES

Find Hundreds of Phony Names on Poll Books.

WILL YOU HELP?

If you wish to work for your country election day, communicate with:

The Business Men's committee, 53 W. Jackson blvd., which wants volunteers to eliminate fraudulent registration by checking precinct lists. Telephone Harrison 6515 or 6516. Or

The Joint Civic Committee on Elections, 105 S. La Salle st., which is seeking 5,000 watchers to man the polls Nov. 7. Telephone Franklin 8440.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Canvassers reported the discovery of hundreds of fraudulently registered names on the poll books yesterday to the business men's committee which is coöperating with the joint civic committee on elections, the Republican county central committee, and the Honest Ballot association to prevent vote thefts and dishonest counting of ballots in the Nov. 7 election.

The business men's committee workers were making a house to house canvass in wards where vote frauds have been prevalent in the past. The other agencies were centering their efforts on enrolling watchers for duty at the polling places in three shifts on election day.

Tell of Mass Plots.

"I am getting many calls from our canvassers," said Frank Durham, chairman of the business men's group. "They tell of fake names on the poll books and of evident plots of mass voting by floaters, stingers, and cheaters of all kinds."

Affidavits challenging the voting rights of 17 Jap Americans registered from 1032 N. Dearborn st. in the 42d ward, were filed with the commission during the day. Other affidavits for suspect notices filed with the board in that ward, which is on the near north side, were as follows: Twenty-seven in the 33d precinct, 28 in the 17th precinct, 22 in the 60th precinct, and 27 in the 44th precinct.

Other Charges Reported.

Other charges of false registration reported to the board yesterday were: Thirty-nine in the 47th precinct of the 22d ward, 20 in the 28th precinct of the 43d ward, and 47 in the 8th precinct of the 1st ward.

Harry Lipsky, chairman of the board of election commissioners, said his office was prepared to act on the registrations of those sent suspect notices. Today is the last day such notices may be sent, he said, and those whose right to vote is questioned may respond for the next three days. Unless the "suspects" respond and prove their qualifications their names are erased, Lipsky explained.

At the end of the day John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the election board, estimated that 500 applications for suspect notices had been filed.

Warned of Attempt.

"We were warned that an attempt might be made to harass many legitimate voters by putting their names on suspect notices," Lipsky said. "In turn we gave warning that we would not tolerate such promiscuous usage of this system, and any one trying it may find himself in trouble."

Durham said he had been advised the Kelly machine would resort to such tactics in some of the wards.

Guy E. Reed, chairman of the joint committee, who is also head of the Chicago crime commission, said his organization is striving for an enlistment of 5,000 nonpartisan volunteer watchers for duty on Nov. 7. He said applications to serve as watchers will be received up to and including Oct. 31.

STEERS IN LOOP BALK COWBOYS, BOW TO POLICE

Four Brahma steers yesterday created excitement in the south side of the loop after they romped out thru the alley door of the Coliseum, where they were performers in a rodeo.

One of the steers wandered into an army store on Jackson blvd., after two sailors on the sidewalk had alarmed it. Another wound up in the lobby of the Railway Exchange building at 80 E. Jackson blvd., where it was discouraged from getting on the elevators.

The other two grazed happily in Grant park opposite the Stevens hotel, then began a promenade up Michigan av., until police urged them back into the park.

Two mounted cowboys from the rodeo lassoed and lassoed in vain. Then park police herded the steers into a truck.

A lieutenant in charge of the police said: "If I knew who turned these steers loose I would put him in jail."

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Pvt. Paul T. Leschuk, Camp Wheeler, Ga.]

THE QUESTION.

Are the sergeants in your camp as tough as they are illustrated to be in the movies?

WHERE ASKED.

THE ANSWERS.

Pvt. C. B. May Jr., Mobile, Ala.—I don't know of anything nice they have ever done for me. But if it weren't for the sergeants the buck privates would have an awfully hard time because they'd have to think for themselves. A lot of them talk tough but they aren't really that bad. I might add I like the WAC sergeants the best.

Budy Cassulo, Jackson, Cal.—They were plenty tough where I took my training in California. They have to be tho to teach soldiers discipline. If they weren't they wouldn't get any coöperation. After you get out of boot camp they are really nice to you and talk to you just like any private—except the first sergeant.

Don Storms, Zephyrhills, Fla.—I suppose they can be human at times. The question is when. Sometimes I wonder if even their mothers could love them. But I guess they are just one of those necessary evils of the army. Maybe some day I'll be a sergeant [who knows?]. Then maybe I can lord it over the privates too for a change.

Jim Abel, Birmingham, Ala.—Let me think—what did a sergeant ever do for me? Nothing that I can think of—but that's bad. I wouldn't want to say that. They're pretty handy to have around at times. They keep us privates from going in to see the big boy too often. And I wouldn't want to be in the sergeant's shoes then.

Robert Holcombe, Marietta, Ga.—In the ground forces they're just as tough—in the air forces, no. I think the air force sergeants are more lenient. Once I got a three day pass from my sergeant. But I don't know if that meant anything because my buddy who followed me didn't get a pass. It's just according to their mood, I guess.

Royal Amundson, Los Angeles, Cal.—No, they're good friends of ours because they want to get along with us, and to get along we have to like them. They are responsible for what we do and they want to keep us on their side. Except for the first sergeant. The only reason he's tough is that he wants to keep his rating.

4 RED STAMPS BECOME VALID NEXT SUNDAY

Four new red stamps in ration book 4 will become valid Sunday, and five blue stamps, for processed foods, will become effective Wednesday, Nov. 1, Marion W. Isbell, area office of price administration director, said yesterday. Each will be worth 10 points. The red stamps will be the last issued for five weeks. Blue stamps become valid the first of each month. Red stamps L-5, M-5, N-5, and P-5 will be good for meats, fats, and oils. Blue stamps S-5, T-5, U-5, V-5, and W-5 may be used to purchase canned goods.

Five per cent of the heating season has elapsed, the OPA said in announcing that fuel oil consumers should have 95 per cent of their winter's rations left to be sure of sufficient heat until next summer.

HILLMAN'S REDS MAKE HANNEGAN FORGOTTEN MAN

Communists Directing 4th Term Drive.

cratic voters might get that the fourth term canvass is being directed from Moscow. It was accounted a great achievement at Democratic headquarters when Hannegan and Mr. Roosevelt succeeded in maneuvering Hillman into withdrawal as a speaker at the Herald-Tribune forum, which he was scheduled to address as the spokesman of the Democratic party. The vision of Hillman, the Communists' walking delegate, whooping it up for the fourth term as Democratic spokesman, with the ether radiating his thick Russian accent to the whole country, gave the Democratic strategists gooseflesh.

Hannegan denied that Mr. Roosevelt ever told him to "clear everything with Sidney" at the Democratic convention. But Mr. Roosevelt has been careful not to deny it, and of course it is common knowledge that the Vice Presidential nomination was cleared with Hillman, who rejected "Assistant President" Jimmy Byrnes and Sen. Barkley and approved Sen. Truman. Hillman called "clear everything with Sidney" an "anti-Semitic, anti-foreign, anti-labor slogan" invented by the Republicans.

Organization Ignored.

To such an extent, however, is the President clearing everything with Sidney now that the Democratic organization is being ignored and short circuited. When Mr. Roosevelt had become convinced that if he is to stave off defeat he must make public appearances and campaign speeches he committed the arrangements for his New York parade last Saturday not to Hannegan or the New York Democrats, but to Hillman and Mayor La Guardia, a member of Hillman's American Labor party. It took a lot of pleading, cajoling, and threatening to induce La Guardia to let the Democratic borough leaders so much as ride with the President thru their respective bailiwicks.

The Democratic committee has not staged a single big rally for the President in New York up to date. Aside from the Roosevelt parade under the auspices of Hillman and La Guardia, the only rally held for the fourth term was the Communists' meeting, arranged by Earl Browder in Madison Square Garden.

Altho Hillman insists he is not a Communist at the present time, he is the most potent instrument of political action the Communists possess. The PAC, of which he is chairman, is controled by Communists. And he turned the American Labor party, of which he is the head, over to the Communists. That party, with more than 400,000 votes, had exercised the balance of power in several New York elections.

Bored Into ALP.

Immediately after the Teheran conference, which he hailed as a diplomatic victory for Russia, Browder dissolved the Communist party and launched the drive for the fourth term. He bade the Communists join other parties, by which he meant the Democratic and the American Labor party which the Communists were in process of capturing with Hillman's connivance.

Hillman's PAC uses Hillman's labor party for the distribution of Roosevelt campaign literature, the ALP headquarters being stacked today with bales of a new publication in the Polish language designed to combat the widespread view that Mr. Roosevelt sold the Poles down the river at the Teheran conference.

The Democrats clear with Sidney on the one hand and the Communists clear with Sidney on the other, all to the glory of the fourth term.

Suit Against AFL Locals Over Finances Dismissed

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday dismissed a suit filed by the International Ladies Handbag, Luggage, Belt, and Novelty Workers' union [AFL] against two Chicago locals whom they charged had failed to meet financial obligations and had refused to submit their books for auditing. Alfred Kamin, representing the international union, told the court the differences had been composed amicably, and that the two locals, which had been ousted, will rejoin the international.

VISITORS BRING OWN SUPPLY OF BUTTER TO N. Y.

New York, Oct. 23 [Special].—The scarcity of butter in New York is so acute that out-of-town visitors are bringing in their personal supply and New Yorkers are receiving shipments from friends and relatives in sections of the country where the supply of butter is more normal, it was learned today.

With butter supplies in New York reported by the war food administration to be the "shortest of the year," many hotel dining rooms and restaurants have discontinued serving butter with lunch or dinner.

Harold P. Bock, chairman of the food rationing committee of the Hotel Association of New York, said guests who have their own ration books can bring their own butter to lunch and dinner. Every two months, Bock said, hotels are allotted their red points for meat, butter, and cooking fats. Owing to the high point value of butter, stewards cannot afford to put out so many points for butter.

FORECASTING BALDNESS

This young man has a good head of hair and doesn't feel that he will ever be bald. Yet his scalp is laden with dandruff, itches constantly, and he loses a great deal of hair each day. In a few years later it will be too late, and his appearance will be permanently marred, a serious handicap to anyone. Don't let baldness come to you, since scientific Warner treatment and proper care afterward can prevent it in most cases.

There is no charge or obligation for a scalp examination and consultation. Examination and treatment are given in strictest privacy. FEES FOR TREATMENT ARE VERY MODERATE AND ARE PAYABLE AS THE TREATMENTS ARE TAKEN—NOT IN ADVANCE. There is a separate department for women.

DEWEY TO SPEAK TONIGHT ON F.D.R. FOREIGN POLICY

Plans Challenge in Talk at Minneapolis.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard Dewey Train, Oct. 24 [Tuesday].—Gov. Dewey will reply tonight in Minneapolis to President Roosevelt's speech on foreign affairs. His speech will be broadcast from 9:30 to 10 o'clock over NBC and the Blue network.

The candidate's special train, carrying his staff and 70 newspaper and radio men, passed thru Chicago this morning stopping only long enough for maintenance crews to service the cars. He will return to Chicago tomorrow afternoon and will speak tomorrow night in the Chicago Stadium.

Gaps to Be Filled.

"Mr. Roosevelt," he said, "I'm afraid, took history out of context. His memory seems to have failed on large areas of recent history so I'll fill the gaps in his speech."

Dewey said he thought his "speech will be of interest to all Americans." He refused to say more about his Minneapolis address. He asserted he had stated his own foreign policy views "in the clearest possible language when he spoke before the New York Herald-Tribune forum last Wednesday.

"Practically never," Dewey interrupted.

"Will you refer to Democratic congressmen and senators with records similar to those of Republicans against whom Roosevelt complained?" asked a Washington, D. C., correspondent.

"I don't think I'll bother with Mr. Roosevelt's isolationists," Dewey replied. "He has two who are committee chairmen, but I don't want to bother about that."

Hesitates to Commit Party.

"Will your speech say whether you favor, as Roosevelt does, empowering the American delegate to the new league to vote to put us into war?"

"I doubt that I'll go into details on that point," Dewey replied. "I don't know to what extent it is proper for me to commit the Republican party on a subject still being negotiated."

Gov. Dewey said he had originally intended to deliver his main address on agriculture at Minneapolis. He said he didn't know when or where his farm talk will be delivered.

En route to Chicago tomorrow Dewey will stop in Milwaukee from 9:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m, for a conference arranged by Gov. Goodland with Wisconsin groups. He will make two additional platform appearances in Wisconsin, in Racine at 1 p. m. and in Kenosha at 1:25 p. m. He is scheduled to arrive in Chicago at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

COL. M'CORMICK GIVES DEFINITION OF 'ISOLATIONIST'

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, replied today to President Roosevelt's remark Saturday that the President was proud the administration "does not have the support of the isolationist press—and I mean specifically the McCormick-Patterson-Hearst-Gannett press." Said Col. McCormick in an interview: "The word 'isolationist' is the word that a man controled by foreign influences uses for 'patriot.'"

CHICAGO-LONDON 108 PASSENGER PLANES ORDERED

26 Giant Clippers to Cost 40 Millions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—Pan American Airways todays announced that it has ordered 26 four engined clipper planes that will fly in the substratopshere at 300 miles an hour with 108 passengers and a crew of 13. The planes, to be built by Douglas Aircraft company, will cost 40 million dollars.

The company plans to use this type of plane on its flight from Chicago to London if it obtains a certificate for this route from the civil aeronautics board, which is holding hearings preparatory to awarding post-war overseas routes. Later the company will replace this type with the larger type 10 clippers, which will carry 149 passengers, officials said.

One Plane Being Built.

While delivery of the 108-passenger plane, designated type 9, depends on the course of the war, the basic plane of the type is actually under construction at Long Beach, Cal., and some planes may be delivered in 1945, Pan American said.

An idea of the size of these giant clippers is given by the announcement that the wings, from tip to tip, will be equal to the height of a 16 story building. The company says that with such planes long distace flights will be made at fares as low as 3½ cents a mile.

Cabins to Be Pressurized.

The planes will have two cabins, one accommodating 72 passengers and the other 36. In addition there will be facilities for serving full course meals, dressing rooms, a flight deck and compartment for pilots and large cargo and storage space. Pressurized cabins will insure comfortable travel at 20,000 feet, it was said.

F. D. R. SHAVES DEWEY LEAD IN N. Y. STRAW POLL

New York, Oct. 23 [Special].—President Roosevelt again whittled down Gov. Dewey's lead today as the New York Daily News Presidential poll passed the half-way mark. Dewey now has 51.5 per cent to Roosevelt's 48.5 per cent of the total 31,410 straws tabulated to date. For two consecutive days now the President has slowly gained.

With the poll half completed—a total of 62,887 straws will be collected in the state-wide survey before a three day repoll begins on Nov. 2—the straws stack up as follows:

Dewey, 16,164 straws, or 51.5 per cent.

Roosevelt, 15,246 straws, or 48.5 per cent.

PICK JURY TO TRY CAPTAIN ON WIFE SLAYING CHARGE

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 23 (AP).—A state case built largely around circumstantial evidence was outlined by the prosecution today as Capt. Robert J. Connors, dapper young Philadelphia army officer, went on trial charged with second degree murder in the death of his wife, Lois, July 8. A jury of eight women and four men was selected today.

Capt. Connors tonight slept in the hotel quarters he and his wife had occupied for what he has described as "a last furlough" before possible overseas assignment.

Mrs. Connors' body was found in a bathtub and the 27 year old officer told police he had dragged her, unconscious, from the bath as he attempted to revive her. Cuts found on the body he attributed to a shattered soft drink bottle on the floor.

Judge Louis J. Schneider announced testimony would start tomorrow.

CHARGES REALTY MEN SHACKLED BY OPA RADICALS

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 23 (AP).—E. N. Ayer of San Francisco, president of the National Apartment Owners' association, today said men "whose adult years have been spent in association with communist front organizations" occupy top positions in the rent department of the office of price administration.

He told a luncheon of real estate men:

"I cannot believe that men whose bed fellows in 1940 and 1941 and earlier were people committed to the doctrine of the destruction of the rights of private ownership of property and of our constitutional form of government can now have so changed their philosophy as to have any interest in, or sympathy for, the owner of property."

Names Two OPA Men.

"I refer," Ayer declared, "to men like Tom Tippett, director of field operations in the rent division, and Tom Emerson, in charge of the OPA enforcement division."

Ayer said the policy written into OPA regulations and interpretations was to control, not rents, but profits, "to keep the property owner completely shackled, to make private ownership of investment property positively unattractive."

He said he was convinced "property owners can expect neither sympathy nor fair treatment from the rent department of the OPA while such men remain there in key positions."

Denied by Officials.

In Washington, Tippett said Ayer was a "damn liar," that he didn't know him, and that his assertions "were a lot of nonsense."

Emerson said the Ayer remarks about him were "completely false."

"I have not been associated with any Communist or communist front organizations," he said.

ALLEGED FORGER SEIZED.

Thomas McDuffee, 55, of 1508 E. 68th pl., arrested in the past for forgery at Nashville, Tenn., and Franklin, Ky., was seized yesterday in a currency exchange at 1553½ E. 63d st., where he is alleged to have tried to cash a fraudulent check for $62.50.

Charges Against Loop Tavern Staff Deferred

Charges of serving drinks to unescorted women against Joseph Sherman, manager of the Garrick Lounge tavern, 58 W. Randolph st., and two bartenders in the tavern, Ray Kybe and John Unger, were continued yesterday by Judge Jay Schiller in Sout State street court until Nov. 1. Central police, who arrested the trio Friday, said five women admitted being served drinks in the tavern while unescorted.

BONDS AND CASH STOLEN.

A strong box containing $50 and 10 $25 war bonds, and a gold brooch, ring and two alarm clocks were stolen in a burglary of his home, Allen Lundin, 7608 Michigan av., complained to police yesterday.

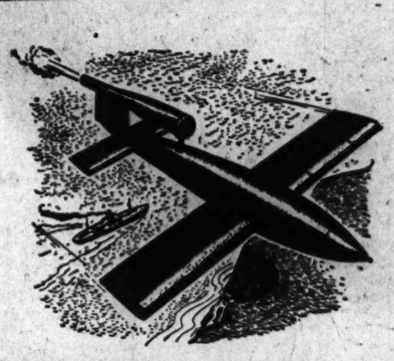
General Electric answers your questions about

JET PROPULSION

General Electric jet propulsion engines power the P-59A jet-propelled plane. You'll want to know these facts about one of the most unusual weapons to come out of the war.

Q: Is it like a rocket?

A: No. A rocket carries not only its fuel, but also the oxygen needed to burn it. A jet-propelled plane carries fuel for its G-E engine, but takes oxygen from the air as it travels through it. Thus, a rocket could theoretically travel to the moon. But because a jet-propelled plane cannot operate without air, it could never go beyond the earth's atmosphere.



Q: Is it like the German robot bomb?

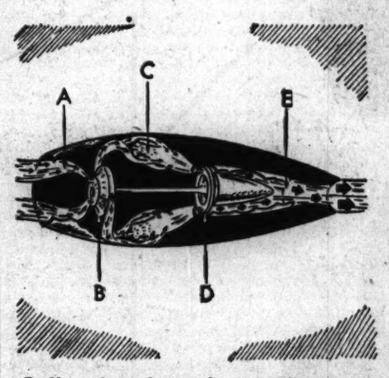
A: A little. The robot bomb uses a crude form of jet propulsion. But it hardly compares with a power plant that can drive a combat plane. The G-E jet propulsion engine is the power plant for very fast, very high flying jet-propelled fighter planes. Pilots find these new planes easy to handle.

Q: What was G. E.'s part?

A: General Electric engineers developed the jet propulsion engine from an original design by Group Captain Frank Whittle of the R. A. F. General Electric was chosen to design and build this new engine by the Army Air Forces because of G.E.'s long experience with steam turbines and turbosuperchargers.

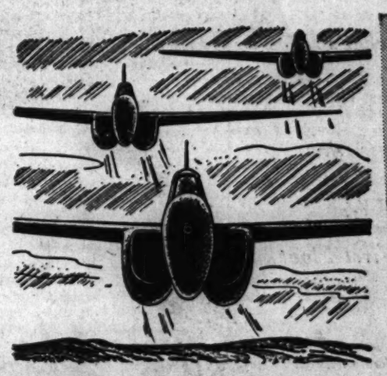
Q: What makes the jet plane go?

A: The same kind of force that makes a toy balloon scurry when it slips from your fingers. The same kind of force that makes a gun kick against your shoulder. The same kind of force that makes a rotary lawn sprinkler turn. In fact, you can probably think of a dozen other forms of jet propulsion that you see every day.



Q: How does the engine work?

A: Air flows from "A" through the compressor "B" into combustion chamber "C," where it is heated and expanded by burning fuel. Rushing toward the outlet, part of this hot gas turns turbine "D," which operates the compressor "B." From here the gas rushes through nozzle "E." The jet from this nozzle drives the plane forward.



Q: What does the jet plane look like?

A: At first glance it looks much like any other plane. But a closer look will show you that the propellers are missing and that there is no sign of conventional engines. Here is a sketch showing the P-59A, built for the Army Air Forces by Bell Aircraft. This plane is powered by two General Electric jet propulsion engines.

Women in War Work

Four Illinois school teachers, one of them from Chicago, now are serving with the WAC in Italy, allied headquarters there has announced. First Sgt. Marion E. Fielde, 188 W. Randolph st., an athletics instructor; Pvt. Virgel M. Torkelson, Morris; Pvt. Rosemary Haddock, Carrollton, and Pvt. Genette L. Melbourne, Kewanee, are among 90 teachers in uniform serving in the Italian theater, a communique says.

All the theater's former teachers have been overseas for at least a year and were stationed in North Africa before transferring to Italy. They are assigned to communications and administrative jobs.

Sgt. Fielde was at one time an athletic director of the Tower Town club here. Pvt. Torkelson has two brothers in uniform. Pvt. Melbourne not only was a teacher before enlisting but also worked on a Kewanee newspaper.

The singing voice resembling Dinah Shore's which is thrilling soldiers over microphones in the New Guinea theater belongs to WAC Pvt Ozeta Fay Cox, 6547 Chicora av., Chicago. Her regular job is helping in the post exchange, but off duty she lends her special talent, singing, to soldier shows and radio programs in the area.

Pvt. Cox entered the army in January, 1943. She received basic training at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., attended the administration school in Commerce, Tex., and returned to Oglethorpe for supply training. She spent a year in supply and rail transportation. Her request for foreign duty granted, she returned to Fort Oglethorpe for overseas training and arrived in New Guinea in June.

WAC Cox attended Carl Schurz High school and Wright junior business college. As a civilian she sold advertising space and clerked in a loop department store. Her 18 year old brother is in the navy.

The Northwestern university chapter of Gamma Phi Beta sorority will present a show for the entertainment of service men guests at 8 o'clock tonight in the Highland Park United Service Organizations' center. Marilyn Lang, who wrote last year's all-school musical show at the university, will be featured on the program in selections from the revue, entitled "Lady, You're Gone." Other young women who participated in the production also will be on the program.

State Rep. Bernice T. Van der Vries, chairman of the women's division of the Chicago Community and War Fund, will speak, and Mrs. Clifton M. Utley, a vice chairman of the division, will preside at a meeting at 2:30 p. m. today in the Commonwealth Edison company building at which first reports from 27,000 women doorbell ringers, participating in the residential solicitation, will be given.

Here's Shoe News for the Stamp Thrifty

BY REA SEEGER.

Good news for the shoe shoppers! Especially those who clutch a last lone shoe ration stamp. Some new pumps and wedgies covered in gabardine and velveteen are not only amazingly modest in price but can be yours without the stamp. Both models are exceptionally tempting. The wedgies, smooth and smart, are available in good winter shades such as copper, dark brown, and black. The pumps are extremely interesting, for they can be worn with many costumes—indoor lounging clothes, such as house dresses of wool or velveteen, slacks of satin or velvet, and all outdoor dresses of velveteen or corduroy.

A grand color range is obtainable in the high heeled velveteen pumps—wine red, dark brown, dark gray, winter green, and black. The toes are open and there is a good looking bow of the velveteen at the instep. Heels are covered to match bow and pump. And they do not make the foot appear large and fuzzy. You really have to see them to believe such magic.

The wedgies cost a trifle more than the pumps, but they're worth every penny. The soles are sturdy and well fashioned, the gabardine smooth and long wearing and adroitly molded to the last to fit snugly over the foot. The only model has open toes, a wide fitted strap over the instep, and a high wedge heel, all covered with the gabardine. These, too, double for real leather footgear inside the house, for a thinking woman cherishes her precious real leather shoes, and removes them as soon as she gets home, puts them on shoe trees [we fervently hope], keeps them cleaned and brushed, and wears these non-leather affairs around the house, looking as well shod and smart as she could wish.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 23.—How many of you remember Percy Marmont in "If Winter Comes"? Sure you do. He starred in many silent pictures. While he was living here, two daughters were born. His elder child, Pat, gave him two surprises in one month. First was when she came home one evening with news that she had gotten the leading lady part in his British film, "Loyal Heart," and second, when she announced she had passed her physical for the WAC. Reason for joining the WAC instead of the British ATS is that she and Pam are both American citizens. . . . In the picture, Percy is a poor sheep farmer. The cast helps with harvesting, and Pat does a spot of milking and assist in the bar in the village inn during evenings. It's the first all exterior feature to be made in Britain since the war.

Times Will Tell.

I hear the military biggies in Washington who arrange USO trips are furious over that story attacking Goddard, Jolson, Brown, et al, and repercussions are on the way. They fear that other stars planning trips will cancel and that the story was unfair. Only two well known names didn't live up to our standards. One is George Raft, who is said to have dogged it in Italy and returned after a few days; and the other, Humphrey Bogart, who thought he was playing himself on the screen. . . . A soldier coming out of Grauman's Egyptian after seeing "Dragon Seed" dropped a penny in the wishing well and said, "I wish I hadn't seen that picture." . . . Artie Shaw is recruiting his band to begin a four month tour starting in Minneapolis, hoping to recapture the No. 1 place he abandoned two years ago when he joined the navy. . . . Jimmy McHugh is getting fan mail not for his songs but his swimming meet. Jimmy set to music "That's All She Wrote," sent me by Corp. Tom Armstrong from South Pacific. Even with my bad playing, it sounds good. Now we need some one to sing it, then watch it go over the top.

Post-War Wishes.

Walter Morosco gets "Enchanted Voyage" at Twentieth. I'd like one of those voyages again, wouldn't you? The memory of my last voyage to England is getting pretty dim. . . . Otto Preminger is our fair-haired boy since "Laura's" success, but his photographer, Arthur Miller, has a powerful story to tell. He worked with Alfred Hitchcock during the old days in London when they used to go out and buy, borrow, beg, or steal furniture for their pictures. Then, too, they'd buy an old shack in Limehouse, move in their studio equipment, and shoot their picture there. "Only comedy should be done with bright lights," says Arthur. As a young man, Miller started his career as a jockey. Now he has two academy awards under his belt—one for "Bernadette" and the other for "How Green Was My Valley." How's that for a photo finish?

A Bit of This and That.

Lester Cowan wants to send Skippy Homeier to key cities where he'll open "Tomorrow the World," Skippy to talk at clubs, women's and youth organizations, about youth, and what to do with 10 million German kids after the war. He'll tell what he thinks should be done, but he'll ask his audience for suggestions, too. In the picture, Skippy plays a Nazi stinker. . . . Phil Raffin and Trudy Marshall have a December date for their wedding. Then she'll be able to eat all the steaks she likes. He's in the meat packing business, among other things. . . . Blanche Yurka's moved into a new home which was formerly a gambling establishment. Her bedroom is the former wine cellar. The living room was the game room, and she made the driveway into a garden. . . . Merle Oberon is in San Francisco watching the ponies and listening to opera.

Here Is Movie Beauty Editor Should Review

"EVER SINCE VENUS."

A Columbia picture, directed by Arthur Dreifuss, starring Ina Ray Hutton, with Hugh Herbert, Ann Savage, Billy Gilbert, Glenda Farrell, Ross Hunter, Alan Mowbray, and Marjorie Gateson, and presented at the Oriental.

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

Now what would a title like "Ever Since Venus" suggest to you? Love thru the ages? Strip tease? An art exhibit? Ah, no—that would all be too obvious. This one's about cosmetics, and really belongs in Eleanor Nangle's department.

Here's how lipstick, Ina Ray Hutton and her orchestra, Venus, and a likable new juvenile, Ross Hunter, get mixed up in this picture: Billy Gilbert, a cook by profession, writes a song and takes it to Miss Hutton, unaware that Alan Mowbray, a manufacturer of cosmetics, is going to engage Miss Hutton and her band to play at a cosmetics show and that a good theme song for the occasion is shortly to be worth one thousand ducats.

Billy rooms with an artist, Fritz Feld, and a young chemist, Ross Hunter, the latter being the inventor of a new type of lipstick whose superior qualities are never clearly explained. [Here's where Miss Nangle or Louise Dooley should come in.] Ross has a girl friend, Ann Savage, who is what is called a beauty operator, and she joins the boys in a foursome to promote Rosebud, as they playfully call their product, remembering Orson Welles and "Citizen Kane."

Billy's song wins the prize money and with it the boys and girl open a booth at the cosmetics show. But there are politics and jealousies, it appears, in cosmetics as in all else, and the newcomers find themselves in booth No. 13 and away off the beaten path of customers. Finally they do land an order and it nearly floors them—it's for 200,000 lipsticks and they haven't even a factory, the samples having been home made.

Then along comes Santa Claus—Hugh Herbert—in the guise of an eccentric manufacturer who collects china penguins, and he offers the gang the use of his five factories. But meanwhile the artist buddy, discouraged over the prospects [and you couldn't blame him], has sold the order to a rival firm. So it's up to Glenda Farrell, Miss Hutton's arranger who has taken a shine to Billy, to get the contract back from Mr. Mowbray, which she does in a gleeful scene.

After that, of course, there's a floor show, Ross becomes vice president of his benefactor's concern, takes Ann to wife—and you feel as if you'd been thru a course in cosmetics.

The School Broadcast conference's annual award of merit for outstanding service in educational radio was presented to Dr. I. Keith Tyler, director of radio education at Ohio State university, at a dinner of the conference last night in the Morrison hotel. Dr. Tyler is a director of the Institute for Educational Radio and president of the Association for Education by Radio.

More than 500 educators and leaders in educational broadcasting are attending the conference's sessions, which will continue today. Several teachers in the Chicago area were among those who received citations for effective use of radio in classrooms. They included Lucyle Urich and Rose Yunek, Woodbine school, Cicero; Lillian N. Ort and Helen K. Smith, Grant school, Chicago; Anne Burtrum, Holmes school, Chicago, and Sophie Dzierlenga, Peabody school, Chicago.

George Jennings, director of the conference and of the radio council of the Chicago board of education, addressed the dinner on "Eight Years of Broadcasting in the Chicago Schools." He spoke in the absence of Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools. Mr. Jennings envisioned an expanding use of broadcasting, facsimile [transmission of printed and pictorial matter by radio], and transcriptions in schools, but always under the guidance of teachers.

Prelate Scoffs at Idea Russia Is a Democracy

Toledo, O., Oct. 23 [Special]. — Until the Russian government does something substantive to change its policy of persecution and discrimination against religion, there is no use going on with the silly international pretense that Russia is a democracy, Msgr. Michael J. Ready of Cleveland declared in an address before the convention of the National Council of Catholic Women here tonight.

Msgr. Ready, who also is executive secretary of the National Catholic Welfare conference, said that in peace, as in war, Russian citizens have won our admiration, and that there is no desire to be Russophobe nor to condemn unjustly the Russian government.

He declared, however, that actual conditions are not in line with the "propaganda of deceit and confusion which come from Moscow."

"Our nation," he said, "is pledged to the Atlantic charter and to the doctrine of the four freedoms. We share with other peace loving nations the responsibility for honest fulfillment of the Atlantic charter. It is the one basic statement of allied war aims."

None had the least doubt about the charter, he said, until Russia announced a proposed unilateral partition of Poland. "If we as a nation betray our promise," Msgr. Ready charged, "for the sake of expediency, opportunism, or any other cause, we shall not only act dishonorably as champions of democracy but we shall sow the seeds for future wars."

Pointing to Poland as the symbol of justice for a new and better world we wish to build, Msgr. Ready said that "while Russia holds to present policies it would be an international outrage to put under her sovereignty the Catholic peoples of Lithuania, Hungary, Austria, Slovakia, Slovenia, Croatia, and other territories.

"If the policy of regimentation is enforced by governments against labor or business, that is properly called Fascism," he said, "if religion is regimented in Russia, self-styled liberals pretend to find in that a fine example of pure democracy."

Foresees Aviation Courses in Many Colleges After War

Many American colleges expect to add aviation as a course of instruction after the war, Ernest R. Breech, president of the Bendix Aviation corporation, said yesterday. He spoke before the Society for Promotion of Engineering Education and the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities in the Drake hotel.

Mr. Breech said the aviation industry will help those colleges and expressed the belief that the use of surplus stocks of government owned aircraft equipment after the war will help education to contribute to America's future air power.

The Bendix corporation recently surveyed academic opinion on the prospects of aviation becoming part of college and university curricula, he said, and it was found that 377 schools expressed definite interest, that 237 now offer some aspects of aviation training, and that 212 of these plan to continue and some to expand their aeronautical studies after the war.

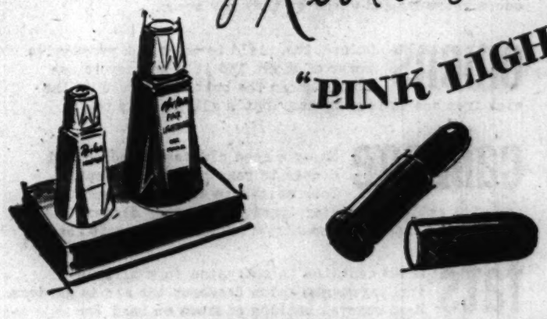
CHICAGO has been struck by Revlon's "PINK LIGHTNING"



Electrifying the whole country . . . the first really new pink in years! "Pink Lightning" lipstick and more intense "Pink Lightning" nail enamel; two different shadings—more fuchsia-than-pink, more pink than fuchsia—sparkling with the new high voltage two-tone clothes. Another proof of Revlon's fashion foresight and matchless quality!

Frostbite Fleet Season Again Is Under Way

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE gay red, blue, orange, green, and white sails that dot Belmont harbor each Saturday and Sunday afternoon indicate that the frostbite dinghy season is under way for the hardy sailors who refuse to retire to their firesides as the regular racing season tapers off. Fortified by long woolen underwear, slacks, life-jackets, and windbreakers, the intrepid skippers of the Chicago Yacht club gather each weekend to race their little boats over a triangular course within the harbor.

Sailing with his mother, Mrs. Edward Schnabel, as crew, Edward Schnabel Jr., a navy V-12 student at Northwestern university, won last Sunday's trophy, his second prize this season, the "Baron Karas Bowl" donated by L. L. Karas. So far this season Harry Nye Jr. also has captured two awards, the Leeds Mitchell Jr. trophy and the Salt Water trophy, the latter a giant silver salt shaker given by Alfred D. Dowrie Jr., secretary for the frostbite fleet.

Mr. Nye, Mr. Dowrie, Ray Strout, and Herman T. Van Mell are among the skippers who have their wives as crews in sailing their dinghies, Marconi cat-boat rigged for the purpose, in the Sunday races. Under the supervision of a race committee composed of Clare Udell and Adolph Schmidt, racing will continue until the harbor freezes.

Altho the frost is barely on the pumpkin, skiers already are making plans for a successful winter of sport, weather men coöperating. Members of the Snow Chase club will gather for a cocktail party at 5:30 p. m. Friday in the University club. Ski movies will be shown. The gathering will be preceded by a governors' and a directors' meeting at 4:30, when new officers will be elected.

Romantic News.

Mrs. Charles Edward Kelly of Short Hills, N. J., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Jane Frances, to Sgt. William Joseph Dunne of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Francis Dunne of Convent, N. J. Miss Kelly, whose father was the late Mr. Kelly, attended the Convent of the Holy Child in Summit, N. J., and now is a student at Rosemont college. Her fiancé is stationed at Camp Pinedale, Fresno, Cal. He is a grandson of the late Edward F. Dunne, former governor of Illinois, and the late Mrs. Dunne, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Powers of Chicago.

St. Paul's Episcopal church will be the scene of the marriage at 8:30 o'clock tonight of Miss Carroll Devol Russell to Capt. Albert W. Sherer Jr. of the army air forces. The ceremony will be followed by a reception in the Greenwood av. home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Russell.

Here for the wedding are Capt. Sherer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherer Sr., who soon will move back to Chicago after a residence of several years in Greenwich, Conn. Mr. Sherer will be his son's best man. Miss Adelyn Russell, a senior at the Ethel Walker school, has returned to Chicago to be a bridesmaid for her sister, along with another sister, Ann; Miss Jeanne Gronier, and Miss Carol Hanson. Mrs. Stanley Morton of Worcester, Mass., Capt. Sherer's sister, will serve as matron of honor. Since his return from the South Pacific Capt. Sherer has been serving as an instructor in California, where he and his bride will live.

Today's Events.

The opening Tuesday concert of the Chicago Symphony orchestra's 54th season will be given at 2:15 p. m. today in Orchestra hall, with Désiré Defauw conducting. Among those who have boxes for the Tuesday series are Mrs. Cecil Barnes, Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, Mrs. Herbert E. Bradley, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Roger Faherty, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. William B. Hale, Mrs. George A. Kelly, Mrs. Telfer MacArthur, Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. Frank Priebe, Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, and Mrs. Frederic W. Upham.

Miss Elizabeth Howland will be hostess at the English Speaking union's tea in the headquarters at 224 S. Michigan av. following today's concert.

Trustees and governing members of the Art institute will have their first glimpse of the new Buckingham galleries at the institute in a preview from 8 to 10 o'clock tonight. The party, one of the few evening gatherings since Pearl Harbor at the institute, has been arranged by the Orientals, whose chairman, Russell Tyson, and Charles Fabens Kelley, curator of the Oriental department, will serve as principal hosts.

Members of the Chicago Drama league will hear their first vice president, Kenneth Horan, when they meet at 11 a. m. today at the Arts club. Mrs. Horan, whose latest book, "A Bashful Woman," was published in September, will speak on "More Lives Than One." Mrs. Alvin W. Jenkisson, president of the league, will entertain at luncheon for the speaker.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p. m. today at the Woman's Athletic club before a bridge party planned for junior and junior associate members and their guests. Among those with luncheon reservations are Mrs. John L. Haverkampf, Mrs. William J. Hoppe, Mrs. Richard D. Nugent, Mrs. George B. Everitt Jr., and Mrs. James S. Pennington.

Mannequins who will model at a "Fashion Merry-Go-Round" party which the South Shore Service league of the Chicago Maternity center will give Nov. 3 at the Racquet club have been invited to tea today in the home of Mrs. J. J. Cavenaugh, chairman of the show.

Hopes to Meet His Father Soon

On the Aisle By Claudia Cassidy

Good Tenor, Too.

Altho "La Traviata" is anything but a tenor opera, being enamored of the soprano and the baritone, it served to prove that Mario Berini, who made his delayed Chicago Opera début last night, was worth waiting for. Here is a young tenor with a beautiful lyric voice of range, luster, and the resonance to fill the Civic Opera house, used with discretion and what promises to be tingling brilliance once it captures a role that displays it to full advantage. Given one bravura aria, I think he might have brought down the house—a gesture of success repeatedly performed by Bidu Sayao's exquisite Violetta and the sympathetic Germont of Robert Weeded, with the aid and comfort of Fausto Cleva's baton.

Mario Berini.

Mr. Berini, they tell me, has been singing professionally just four years. Russian born of musical background, he was brought to America when a year old and educated in Los Angeles. He made his début with the San Carlo Opera in 1940 and has sung with the New York City Center opera, with numerous major orchestras, and in South American and Central American opera, with a festive "Carmen" at Mexico City's bull ring. Italo Montemezzi chose him for the tenor role in the NBC Symphony's presentation of "L'Incantesimo." And no wonder. If his voice is as good as I suspect it to be, it's open sesame.

Titles and Actors.

Despite its title, "Sleep No More" has nothing to do with Macbeth's insomnia. With its Civic theater opening date changed to Saturday night, Nov. 4, the farce presents Taylor Holmes as a kind of 1944 Wallingford trying to get rich quick with a pill that dispenses with the need for sleep. The title of "Ten Little Indians," due at the Harris Nov. 6, is now in its third variation. Agatha Christie's thriller was serialized as "And Then There Were None," and successfully staged in London as "Ten Little Niggers." Either way, it refers to a vanishing number of actors who turn from characters to corpses at the behest of the whodunit plot. Two cast changes are being made this week in the troupe heading our way. Toni Gilman, a Chicago girl, replaces Vivienne Osborne, and Alexander d'Arcy steps in for Victor Varconi.

Hearsay.

It happened at the preview of "Frenchman's Creek." One woman was telling another of her first visit to an operetta, which happened to be the Blackstone opening of "The Student Prince." Yes, she said, she liked it fine, but what do you think happened? They would sing a song, and if you clapped they sang the darn thing all over again. The women agreed this was passing strange, and quite unlike the movies, but then it depends on where you go to the movies. Sam Weller, whose daughter is dancing Carola Goya, tells me it's quite customary in Spain to back up a film and oblige an audience with a second view of a scene it has liked well enough to applaud.

Money Back and a Ballot.

Ravinia guarantors are beaming over the breakfast tables these mornings as they open envelopes refunding 60 per cent of their contributions to last summer's concerts. Almost $30,000 is going back to the donors, which ought to make next season's collections a simple job for Chairman Howell Murray. . . . And about that request performance at the opera Nov. 18. Starting Friday there will be ballots in the playbills. Vote for the season's opera of your choice, and the winner gets the honor of ending the season.

Crowds Add to Success of Opera Season

BY HARRIETT PRIBBLE.

Gleeful over the success of the first week of the new opera season, with three sold-out performances out of five and two others which barely missed that category, the Civic Opera house had a smile of welcome waiting for the substantial crowd which turned out for last night's performance of "Traviata."

"Just like a railroad station!" said an opera company official as he described the queues of music lovers which have been lined up all day before the ticket windows since Oct. 9. What it all adds up to is the largest advance operatic ticket sale in 10 years.

Last night's audience lacked the sequined sparkle of former Mondays at the opera, when formal dress almost was "de riqueur." If most of the spectators preferred to come in street attire, it perhaps was a fortunate omen for opera—a sure sign that they had come to hear the music rather than to join the orchid-and-ermine parade. The Thomas W. Hindes, who were among the earliest supporters of Chicago opera, and their daughter, Miss Sarah Hinde, slipped into their main floor seats just before the opening curtain. Mrs. Frank Fuller was another staunch supporter present, and Mrs. Wentworth Field occupied the main floor aisle seat she has had for years.

It was a "welcome home" for the John W. Clarkes, who just have returned to Chicago after living near Washington, D. C., for several years. Young Mrs. Clarke, who wore a dinner dress slashed with turquoise, tucked a gardenia into her hair.

The Fred A. Poors, who returned Sunday from a vacation in Hot Springs, Va., entertained Mr. and Mrs. Ira Humphrey and Mr. and Mrs. John Wright in their box. William D. Saltiel had as his partner for the evening Mrs. Joel Gerhardt, wearing a bright gown of plaid taffeta with a black velvet bodice and matching plaid bows in her hair. Mrs. Saltiel is in New York, and Mr. Gerhardt was busy conducting the orchestra for "Oklahoma!" several blocks away.

The bodice of Mrs. Edward A. Leight's pale blue evening gown, topped by a white fox cape, was made of cream satin embroidered in pastel metal threads which she had brought from India 20 years ago. Some of the many others present: Mr. and Mrs. Merrill C. Meigs, the James C. Thompsons, the Joseph J. Brummels and their daughter, Mary Jane; Miss Emily Goehst, in cocoa crepe with a Kelly green coat flung about her shoulders; Daniel McGuire, Mrs. Peter Pook, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mills, the James G. Shakmans, the William H. Spurgeons, Mrs. Otho Ball, the William E. Raglands, the Herbert C. Lorbers, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Schultz, and Mr. and Mrs. James Hannah.

Dear Diary BY BECKY

Child Learns by Touching Objects

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The other afternoon a friend and I were in the art section of one of our large department stores, where scattered about were a number of signs reading "Please do not handle" and "Please do not touch." There were many shoppers admiring lovely vases and beautiful ceramics, and almost instinctively they put forth a hand to touch the article, only to be brought up short by the admonishing sign. They didn't seem to feel they were really seeing the thing unless they could touch it.

Yet, I thought, how many of us are apt to be intolerant of a child's constant desire to handle the things they see about them. "Don't touch" or "Hands off" come almost spontaneously to our lips.

But a baby or small child has to touch. His mind is thirsty for knowledge and his fingers help satisfy that thirst. Much of his new knowledge flows from his fingertips to his brain. He must know all there is to know about the unfamiliar thing—the common jar in the kitchen, the rare vase, the lovely clock, the fascinating bottles and jars on mother's dressing table—and how can he know about it unless he touches it? He must handle it to know its texture, shape, and weight, but all this within reason.

You see, he must be able to take things in his hands wherever possible.

"But he can't be allowed to handle valuable or fragile things," somebody objects, "that is simply nonsense."

No, it's not. In the first place he doesn't know the difference between the valuable and the common article. How could he? It may be that the valuable thing has an appeal for him because of its color or its form.

Let him sometimes become acquainted with it even if it is valuable, but hold it firmly in your hands while his inquiring fingers feel of it. Turn it around and around, and upside down. Tell him about it as you do so. Then put it back where it belongs. You'll find that many of your prized possessions are made safe in this way.

You'll find that the more you let your child hold or touch things the less frantic he will be to get at them, and the more obedient he will be when you must say: "Don't touch."

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Election Girl.

Her father was a Congregational minister, a veteran of two wars, and, the last four years of his life, chaplain of Hines hospital. The Egerton family of seven children moved frequently, as most ministers' families do, lived in a number of different towns, and in each one Lillian's father took an interest in public affairs.

So Lillian Egerton, in charge of the busy office of the joint civic committee on elections, came quite naturally by her interest in civic matters. After graduation from the University of Chicago she embarked on a white collar girl career which included marketing research, legal work, and now this position with the joint civic committee to which she was lent from her regular job by the Citizens association of Chicago. With an election in the offing her buzzing telephone testifies to the interest of Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen in poll-watching and a nonpartisan effort to conduct the election properly.

She doesn't consider this work specialized. It's every one's job, she believes, "and especially the women, because it's service and we're cut out for service." She thinks few business girls have any idea of the fun they would gain from serving as voluntary trainees. "My telephone number is Franklin 8440," she says with a meaningful glance that indicates she hopes some of our white collar girls will come to the aid of the election.

Business Training.

Trying to chart the course which has brought her to such a satisfying job, she stresses the importance of business training. From high school, before entering college, she took a commerical course, and won a state championship in the beginning typing class. "Typing," she is convinced, "has saved me a lot of time and money." And tho she never has held a regular stenographic position, she has kept up her shorthand . . . admits she still can read her freshman shorthand notes from college.

As is often true of successful people who discharge manifold duties, she thinks it important to find work you like. Outside of business hours, she finds relaxation equally important. On a 30 to 15 foot lot she raised bushels of tomatoes, carrots, lima beans, radishes, lettuce, and string beans this summer.

Her Real Hobby.

Chicago, however, is her real hobby . . . she says she "adopted the city" . . . is collecting a library on the history of Chicago . . . considers it the most wonderful city on earth.

"Like my father," she added thoughtfully, "almost the last thing he said was that this is the greatest country in the world and that there is nothing he wouldn't do for it."

With phones jangling, mimeographing to be done, people waiting, it's easy to see she feels the same way—"nothing she wouldn't do for it"—and one of the things she resolutely intends to do is to help conduct an election the way it should be conducted in "the greatest country in the world."

Parisians Make Lavish Use of Fur and Detail

BY ANNE BRUYERE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 23.—Raphael opened his new fur show with a private reception to which were invited all the G. I. Joes and WACs encountered on the street. The Countess de Brabant, who recently took over direction of Raphael's, also invited her friends, the countess of Serrant, Prince de Broglie, the Count and Countess de Damplerre, and the duchess of Serrant.

While sipping champagne cocktails the guests saw floor length ermine, silver fox, and Russian sable evening coats, all fitted at the waist and full skirted. A sable model has big pockets hidden in the front fullness. Shoulders are excessively padded.

The evening gowns accompanying the coats are elaborate. One of blue taffeta is lined with red and trimmed in silver. The bodice is made of wide stitched plaiting which crosses in the back. Shoulders are winged and high.

For afternoon wear there are jackets and capes made of blue, silver, and red foxes. Padded shoulders are further accentuated by velvet braiding on the outside. There also are full length astrakhan coats trimmed with broadcloth. The material of one coat forms a plastron in front trimmed with cylinder shaped ebony buttons. The skirt, sleeves, and collar are of fur.

Three five inch bands of Persian lamb are stitched on black wool for the skirt of another afternoon coat.

Large red leather buttons and a red leather belt appear on a beaver sports coat. Two woolen scarves designed with figures of soldiers are worn knee length with an Australian lamb model.

Other sports coats include short models in goatskin, full length coats in opossum, and short, belted jackets in leopard. An amusing novelty is the placing of a tiny goat on the lapel of the goatskin model, a miniature opossum on the opossum coat, and a two inch high, wide jawed leopard on the leopard jacket.

In Mendel's fur show there was much hand made detail work on collars, waists, and sleeves. Bright red or green broadcloth bodices appear on black caracul coats. Velvet braiding and embroidery attach these bodices to the fur. The same design emphasizes the shoulder and forms a stitched-on bow at the elbows. The huge pockets also are trimmed with embroidery, at the edge of which are tassels.

Besides the usual assortment of blue, red, white, and silver foxes there also are short, dressy jackets made of sable and chinchilla. For town wear Mme. Mendel shows square shouldered Australian lamb box coats, wide collared lynx models in full length, and jackets of white goatskin.

In addition there are luxurious fur lined dressing gowns. One is made of red velvet and lined with white rabbit, with a collar and border fashioned in ermine. There are mules to match of red velvet, mounted on cork and edged with ermine.

Thru the Looking Glass

The next time you see a woman whose face looks vivid and alive but not actually obviously or theatrically made up, take a good squint and see whether she has darkened her lashes with mascara. We'll bet you'll discover that she has, only it's so skillfully done that it's hard to detect. That, of course, is the secret of using any makeup and particularly eye makeup—to apply it so artfully that it heightens natural coloring and beauty without drawing attention to the fact that nature has been improved upon.

There are plenty of women whose lashes are too light to make a nice frame for their eyes and whose general coloring is too neutral to be effective, who could use mascara to advantage. We don't mean to imply that they go all out for darkening the lashes to such a degree that they look weighed down or artificial, but that they touch them up a bit to look naturally dark and attractive.

The mascara you select for the job has a lot to do with the ultimate results and one of the best choices is a cosmetic that has been a perennial favorite with women who know their way around the beauty counters. It comes in two forms, cake and cream, and our own selection is the cake variety because it is easier to work with and not so messy if you're not deft with your hands. There's nothing drying about it, the lashes remain flexible and don't acquire that stiff, wiry look, nor is there any need to worry about its smudging. It stays put and won't come off until it is washed off.

To achieve the most natural effect, rub a slightly moistened brush over the mascara cake and stroke upward and outward over the lashes, distributing the color from base to tip. Use a fairly generous coat and before it has dried thoroly, go over the lashes with a clean brush to remove the excess and separate any hairs that might have become tangled together. Deftly done, the lashes will look a becoming shade or two darker with no evidence of camouflage.

INSTALMENT XXXII.

A DROWNING.

Gladys got up. "I'm going to be late for the pictures," she said. "I'm going up to change."

Miss Silver got up, too.

"Just a moment, Gladys. Where did you go for your walk?"

"O, just 'round the green."

"How long had you been in the churchyard before you saw Mr. Bush?"

"O, I dunno—about five minutes."

"Did you hear a shot at any time during your walk?"

"I dunno. Mr. Giles, he shoots at the foxes—there's often shots—I didn't take any notice." She went up a step or two, and turned. "I told you it wasn't nothing—any of it. And I'm going to be late."

Garth Albany came knocking on Miss Silver's door before she was dressed next morning. She opened it in a warm red flannel dressing gown. He slipped inside, shut the door behind him, and said:

"Ezra Pincott has been found dead. The milk boy brought the news—Mabel has just told me. I thought you ought to know at once."

"Yes—yes, indeed." She stood quite still for a moment. "I felt very apprehensive. I had asked that he should have police protection."

"Well," said Garth, "at any rate they can't say Madoc did it—can they?"

Miss Silver said, "No——," in rather an absent voice. And then, "Pray give me any particulars you may have learned."

"I didn't see the boy myself. He's about 16—Tommy Pincott, a cousin of Ezra's and quite a bright lad. Mabel says he told her Ezra was found face down in the stream just beyond the last house in the village. It's no depth there—not more than about a foot—but if he was drunk and tumbled in, there would be enough water to drown him."

"You think it may have been an accident?"

Garth said bluntly, "No, I don't. Drunk or sober, Ezra knew his way home, and got there. I think somebody did him in and hoped it would be taken for an accident—and if he had been trying his hand at a spot of blackmail, there's your motive."

She said, "Yes." And then, "I must dress. Inspector Lamb must know of this at once. He will be coming down."

But it was half past three in the afternoon before the chief inspector and Sgt. Abbott rang the rectory bell. Miss Silver received them in the study. She inquired by name for each of the three daughters who were the pride of old Lamb's heart.

"The one in the A. T.'s has her commission? How very nice. Lily—such a sweet name, and so appropriate for a fair girl. And Violet—in the WRENS was she not? . . . Engaged to a naval officer? How very, very interesting! And your youngest daughter, Myrtle—I think she was a WAAF? And I hope Mrs. Lamb is well, and does not miss her girls too much."

Frank Abbott controled a humorous twist of his lips. There had been a time when he suspected Miss Silver of diplomacy, but it was all as serious on her side as on old Lamb's. She really wanted to know about his daughters, and whether his wife was enjoying good health.

Lamb led the way.

"Well, well, we must get down to business. I hear you want to see Mr. Madoc."

"I should like to do so, if you will be so very kind as to make it possible."

"Eleven o'clock tomorrow. And whilst you are there, see if you can get him to talk. Not about the crime, of course—that wouldn't be proper now he's been charged—but the war office is pestering us about this invention of Mr. Harsch's in which they were interested. Harsch made a will leaving everything to Madoc, and that includes all the notes about his experiments, and this invention, whatever it is. Madoc won't play because he's a pacifist. They don't know whether they can get the will set aside or not, but meanwhile they are in a regular stew about Harsch's papers, because if he was murdered for them, they won't just be left kicking about. Mind you, I'm not saying that's why he was murdered. Our case was against Madoc, and the motive there would have been jealousy, but this Sir George Randal is very hot on its being the work of an enemy agent. Madoc just says the papers were left to him and they're his affair."

"So I understand from Maj. Albany."

"Well, you try and get Madoc to say what he's done with them. Between ourselves, we've put on two men from the special branch just to see there isn't a convenient burglary up at Prior's End."

"You said just now that your case was against Mr. Madoc. Did you use the past tense advisedly?"

Lamb spoke slowly.

"As a matter of fact, this man Ezra Pincott's death—well, it's a complication, there's no doubt about that. I'll give you what we've got. If you can see where it fits in, I can't."

"You mean, Inspector, that it does not fit in with your case against Mr. Madoc?"

"I'm not saying that one way or the other. I'm giving you the facts."

"You were going to tell me about Ezra Pincott. Pray continue."

"Well, there it is. The police surgeon's done the post-mortem, and the man was drowned."

"I think there was something more than that."

Lamb gave a grunt.

"He was found face down in a foot of water. He was drowned. What more do you want?"

"A shocking fatality. But there is something more, or you would not be concerned about it."

"Well, if you must know, he'd been hit. Bruise behind the ear. He didn't get that falling on his face into water."

Miss Silver said, "Dear me!"

"He went in alive, but he'd been hit first. He'd had a good deal of liquor—some of it was brandy. Now he didn't get brandy at the Bull. Beer was what he drank there, and by all accounts he could put away more than most before he was what you could call drunk. And he didn't have that brandy at the Bull."

"Where did he have it?"

"I'd be glad if some one would tell me that. Well, there you are. You sent me a message yesterday to say he was boasting that he knew something that would put money in his pocket, and you thought some one ought to keep an eye on him. I'm sorry I didn't take you at your word and put a man on him then and there. Seems I was wrong, but it's no good crying over spilt milk. The man's dead, and I'm going to find out how he died, whether it knocks the case against Madoc endways or not."

"That is just what I would expect from you, Inspector."

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of clubs.

It is good general doctrine that the place for the ace is on the king. It has been my observation that there are entirely too many pointless refusals to take tricks, while the taking is good. Whenever a player refuses to take a trick he should have a definite reason for such conduct. If you are not aware of some special reason for the delay, then by all means take tricks and keep taking them in rapid succession. Where you have a good reason for not winning the trick it may become proper to hold up tho that involves placing your ace on a deuce. An interesting exception to the general rule came up in today's hand and was recognized by the West player.

The opening bid of three no trump is eminently correct. A two no trump opening would not do justice to the hand inasmuch as partner would probably not raise to three with a couple of queens and such a holding would make game a virtual certainty. The direct bid is much superior to any such approach as one club. Even should partner keep the bidding open it is always difficult to tell how far to go on the next round. Whereas if you give a complete description of the type and strength of the hand all in one bid partner will be able to add his values to yours and know just how far to proceed.

The opening lead was the queen of clubs taken by the king. Seven tricks were in sight and the only hope lay in development of the diamonds. If the ace were singly guarded there would be no trouble, otherwise resort must be had to the frailty of the opposition. The king of diamonds was played to trick two and there is a strong temptation on the part of West to win the trick, placing the ace on the king, particularly since this assures another diamond trick. But West was not thinking in terms of one trick. He was trying to beat the hand. He realized that if he took this trick, declarer would duck the next one and thus be able to score in all three diamond tricks. So he sacrificed a trick by ducking. The suit was continued and the queen held the second trick, but that permanently retired the dummy and declarer was held to eight tricks.

You are West defending against South's contract of four spades, South having opened with one spade. You lead the king of hearts. Partner follows with the ten and declarer plays the two. What is your next lead?

Mrs. Emanuel Mandel Will Celebrate 96th Birthday Tomorrow

Mrs. Emanuel Mandel, widow of one of the founders of Mandel Brothers department store, will celebrate her 96th birthday tomorrow at her home in Highland Park. Her son, Edwin, president of the department store, and her great-granddaughter, Miss Babette Bird of New York, will be the only relatives present for the birthday dinner.

Mrs. Mandel is in good health. She was born in Germany and came to America when 4 years old. She was married the year of the great fire and recalled that it was that catastrophe which drew her into social service work, an activity she maintained and supported for many years.

Mrs. Mandel will spend her birthday quietly, reading messages from friends and relatives thruout the world.

Art Institute to Exhibit Buehr and Hoff Paintings

The Art Institute will place on view Thursday in its Room of Chicago Art a joint exhibit of paintings by George Buehr and Margo Hoff. In private life Miss Hoff is Mrs. Buehr. Mr. Buehr is known almost as well here as an art lecturer as artist; he has been for many years on the institute staff as associate lecturer. The Buehr-Hoff exhibit will be entirely of work done in Mexico. Miss Hoff also will show a group of ceramic figures.

The frequencies (in megacycles) employed after 4:15 p. m. are: 11.93, 9.58, 9.52, 6.11, 7.26, 9.51; 4:30 p. m.—Front Line Family; 4:45 p. m.—News; 5 p. m.—London Calling; 5:45 p. m.—News; 6:30 p. m.—Radio Newsreel; 7 p. m.—Stanley Maxted; 7:15 p. m.—Listening Post; 8:15 p. m.—Tomorrow's London Papers.

PARTNERS GET 90 DAYS IN JAIL, 30 AT A TIME

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday sentenced three partners in a Chicago electric manufacturing company to 30 day jail sentences, but permitted them to serve alternate terms so two of them always will be present in the plant, which has war contracts.

They are Nate and Philip France, brothers, and Walter J. Gorman, who operate the Empire Electric Manufacturing company, 113 N. Racine av. They were sentenced for violating the second war powers act by manufacturing several thousand lighting fixtures without obtaining proper clearance thru the war production board. Asst. United States Atty. Richard G. Finn said some assembling was done even after a suspension order was issued by the WPB.

Nate elected to serve first and will report Oct. 30. Gorman and Philip will follow in turn. Judge Barnes imposed fines of $1,420 and a 2 year probation period on each partner. The fines were triple the profit estimated to have been made by the firm on the illegal production.

BLACK MARKET IN TOYS BRINGS ON OPA DRIVE

Twin drives against a reported black market in toys, said to be at its worst in Chicago and New York, have been opened by the office of price administration.

Rae. E. Walters, regional administrator here, said a preliminary investigation showed hundreds of used goods dealers were attempting to charge as much as four times the ceiling price on wheeled toys, but that few retailers of new toys have sought to violate regulations. However, Marion W. Isbell, area director, said his office is checking up on both types of toy dealers.

He asked purchasers who believe themselves overcharged to report to their local ration boards, which have authority to accept damage settlements from violators. Virtually all used merchandise, including all types of toys, is under price ceilings clearly outlined by the OPA, he said.

FINAL TOUCHES PUT ON VOICE OF STATE STREET

Workmen yesterday were busy putting the final touches on a mile long amplification system over which "The Voice of State Street" will be broadcast during the holiday season from 80 loud speakers suspended from light poles along the thorofare from Wacker dr. to Congress.

The installation, which replaces 42 speakers heretofore attached to the lower floors of buildings along the street, is being readied, according to announcement by the State Street council, for several forthcoming celebrations.

The latter include the Navy day parade, Oct. 27; Armistice day, Nov. 11; opening of the 6th war loan drive, Nov. 20, and the broadcast of carols and other music before Christmas. A special V-day celebration is planned if Germany is defeated this year. Control booth for the system is in the Republic building, at 209 S. State-st., commanding a clear view of the line of march.

A few stores have wild rice to sell for the duck dinner demand, but the stuff is so expensive that most of us will be content with brown rice instead. Because wild rice, the seed of an 8 foot high aquatic grass, is hard to cultivate and to harvest, we never have quantities of it in our markets, but in these days of labor shortages, the normal scarcity has become an acute one.

The Lake County Community Canning center has operated a project similar to the one I reported about at Valparaiso, Ind.—packing food for overseas mailing. Frances M. McShane writes to tell me that north shore women have packed fruit cakes, confections, honey, olive oil, chili con carne, baked beans, rabbit, sweet potatoes, stew, fried chicken, spaghetti, ravioli, and other foods which sons and other relatives had asked for. The foods were sealed in tin cans, and the ones which required processing were canned in the pressure cooker. One young woman packed 100 cans of cookies for her husband, brothers, and cousins.

Except for this kind of careful canning and processing, the only foods which almost invariably arrive at overseas destinations in good shape are fruit cakes, according to reports from last year's recipients of packages from home.

Onions continue to be plentiful and reasonably priced. Green peppers are cheap enough to stuff, beets and squash are budget vegetables, and celery is a bargain. Among fruits, apples are the most plentiful and reasonable item. Creamed onions, peppers stuffed with rice or corn, harvard beets, baked squash, celery soup, and baked apples should be among our favorite dishes right now.

A well-known chef, George Mardikian, has written a cook book, "Dinner at Omar Khayyam's," published by the Viking Press. His San Francisco restaurant is famous among famous people for such dishes as chicken tchakhokhbelli [don't ask me to pronounce it!] and shish kebab. Most of the author's specialties are Armenian. The book is interesting for the stories about various dishes as well as for the recipes themselves. William Saroyan wrote the foreword. Book stores are selling this small but intriguing volume for $2.75.

Pot Roast with Cranberries.
[Serves six to eight.]

1 pint cranberries
1 pint water
½ cup sugar
3 pounds beef pot roast, non-rationed
2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons fat drippings

Cook cranberries in water until all skins have popped open. Force thru sieve. Meanwhile roll meat in seasoned flour and brown in fat drippings. Add sugar to cranberries and pour over meat. Cover tightly and simmer gently until meat is tender, about 2 hours. Add more water if needed.

Joseffer Shows He Is Basically an Able Pianist

Alexander Joseffer, one of the town's best ensemble pianists, gave his own solo recital, seemingly his first, in Kimball hall before a large audience last night.

There is a legend in the pianistic world that good accompanists do not make good soloists, and vice versa. There is no basic reason why this should be so, but like all legends it carries a grain of truth. It may be that Mr. Joseffer's habit of subjugating himself to the lead of a soloist was what kept him from any strong assertion of individuality in his solo playing. And it is quite likely that the unaccustomed inaccuracies and memory slips that frequently marred his performance could be attributed to nervousness on finding himself alone and unaided on one of the loneliest spots in the world—the concert stage.

But with all these hazards, the fundamentally sound and worthwhile qualities of his playing were still apparent—its genuine musical impulse, its fluency, its feeling for the tonal capacity of the instrument. There was limpid charm in his account of three Scarlatti sonatas, and along with some scrambled passages there was desirable sturdiness in Bach's D minor Toccata and Fugue, the two best thing to do with the awkward Busoni transcription is to let it alone. Beethoven's "Appassionata" sonata had its interesting aspects, but rather pitilessly demonstrated the lack of integration which is the major trouble with Mr. Joseffer's talent. A couple of the five Chopin etudes—the F major and the C sharp minor—sparkled, and were the pianist at his best. The others limped, but there were compensating lyrical moments in the D flat nocturne.—A. G.

TWO ASPIRANTS FOR STATE POST CLASH 2D TIME

Barrett and Johnson in Atty. Gen. Race.

BY GUY GENTRY.

An aggressive foe of the New Deal almost from its inception, Atty. Gen. Barrett will be opposed for re-election this year by Sveinbjorn Johnson, former counsel and law professor of the University of Illinois who combined state and New Deal jobs to the annual tune of $15,500.

The ballot clash of these two men renews a battle of two years ago when Barrett challenged Johnson's right to receive $9,000 annually from the University of Illinois while he was receiving $6,500 annually from the federal treasury for acting as Illinois director of the office of government reports.

Johnson's dual capacity as state and federal pay roller ended with the scrapping of the OGR July 31, 1942 when it was succeeded by the office of war information. Johnson previously had served as state director of the national emergency council, organized to bring order out of the chaos of New Deal agencies which had reached a confusing total as early as 1935.

Ends University Connection.

Johnson retained his university position while campaigning unopposed for the Democratic nomination for attorney general, but requested he be placed on the retired list Sept. 1, ending a connection with the university that began in 1926.

The Democratic nominee was born in Iceland and was brought to America in 1887 when 4 years old. He gained his law degree at the University of North Dakota and practiced law in that state before serving as attorney general for one year and as supreme court justice for four years.

Spare in build and bald, Johnson's Scandinavian ancestry is indicated by his sandy complexion. He is the author of "Pioneers of Freedom," a story of the Icelanders and their free state. He is married, has one son now serving in the army, and resides in Champaign.

Foe of Vote Frauds.

Barrett made his first campaign for attorney general in 1940 as a militant foe of vote frauds. After his election he added to that program vigorous prosecution of handbook operators. He sponsored a number of measures to make vote thefts and errors more difficult. The plan he formed in 1939 to detect and stop vote thefts was adopted by the national committee and used in Kansas City, Memphis, Jersey City, and New York.

Barrett is a native Chicagoan and member of a family long active in public life. His father, George F. Barrett Sr., was chief justice of Cook county Circuit court. His uncle, Charles V. Barrett, was a member of the board of review. Barrett has been 21st ward committeeman for many years.

He is vigorous in speech and action. His sandy hair is beginning to thin on top. The Elgin-Chicago bicycle race which he sponsored for years, is regarded as a "classic" of that sport. He also sponsored one of the important ice skating meets of the country. Barrett is married and lives at 2000 Cermak rd.

NEGRO PETITION TO DEMAND F.D.R. CUT RACIAL BARS

Petitions demanding a presidential order to halt racial discrimination in the army and navy will be given to Mr. Roosevelt before Nov. 7, Edgar G. Brown, director of the National Negro council, said last night.

Brown said more than 30,000 Chicagoans have signed the petition, and that 20,000 signatures from California, 25,000 from Missouri, and 40,000 from Pennsylvania, all key political states, have been secured to give to the President.

The petition, he said, is an indictment of "discrimination of Negroes in the army and navy, approved by President Roosevelt, and it is up to him to declare himself once and for all against unfair treatment of Negro fighting men or face the prospect of a heavy protest vote against him Nov. 7."

He said the willingness of thousands of Negroes to sign the petition is the first genuine evidence of anti-New Deal sentiment among Negroes.

GIRLS MUST PAY FOR RIDES, CAB PILOTS WARNED

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 23 [Special].—Lo, the poor cab driver! Here in the capital of Illinois it's open season on the men who pilot the 70-odd conveyances, more or less decrepit, which pass for taxicabs.

Last week the federal office of defense transportation threatened to bar the cabs from the streets because the drivers were "driving like cowboys." And today the mayor stepped into the situation.

Cab drivers, said Mayor John W. Kapp, must stop giving their girl friends free rides. He ordered the police to see to it that girls riding in taxicabs pay their fares.

The mayor said he based his order on the theory that there is no cab room for deadheads these days.

The city's four women cab drivers as yet have not been accused of giving free rides to boy friends.

One inmate of the Illinois State Training School for Boys, near St. Charles, was still at large yesterday following the escape Sunday night of seven boys from the Cleveland cottage. Six were captured yesterday.

Others involved in the escape were Richard Furman, 17, 4700 N. Sawyer av.; Daniel Ryan, 15, of 1015 Cullerton st.; Bruce Orton, 17, of 1847 N. Whipple st.; Frank Vito, 17, of 911 W. 18th st.; William Burwell, 16, of Kewanee, Ill., and Cassius Easton of Deerfield.

STATLER FIGHT MAY GO INTO ANOTHER ROUND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—Demands for further congressional investigation of the "battle of the Statler" were made in Washington today as the result of publication in the International Teamsters union magazine of union affidavits concerning the alleged attack on two naval officers after they refused to say they would vote for President Roosevelt. The magazine is published in Indianapolis, Ind.

Rep. Church [R., Ill.] said the house should investigate the incident, which took place in the capital's Statler hotel Sept. 23 after President Roosevelt delivered his opening campaign address before the AFL teamsters union. In the senate, the New Deal dominated campaign expenditures committee last week voted 4 to 1 against investigating the affair.

Officers Attorney Protests.

Another demand for congressional action came from Thomas C. Bradley, attorney for Lt. Randolph Dickins Jr., and Lt. Comdr. James H. Suddeth, the two naval officers who said they were attacked by teamsters when they declined to state their Presidential preference.

"I am astounded to learn that these affidavits have been published," Bradley said. "From what little I have heard about them, they are diametrically opposed to the facts I have learned from the two officers involved.

"These men have neither the time nor the means to indulge in the luxury of litigation. It looks like something should be done to bring out the facts, with witnesses testifying under oath and subject to penalty for giving false evidence. A congressional investigation would appear to be the logical step."

Accuses Republicans.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 23 (AP).—The International Teamster, monthly publication of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers [AFL], today said the Republican party and press was "trying to make a mountain out of a mole hill" of the "Battle of the Statler" in Washington, D. C.

The article included a number of statements from unionists who accused two navy officers of accosting union members and starting fights with them in the Statler hotel.

The publication reiterated a denial that union president Daniel J. Tobin had taken part in any altercation. It said Tobin had left the banquet hall in company with William Green, AFL president, and other friends, and that he "knew nothing of any brawl and did not participate in any brawl."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—Sen. Joseph H. Ball, Minnesota internationalist, who is listed on the senate records as a Republican, today announced he would support and vote for President Roosevelt. At the same time he admitted he had conferred with the President, at the invitation of Harry Hopkins, prior to announcing his decision.

Sen. Joseph H. Ball.

"We spent approximately an hour," he said, "discussing Dumbarton Oaks and other phases of foreign policy."

Ball explained his desertion of the Republican camp by saying Mr. Roosevelt had met "squarely and unequivocally" two vital foreign policy issues: The immediate formation of a world security organization, and the granting of power to such an organization to use military force against aggressors.

In a Baltimore speech tonight Ball said that if congress reserves the right to consider each case before American forces are sent against aggressors, other nations will demand the same right, thus making the organization a powerless "debating society."

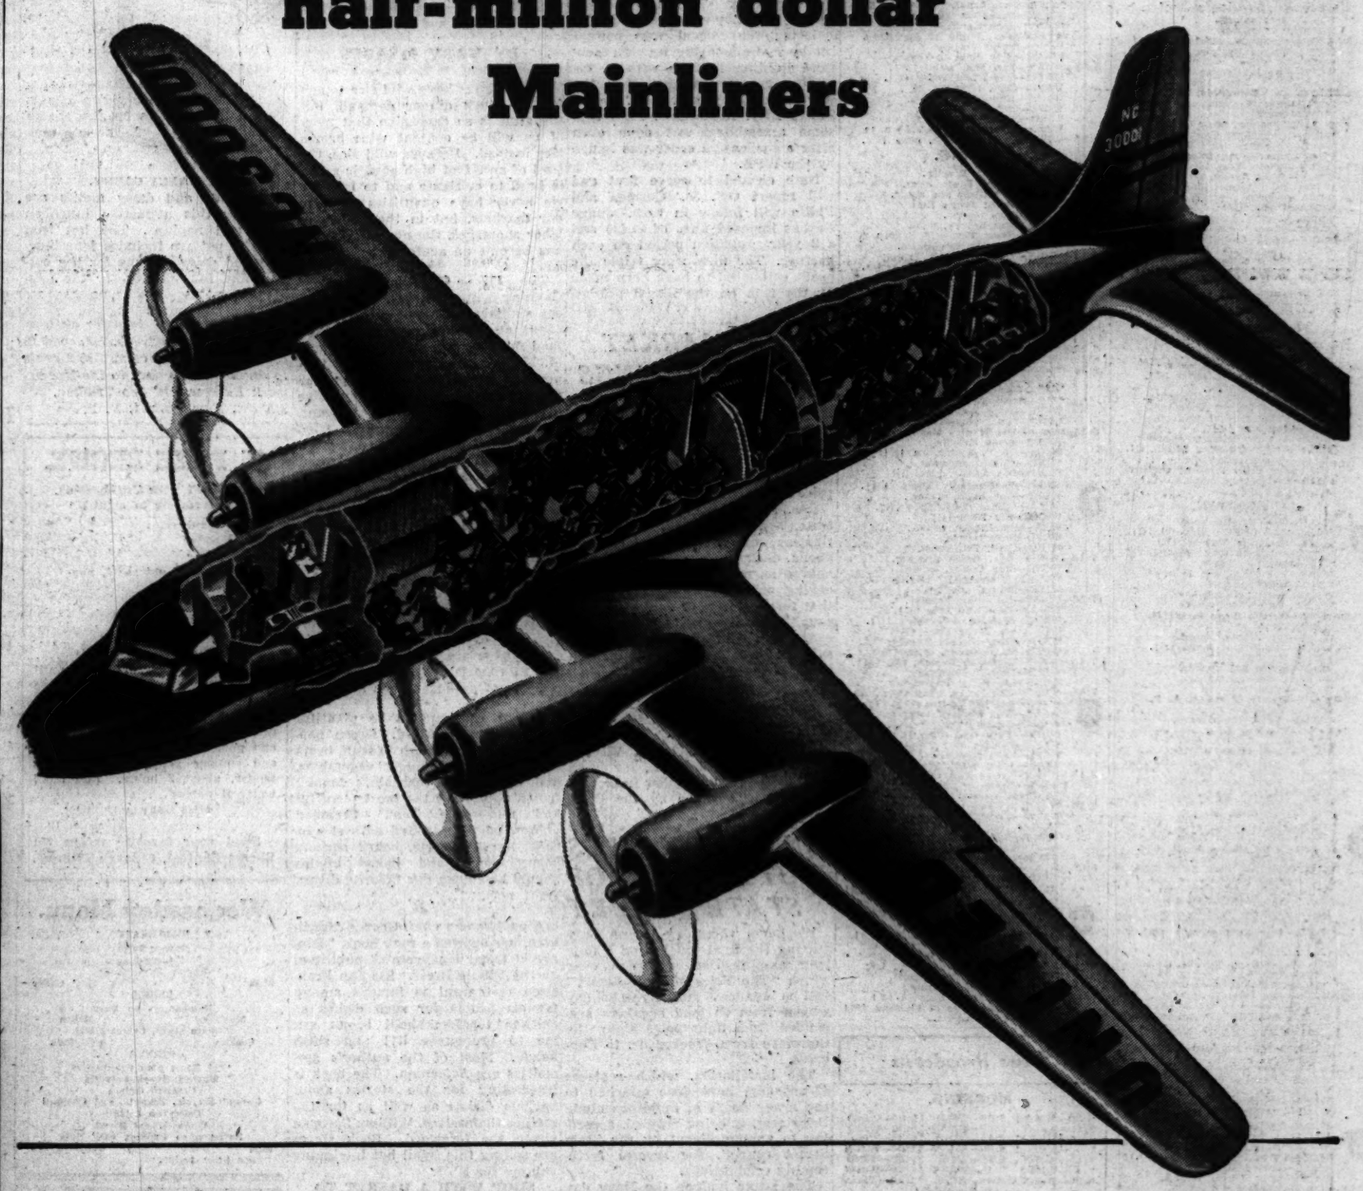
You'll cruise in half-million dollar Mainliners



PICTURE giant four-engine United Mainliners winging majestically over the famous Main Line Airway at speeds up to five miles per minute!

A postwar dream? Not at all! History was made recently when United Air Lines signed contracts with the Douglas Aircraft Company for fifty of these half-million dollar Mainliners—a $25,000,000 fleet of the finest planes in the world.

California to New York in only 8½ hours! Just imagine having breakfast in New York, completing a full day's business in Chicago and returning to Manhattan the evening of the same day. Or flying from Denver to Chicago in a scant 3 hours . . . eighty minutes between San Francisco and Los Angeles . . . the entire length of the Pacific Coast between lunch and dinner!

The DC-4 United Mainliner will carry 44 passengers in new spacious comfort at 240 miles per hour—a "four-mile-a-minute" transport! While the DC-6, the even larger 56-passenger sky giant, will cruise at 300 miles per hour—a "five-mile-a-minute" transport!

Both the DC-4 and DC-6 Mainliners will be equipped for daytime as well as overnight sleeper plane service.

The first of United's great four-engine Mainliners are scheduled to go into service along the Main Line Airway next year. Supplementing these giant transports will be United's popular 21-passenger, twin-engine Mainliners.

There will be many new inter-city and coast-to-coast schedules providing finer, faster service for air travelers, mail, air express and air freight.

Supplying the public with the highest type of service has always been the policy of United Air Lines. This $25,000,000 contract for "half-million dollar" planes demonstrates that United will offer greater speed, more flights, finer planes and the last word in service aloft on the Main Line Airway—coast to coast, the route that goes where business is.

Why a Steel Mill is a Safe Place to Work

The picture above shows one reason why the steel industry ranks among the nation's first three major industries from the standpoint of safety. This toy-size model of an overhead crane used in steel mills is complete to every moving part and safety feature, and a tiny electric motor makes it run just like its giant counterpart. Built by Richard V. Milligan, safety instructor at a plant of United States Steel, it is used in classroom safety meetings to teach workers how to avoid accidents. This is only one of scores of safety devices and practices used for the protection of U. S. Steel workers. The famous slogan "Safety First" was born in the plants of United States Steel at the turn of the century.

MICHIGAN GAME WILL TEST PURDUE POWER

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

CHARLEY BREWSTER, young shortstop from Nashville who finished the season with the Cubs, quit baseball after the opening game of the 1942 season because Durham [N. Scout Wish Egan says he hopes some day to sign Elroy Hirsch, the former Wisconsin-Michigan football flash, to a Detroit Tigers contract. . . . George Munger, Pennsylvania's head football coach, is limping, the result of a back yard scrimmage with his 7 year old son. . . . After Army had beaten Pittsburgh, 69 to 7, Felix Blanchard, West Point's brilliant full back, crossed the field to the Pitt bench and said to Coach Clark Shaughnessy: "Coach, I don't feel very happy about this." . . . Blanchard's father, also named Felix, played full back for Shaughnessy at Tulane in 1915. . . . But for the war, which steered the younger Blanchard to West Point, he too, would be playing football for Shaughnessy. . . . The coach told the 19 year old not to worry about the beating Pitt had suffered, that he did right in giving everything he had and that he is the best full back Clark ever has seen. . . . [No. 2.]

Today I met the idol of my dreams
He seems quite loose and awkward at the seams
But ought to be ideal as a friend;
His hands are huge and bony, and his nails
Contain great quantities of real estate,

But underneath his clumsy, gangling form
I think he packs a heart of chastened gold,
And he won't fold or buckle in a storm,
For football's made him self-possessed and bold;
The only thing I haven't figured out

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Norman Nelson, one of bowling's ablest southpaw pitchers, still continues to lead the Chicago trials for the fourth annual All-Star tournament, to be conducted by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America in the Auditorium service men's center from Dec. 2 thru 10. Nelson posted a 675 in his first effort at Garden Recreation, 4074 Milwaukee. Nearest to him at the northwest side establishment, operated by Lyman Bolger and Mike Hechinger, are Lou Papandrea, with 581, and Lou Labant, 567.

Out at Rose Bowl, 11517 S. Michigan av., where the energetic Paul Young is the host operator, Bob De Young has hung up 666, off of games of 248, 236, and 182 to lead all tenpin seekers after places in the big show there. He is followed by a foursome of 600 bowlers who include Jim Southern, 625; Stanley Sims, 610; Wes Works, 608, and Joe Battista, 600.

Brumm Cascade Leader.

Lloyd Wevang, proprietor of the Cascade Bowling Center, 3825 W. Madison st., finds his top man of those who have sought to be the top eight men in the big west side plant is R. J. Brumm with a 662. Nearest to Brumm are Lou Piermatti, 629, and Harry Lippe of the famed Meister Braus, 617. Ralph Olsen and Jack Samuelson of Bowling Lanes, 5221 Broadway, submit the following three leaders—H. W. Kennedy, 629; Dr. H. L. Hattstrom, 587, and John Voss, 580.

Host to School Today.

De Vito, by the way, will be host today to the free school which is being conducted by Ned Day, defending All-Star champion, and THE TRIBUNE. Day also will give lessons at Park Manor on Thursday and Saturday. Tonight, Ned will meet one of the strongest foes of his match play schedule in connection with the school when he rolls against Verne Anderson over the Park Manor lanes this evening.

The local trials are now being conducted at the above five centers for any bowler who wishes to enter them. The only stipulations are that each man pay $2 and bowling for each three game series he bowls, and that he does not roll them on the same pair of alleys as his preceding effort.

This three game total pin series will be concluded at 11:55 p. m., Nov. 16. The top eight men in each of the five centers will then go into a round robin contest on Nov. 18 and 19, when each qualifier will bowl his seven rivals in four game blocks. The leaders will gain places in the cast which goes into the Auditorium world series on Dec. 2.

Open Challenge Match Nov. 18.

Day will open his 60 game challenge match with Paul Krumske, the talented Chicagoan who was runner-up to him in last year's tournament, on Nov. 18 and 19 at Bowling Lanes. Thirty games will be rolled there, after which the champion and the challenger will move to Ned's West Allis alleys on Nov. 25 and 26.

Prof. Day still faces a heavy schedule of classes and matches before he winds up the 1944 session of The Tribune school. In addition to the Anderson match tonight, the titleholder will draw such Park Manor foes as Bill Harper and Ed Laprise on Thursday and Ed Brosius and Ronnie Long on Saturday. Tomorrow afternoon he will give tips to beginners in the afternoon at Bowling Lanes, and will return in the evening.

CARDINAL-PITTS DROP MASTERS, VETERAN BACK

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 23 (AP).—The Chicago Cardinal-Pittsburgh Steeler combination of the National Football league today announced the release of Walt Masters, veteran quarter back, following the Card-Pitts' return from New York where they lost, 23 to 0, to the Giants Sunday.

Record Play Continues at Sportsman's

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

The Sportsman's Park fall racing meeting, which opened so auspiciously on a 22 day run last Wednesday, went into its first full week yesterday on the impetus of an average daily mutuel handle of $723,873, or $125,000 in excess of last spring's record breaking meeting and approximately the same margin above last fall's peak.

To this indication of complete success, in line with the unprecedented showings of the four other Chicago racing establishments this season, President John L. Keeshin, the trucking and professional football magnate who directs the policy of the Cicero half miler, adds that there is every reason to believe racing has just started its upswing.

Tells of Sport's Popularity.

"The public likes racing," says Keeshin. "It is a great diversion not only in these times of stress but during normal years. It has done great good with its huge contributions to charities and funds for army and navy personnel. It will continue to do more than its share."

Keeshin is determined that the last six days of the meeting will be banner ones. They have been set aside to benefit charitable organizations and will be conducted under the sponsorship of the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., which has raised over $400,000 this season with the aid of Chicago's five tracks.

Bright Willie Triumphs.

A crowd of 11,133, not far short of Saturday's throng which had wagered $891,371 to break all records for the band box track, sent $744,866 thru the machines yesterday during a program featured by the $1,800 Milwaukee purse. This was an allowance event for older horses and was won by Creech and McIlvain's Bright Willie, ridden by Paul Glidewell.

Bright Willie, an even money favorite, led all the way around in the mile and one-sixteenth race, scoring by a length and a quarter over G. R. Schneider's Gallahue which hung on the leader's heels the major portion of the route. Gallahue finished a length and a quarter in front of J. H. Miles' Rush Act. Cherry Trifle was fourth in the field of seven. The winner paid $4.20, $3.20, and $2.60.

Double Pays Only $13.60.

Yesterday's program was strictly for the short odds players who saw the smallest daily double of the meeting recorded and watched heavily backed entrants give all the contention in the first half of the eight race program.

The double went to F. Gray's Mismark at $6.20 in the first race and Happy Hour farm's Lostahat at $3.80 in the second. The double was worth $13.60 and gave Bruno Pucci and Jackie Martin riding victories.

SUGAR ROBINSON DISPLAYS SPEED IN FIRST DRILL

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Ray [Sugar] Robinson showed speed and skill in his first boxing drill in Ringside loop gymnasium yesterday in preparation for a 10 round bout with Sgt. Lou Woods in Chicago Stadium Friday. He went four rounds with two partners. He will increase his ring workout to six rounds this afternoon.

There was talk that Robinson, foremost contender for a shot at the world welterweight championship, was on the downgrade following his discharge from the army last June. The 22 year old Ray demonstrated yesterday there was no basis for the report.

Woods Spars Four Rounds.

Woods, Detroit boxer, who is stationed at Fort Sheridan, also sparred four rounds yesterday with two mates. Lou, who has scored 32 victories in 34 fights, went about his business with quiet confidence altho he knows Robinson is favored to gain his 138th triumph in 139 starts [amateur and professional] at his expense.

It is felt Woods, who also is 22, will perform more creditably than may be assumed from Robinson's excellent record. He demonstrated as much while losing a split decision to Jack Lamotta, rugged New York middleweight, in the Stadium last March. Lamotta, the only boxer able to beat Robinson, achieved the victory in Detroit in February of last year.

Bay to Meet Peterson.

Chairman Sheldon Clark and Commissioner Lt. Gen. Roy D. Keehn of the Illinois Athletic commission at a meeting yesterday gave Matchmaker Jack Kearns permission to change his date for a 10 round bout between Lee Savold and Larry Lane in the Coliseum from Nov. 9 to Nov. 8. . . . Walter Palmer, north side heavyweight wrestler, was suspended for three months by the commission, a fact which will prevent him from going thru with a scheduled bout in the Rainbo Fronton tomorrow against George Dusette.

BEARS' MANAGER DENIES LUCKMAN TO JOIN TIGERS

Ralph Brizzolara, general manager of the Chicago Bears, last night denied reports from New York that the Brooklyn Tigers have opened negotiations to obtain the services of Sid Luckman for the remainder of the season. A story in the New York Times stated, "Luckman will be in the lineup for the Tigers' next home game against the Boston Yanks Sunday should the Bears grant permission."

Luckman, an ensign in the maritime service, recently left his station at Sheepshead Bay, near Brooklyn, for service on a tanker. As far as officials of the Bears know, he still is on the high seas.

"This report is all news to me," declared Brizzolara. "We haven't been contacted. You can rest assured that Sid will not be lent, traded, or sold to Brooklyn. As for the Bears, we're letting him alone to do his duty."

Three Plays Blast Bears' Title Hopes

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Three plays will haunt the Chicago Bears long after the last football is kicked this season in the National league. These three plays add up to a pair of defeats and a tie and have ruined the Bears' hopes for a fifth straight championship in the western division.

Lou Zontini.

1. Dom Sigillo's holding infraction in the Green Bay game on the play in which Sid Luckman intercepted a pass by Lou Brock and ran to the Packers' 32 yard line. The foul nullified Sid's nifty catch and run late in the fourth quarter with the score tied, 28 to 28. Instead, a 15 yard penalty put the ball on the Bears' 42 yard line. On the first play, Brock raced for a touchdown and the Packers won, 42 to 28.

Pictures Reveal Error.

2. Late in the second quarter at Cleveland the Bears were ahead, 7 to 3. Albie Reisz of the Rams, back to pass, was knocked down for a 10 yard loss on the Chicago 26. But an official called a holding foul on Gary Famiglietti, which was committed on the Bears' 6 yard line. There the ball was placed in play and on fourth down, Lou Zontini ran for a touchdown.

Several days after this game it dawned on the Bears' coaches that the officials had erred. The ball was blown dead when Reisz was dumped. Therefore, it's generally agreed now, Famiglietti's infraction should have cost only five yards. This would have given the Rams a first down on the Bears' 21 and not the 6. The Bears like to think that Cleveland would not have scored. The Rams won, 19 to 7.

3. A fancy play which had succeeded against the Packers for the Bears' first touchdown backfired Sunday and prevented the abdicating champions from continuing their quest for a tie breaking score. Capt. George Wilson had caught a pass in midfield at Green Bay. Trailed by Ray McLean, he lateraled to the little fellow, who sped for a touchdown.

Pass Misses Fire.

With three minutes to play and the score tied, 21 to 21, in the Detroit battle, Ronzani passed from the Lions' 21 to Wilson on the 15. McLean again was trailing George. As he fell from the effects of a tackle, George tossed the ball into McLean's custody, or so he thought. But as Wilson made the pitch, a Lion bumped his arm and the ball never started on its intended course. Bill Callihan recovered it on Detroit's 30 and the Lions, satisfied to get a tie, kept possession until the finish.

If you are thinking that the Bears of other years never made such costly mistakes, perish the thought. The powerful elevens of other seasons pulled their share of skullers, but a

WASHINGTON IS BEATEN, 38-7, BY U.S.C. TROJANS

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 23 (AP).—Southern California crushed Washington's hopes of being the western nominee for the New Year's Rose bowl game by inflicting a 38 to 7 beating on the previously undefeated Huskies tonight.

One of the biggest football turnouts of the season—70,000—cheered itself hoarse as the unbeaten Trojans stopped the Washington running and passing game and scored almost at will against the confused invaders from the northwest.

Washington's tackling was ragged and that of the Trojans their best of the year. Washington failed to cut down the speedy Southern California backs behind the line, and once in the open they outspeeded and outdodged the slower Washington secondary.

Gray Scores on Punt Return.

Gordon Gray, playing his last game for U. S. C.; George Callanan, 17 year old Don Burnside, and Pat West all scored against Coach Pest Welch's team.

The Trojans added two more touchdowns in the second period. Don Burnside, a substitute half back, started the proceedings with a 26 yard punt return to Washington's 39. In four plays, with Burnside and Hardy packing the ball, the Trojans were across.

Try to Pass on Fourth Down.

The next one came immediately after the Huskies tried to pass on fourth down. Ferraro nailed Gilmore for a 19 yard loss and U. S. C. had the ball on Washington's 22. On the next play Hardy passed to George Callanan, who had sneaked into the far corner of the end zone.

Washington passed wildly in the second half and some of the throws were costly. A 45 yard sprint by Gray started the Trojan scoring parade, Callanan going over from the 1. The Huskies' only score came shortly afterward, Gilmore passing to Zech, who lateralled to his 215 pound center, Gordon Berlin.

Southern California put over the final two touchdowns in the fourth period.

BOB WIESE AND NUSSBAUMER FINISH CAREERS

Ohio State to Meet Minnesota.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

In the shoulder to shoulder race for the Western conference football championship between Purdue's Boilermakers and Ohio State's Buckeyes, the former seem to have the more difficult assignment this week. Purdue invades Michigan where Bob Weise, great full back, and Bob Nussbaumer, half back, will play their final game for the Wolverines prior to navy transfer. Ohio State entertains Minnesota.

There can be no question but that Ohio State reached a peak of play last Saturday in trouncing Great Lakes, 26 to 6. The splendid defense of the veteran Ohio State civilians and their fine blocking point to conquest of Minnesota. The Buckeyes, however, will not repeat all the features of their play against Great Lakes. Quite likely they will be unable physically to come up with another such exhibition but this by no means indicates a defeat by the Gophers.

Four Linemen Are Seniors.

Ohio State's most impressive phase of attack against the Bluejackets was the 275 yards gained by rushing. This steady pressure finally broke the 6 to 6 deadlock. Great Lakes was held to a mere 46 yards by rushing. These figures point to the high caliber of the Ohio State line.

Six of the seven linemen who started for Ohio State last Saturday are letter men and four of them are seniors. The other lineman is Tom Snyder, freshman left guard who is 17. Here's the Ohio State line:

Purdue may challenge the assumption that Ohio State has the best line, at this time, in the conference. Purdue's forwards turned in an excellent game against the Seahawks altho they were defeated. Last Saturday at Iowa the Boilermakers were not under pressure but they will build up steadily towards the goal of victory over Michigan.

Frank Bauman, Purdue's right end, continues to be an outstanding player on the national scene. His punting has been steady except for his tendency in recent games to fumble the pass from center. Bauman actually dropped one pass from center at Iowa and caught another against his body after it had slipped thru his hands. He got both kicks away, however, for Coach Cecil Isbell has been having him stand 13 yards back of the scrimmage line to kick.

Purdue's weakness, if any, is at tackle where three men have been rotated in closely fought games. None can compare with Willis of Ohio State. The Boilermakers, even if they are successful this week, scarcely can count on continuing their pace for they are due to lose several valuable men by navy transfer at the end of the month.

Iowa Plays at Indiana.

While interest centers on Ohio State and Purdue, the conference leaders, Indiana has a date with Iowa in Bloomington to complete Saturday's Big Nine schedule.

DECIDE BIG TEN CROSS COUNTRY TITLE ON NOV. 11

The 1944 Big Ten Conference cross country run will be held in Washington park Saturday, Nov. 11, Ned Merriam, track coach at the University of Chicago, announced yesterday.

Indiana, Iowa, Ohio, Purdue, and Wisconsin have indicated they will run. Illinois, Michigan, and Minnesota have not stated whether they will enter or not. Northwestern and Chicago will not participate.

YOUNG AND HIS PREP NEMESIS MAY MEET AGAIN

Irish Hope Wendell Will Face Him Saturday.

A football rivalry born on the frozen gridiron of Soldiers' field in the Kelly bowl football game last Nov. 28 may be renewed in Champaign Saturday when the Illinois and Notre Dame elevens meet. Ed McKeever, acting head football coach of Notre Dame, is pinning his hopes on a renewal of that rivalry as a means of stopping Claude [Buddy] Young, fleet Illini back.

The other half of the Kelly bowl rivalry revolves around Marty Wendell, who quarter backed St. George of Evanston to a 19 to 12 victory over Wendell Phillips and Buddy Young, and who now is a student at Notre Dame. Wendell, a star defensive back in his prep days in Chicago, accounted for one of the three touchdowns made by St. George and was a major factor in keeping Young under control.

Hopes Wendell Makes It.

McKeever voiced his hopes that Wendell and Young will meet again while speaking at the Monday Quarter Backs meeting in the Morrison hotel yesterday. The expression came in response to a question from the audience asking: "Will Marty Wendell be able to play varsity football for Notre Dame this year?"

After revealing that Wendell is now engaged in a two-day scoring campaign against examinations at Notre Dame, McKeever said: "The only thing that will keep Wendell out of the Notre Dame lineup would be his failure to pass in his studies.

McKeever brought a refreshing change to the meeting when he derided any pessimism in the Notre Dame scheme of things by declaring "Any team having designs on beating the Fighting Irish this year will be faced with a pretty tough problem. I say this because those kids at Notre Dame this year represent the finest bunch of youngsters I have ever had the pleasure of working with."

Charles [Gus] Dorais, coach of the Detroit Lions, who held the Chicago Bears to a 21 to 21 tie Sunday in Wrigley field, rated the game a moral victory for his team and admitted that he was looking forward to the second meeting of the teams with little or no relish.

FOOTBALL—AND WAR

American football spirit—as demonstrated by former players and spectators alike—is helping to win the war, Coach Alvin [Bo] McMillin of Indiana university asserted yesterday. McMillin, addressing a Northwestern-Indiana session of Chicago's Wailing Wall, said his former players in battle zones thruout the world have lauded the influence of football in battle.

"One boy who played for me—Tuffy Brooks—wrote and said D day in France was like a big football game," the Indiana coach said. "Only the boys who used to play football and those who watched them from the grand stand were elbow to elbow, filled with the same spirit to win."

McMillin praised the modesty of his star half back, Bob Hoernschemeyer, who was released from the navy to accept an appointment to Annapolis last summer. Given the choice of studying for a certificate of entrance to the naval academy, Hoernschmeyer wrote McMillin asking: "Do you want me to come back to Indiana?"

"One of the best half backs in the Western conference last season should ask me a question like that," Bo grinningly commented.

rival touchdown or two meant nothing in their gay, young lives. They gave away scores with the lavish nonchalance of a spendthrift, knowing they always could make more than the other fellows. The difference is that this year's team can't afford to make mistakes.

Injury Sidelines Tipp.

The Bears will return to their labors in Wrigley field this morning, hoping to get a split in their series with the Rams, who will be in town Sunday. The Rams beat the Bears twice in 1938, then absorbed eight straight defeats over a four year span until winning on Oct. 8 in Cleveland.

Hospital reports on injured Bears reveal that Half Back Tipp Mooney, the hard running rookie from Abilene [Tex.] Christian college suffered a separation of the tissue which coats the collar bone. Tipp will not play against the Rams and it is doubtful if he'll be available against the Packers a week from Sunday.

O'Keefe Brothers Retain Windy City League Lead

The O'Keefe Brothers team retained its lead in the Windy City Bowling league by winning two out of three games last night from the Congress Arcade team on the Windy City alleys. The O'Keefe team bowled a 2,992 series, three points behind the 2,995 high total registered by the Quality Laundry team as it won two out of three games from the Mineralites. Joe Sinke, bowling with the Meister Brau squad, rolled 684 for high individual series.

Harridge Finds Landis in Fine Spirits at Hospital

K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, is in fine spirits and expects to leave St. Luke's hospital later this week, Will Harridge, president of the American league, reported yesterday.

Holcomb, Only a Private, Issues Orders at Army

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 23 (AP).—For 22 hours each day Pvt. Stuart Holcomb is a typical G. I., but for the remaining two hours he is the equal of any officer on the United States Military academy campus as end coach for the unbeaten cadet football team.

Pvt. Stuart Holcomb.

Coached Miami Eleven.

Holcomb, a former Ohio State athlete, was head coach at Miami University in Oxford, O., at the time of his enlistment. He soon was shipped to a training camp in the western part of the country. About that time Capt. Frank [Specs] Moore, who had tutored the ends for Blaik at both Dartmouth and at Army, was granted his request for combat service.

Sought by Blaik.

Blaik, an alumnus of Miami, considered numerous applications for the job but finally had Holcomb transferred to the Point and has no reason to regret his actions, especially after seeing Plebe End George [Barney] Poole block two Coast Guard punts, bat down a rival pass for a safety, and score a touchdown for the cadets in last Saturday's game.

HENRY CROWELL, HEAD OF QUAKER OATS, DIES AT 89

Succumbs Aboard Train in Chicago Station.

Henry Parsons Crowell, honorary chairman of the Quaker Oats company, died last evening on a North Western suburban train shortly before it was scheduled to leave the downtown station. He was on his way to his home at 770 Humboldt av., Winnetka.

Mr. Crowell was 89 years old, but he continued to go daily to his office in the Board of Trade building, and was active in several civic and welfare organizations.

Just Named to New Post.

Only yesterday he was elected honorary chairman of the Committee of Fifteen, which has been fighting commercialized prostitution in Chicago for 38 years. He was named to this post at a meeting in the La Salle hotel to succeed Clifford W. Barnes, who died recently.

Mr. Crowell was born in Cleveland, O., and began his career with the Quaker Mill company of Ravenna, O. He served as its president from 1881 to 1891 when it was sold to the American Cereal company of Akron, O. He was vice president and general manager of American Cereal until 1898, then became president of the company. In 1922 he was made chairman of the board. For the last three years he had been honorary chairman.

Endows Vast Ranch.

In 1938 Mr. Crowell announced that he would endow his million dollar Wyoming Hereford ranch for the 25 years following his death to carry on the work of improving his herd of 3,000 pure bred cattle. The plan for the endowment provided that profits of the ranch operations be given to charity.

Mr. Crowell also was an active supporter of the Legislative Voters league, was chairman of the Moody Bible Institute, and for many years served as a member of the Chicago Association of Commerce crime committee. His special interest was juvenile delinquency.

NO D.D.T., NEW INSECTICIDE, FOR CIVILIAN USERS

D. D. T., the deadly new killer of flies, lice, and other body parasites, which has been used so effectively in war theaters, probably won't be ready for civilian use for at least another year and it may be longer. Primarily, it will depend on how long the war lasts, for the armed services are getting first call on the entire supply.

This was the word given out yesterday by Prof. J. J. Davis, head of the department of entomology, Purdue university, and the agricultural experiment station at Lafayette, Ind., during a press conference in Hotel Sherman in connection with the convention of the National Pest Control association, which opened yesterday in Hotel Sherman with more than 500 delegates.

"As a louse killer," said Prof. Davis, "D. D. T. can be dusted on the body and clothing, and will kill lice for at least three weeks, even the issue from eggs. But D. D. T. isn't so great that it ever will exterminate the fly or other bugs that bother humans." He said much publicity about this compound has been greatly exaggerated.

BOMBER CRASH KILLS 8; FILLED BUS NEARLY HIT

Tucson, Ariz., Oct. 23 (AP).—Eight army airmen were killed and three others were injured in the crash of a four engined bomber during a take-off yesterday at Davis Monthan army air base. The B-24 Liberator narrowly missed a bus filled with soldiers as it hurtled to earth just after clearing the runway.

The dead included Corp. Alfred E. Leannais, 18, armorer gunner, son of Mrs. Elfie Lennais, 1171 W. Milwaukee av., Detroit, Mich. Seriously injured was Corp. Robert Tweet, 26, radio operator, husband of Mrs. Bertha C. Tweet, Bloomer, Wis.

Four Die in Texas Crash.

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 23 (AP).—Four airmen from Fort Worth army air field were killed today when a four motor bomber crashed as it was coming in for an emergency landing.

Girl, 4, Is County's 79th Polio Victim This Year

A 4 year old girl in Cicero was found yesterday to be suffering from infantile paralysis. The case was the 79th reported this year in Cook county outside of Chicago, compared with 251 a year ago. There have been five deaths from the disease in the county this year, compared with 20 last year at this date.

OBITUARY

Dr. Claude Howard Searle.

Services for Dr. Claude Howard Searle, 71, of 555 Sunset Lane, Glencoe, who died in the Evanston hospital Sunday night, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow in the chapel at 1567 Maple av., Evanston. He was chairman of G. D. Searle & Co., pharmaceutical manufacturers. He is survived by his widow, Marion, and two sons, Howard B. and John G. Searle.

WACS Up in Arms

CAPT. DOROTHY TOMHAVE.
[Acme Telephotos.]

CORP. MARIE SAYRE.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23. [Special].—A full investigation was launched by army officers today into conditions at the WAC camp at Fort Belvoir, Va., where WACs were reported to haye threatened to "go AWOL in a body" if their commanding officer, Capt. Dorothy Tomhave, continues what they term her "gestapo-like measures."

The trouble flared openly a week ago Sunday when 85 WACs held a protest massmeeting with their chaplain to air their complaints. Chief among these was the transfer to Fort Meyer, Va., of one of the camp's most popular WACs, Corp. Marie Sayre of Butler, Ind.

The girls complained that Fort Meyer is regarded by WACs as a "dumping ground for unsuccessful WACs" and that their friend would "get a name" by being sent there "because the C. O. had it in for her after she had words over her job with a new acting first sergeant."

RETIREMENT LAW NIPS 67 POLICE JOBS NEXT YEAR

Compulsory retirement age of 63 years will be reached in 1945 by five police lieutenants, a matron, 26 sergeants, three police department operators, and 32 patrolmen, James S. Osborne, secretary of the civil service board, reported yesterday.

The lieutenants and their 63d birthdays are: William J. Crott, March 7; Edward J. Harrity, April 1; Thomas V. Flanigan, July 5; Edward P. Birmingham, Oct. 27, and Charles H. Ball, Dec. 28. Matron Frances M. Carroll will be 63 on June 11.

Sergeants to retire next year are: John O. Siechter, William J. Messett, William F. Murphy, Thomas Magner, Patrick Byrne, Anthony J. Kaiser, Herman Rischke, Hugh L. Burns, William J. O'Neill, James J. Kilgore, Thomas Kelleher, William J. Conroy, Maurice J. McNamara, John W. McGloon, Richard Sinnott, Michael J. Rice, Joseph F. Healy, John T. Walsh, Thomas J. Burke, Thomas J. McDonald, Harry J. Burns, Fred W. Buerger, William H. Kelly, Michael J. Kelly, Felix L. Herman, and Charles Bluthardt.

CLEVELAND GAS EXPLOSION TOLL MAY REACH 200

Cleveland, O., Oct. 23 (AP).—Coroner Samuel R. Gerbe today estimated that "possibly 200" persons met death as liquid gas explosions and flames last Friday laid waste an east side area one-half mile square.

The number of known dead reached 115 today, with 102 persons listed as missing, 47 of them East Ohio Gas company employes. Only 36 of the dead have been identified.

Another 49 men, women, and children still were under treatment in hospitals. Seven remained in critical condition.

[ADVERTISMENT]
STRIKE TOGETHER—TAKE THIS FAST-ACTING LAXATIVE
When Colds are accompanied by headaches and acute constipation, you feel miserable all over. When a laxative is needed, trust Pluto Water. Although PLUTO works swiftly, it works by gentle osmosis, creating fluid bulk in the colon, flushing digestive waste, usually within an hour. Pluto is a concentrated, fortified and scientifically stabilized saline mineral water with all minerals and salts in complete solution. It passes through the stomach without disturbing its function, is not absorbed, and acts in the colon where physicians want a laxative to act. Try Pluto now! Caution—Use only as directed on label. You must get refreshing, comforting relief in one hour or your money back. In 25c and 50c economy bottles, also 10c size. French Lick Springs Hotel Co., French Lick, Indiana.

THIEF WRECKS FACTORIES AND SELLS PIECES

Judge Relates Story to Legionnaires.

Buildings were disappearing—big factory buildings filled with heavy machinery and what not—just vanishing from the face of the earth.

Then it was discovered they actually had been stolen—appropriated lock, stock, and barrel- and the thief was sent to the penitentiary for five years for—malicious mischief!

Judge Cornelius J. Harrington of the Criminal court yesterday told the members of the Advertising Men's post of the American Legion about it at their meeting in the Sherman hotel.

350 Pounder Wrecked Buildings.

"I was chief justice of the Criminal court when this case came before me," the jurist said, recounting some of his "interesting cases" for the Legionnaires. "The defendant was a man weighing 350 pounds. His business was wrecking buildings.

"He had discovered one big factory building on the west side full of heavy machinery. It was owned by Cleveland, O., people and the watchman had gone AWOL for six months. So our 350 pounder just moved in his crew and took the building apart piece by piece and moved out the machinery.

"Well, that structure literally vanished.

Factory Owner Calls Police.

"So did another soon afterward, even to a big outdoor overhead crane. Our culprit confessed he sold the crane as it stood to one of our big steel companies for $1,500, with the proviso they come and get it. They did and had to bring it back.

"Our man was at work wrecking his third factory—and he had a lot of others in view—when the owner drove by one day and called the police.

"When the defendant had been sentenced to five years, he asked for five days' delay in which to 'straighten out his affairs.' It was just before Lincoln's birthday or some other holiday, as I remember.

"I said to him, 'O, no, brother! You go down at once. I'm sitting in the Criminal Courts building and I want the building to be here when I come back after tomorrow's holiday."

BABY INQUEST RESUMPTION IS EXPECTED SOON

The inquest into the deaths of two new born babies in the Highland Park hospital Sept. 27 will be resumed as soon as his office receives a report from Dr. William D. McNally, Cook county toxicologist, Garfield R. Leaf, Lake County coroner, said yesterday.

Coroner Leaf said he expected the report today and promised to announce a date for the inquest resumption immediately.

The babies were the 3 day old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion C. Jahn, 1401 Marion av., Highland Park, and the 9 day old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Welton E. Richburg, 850 Glencoe rd., Glencoe. According to hospital reports, both infants were born in perfect health and died the same day shortly after being fed the same type of baby food.

The original inquest was opened Sept. 28 and was continued pending further investigation into the possibility of death by poisoning.

FIRE IN CHURCH AUDITORIUM IS LAID TO ARSON

Police and fire department investigators said yesterday they believe an arsonist started a fire that caused $1,500 damage in the auditorium of the St. Vladimir Ukrainian Orthodox church at 1944 Erie st. Acting Chief Anthony J. Jablonski of the 5th battalion said the odor of gasoline was strong in the brick building. The Rev. Theodore Forosty, pastor, told Earle R. Downes and Henry Eckhardt, city fire attorneys, that the fire was started in the stage area.

Death of 2 Soldiers Laid to Denatured Alcohol

Camp Ellis, Ill., Oct. 23 (AP).—Two soldiers were stricken fatally and several others were "seriously affected" today after a week-end drinking party. Col. John S. Sullivan, camp commander, said he believed denatured alcohol was consumed. Dead were Pvt. John W. Adams, 32, of 3808 Block av., East Chicago, Ind., and Tech. 5th Grade Hubert McAlister, 32, of Wildwood, Fla.

7 WORKERS DIE AS CINCINNATI FACTORY BURNS

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 23 (AP).—Seven employes of the Cincinnati Pencil company, died today in a fire which swept a four story downtown building a few minutes before their quitting time.

Ten others, including four firemen, were burned and suffered shock and other injuries as they leaped from the company's fourth floor quarters to the roof of an adjacent one story structure. Three of these are in critical condition.

Fire Chief Barney Houston declared he believed the fire started on the first floor and was fed by highly volatile lacquers used in the processing of pencils. The flames cut off two normal means of escape for those on the top floor, Houston added. A fire escape and two windows from which to leap were the alternate escape routes, he said.

Shamrock Oil and Gas corporation—101,593 shares $1 par value common stock, now outstanding and in the possession of a number of stockholders.

KIRKEBY FILES $100,000 SUIT AGAINST HOTEL

Arnold S. Kirkeby, former part owner and manager of the Stevens hotel, asked $100,000 from the Avenue Hotel corporation, owner of the Stevens, in a suit on file in Circuit court yesterday. In support of his suit Kirkeby filed an agreement signed by Stephen A. Healy, chairman of the board of the corporation, by which Kirkeby was to receive $20,000 instalments on Oct. 1, 1944, thru 1948.

Kirkeby charged the corporation failed to pay the $20,000 allegedly due him Oct. 1 and "disclaimed any and all liability under said contract or agreement." He resigned Jan. 10 as president, director, and manager.

He said the payments were to be made for his services in organizing personnel to operate the hotel, rehabilitating the properties, obtaining priorities for and getting necessary equipment, and obtaining business, including various conventions.

Kirkeby said he put up $45,000 of the $5,251,000 paid the government for the hotel at an auction sale last year, but later sold out to the S. A. Healy company, largest stockholder.

WLB SUMMONS UNION IN FOOD PICKET DISPUTE

Representatives of local 738, Grocery and Food Products Warehouse Employes' union, affiliate of the AFL teamsters' union, were ordered by the war labor board to appear before it today to show cause why a WLB order to remove union pickets from the Reid Murdoch food plant at 325 N. La Salle st., has not been obeyed.

The pickets were placed at the plant Oct. 10, and as a result members of another AFL teamster union, local 705, refused to drive their trucks thru the picket line.

WPB APPROVES 152 MILLION IN CIVILIAN GOODS

772 Plants to Shift from War Work.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—A total of $152,441,000 of civilian production has been authorized for the current quarter and the first three quarters of 1945 in 940 authorizations approved and issued in war production board field offices for 772 plants, the WPB controler's division reported today.

Officials said 1,110 authorizations had been approved and issued out of 3,649 applications filed as of Oct. 14. Information on 170 of these authorizations was not available in Washington when the report was prepared Oct. 17. The Chicago regional office cleared 100 applications.

Bed Springs Authorized.

Included are $10,735,000 of vacuum cleaners, $35,971,000 of bed springs and innerspring mattresses, and $15,537,000 of household aluminum ware to be made during the next year.

WPB said that plants employing fewer than 50 workers had received 71 per cent of all "spot" approvals.

Consumers' durable goods accounted for more than two-thirds of total volume approved. Among the items were $874,000 of lawn mowers, $655,000 of typewriters, $1,629,000 of electric irons in addition to production prevoously approved, a few bicycles, silverware, furniture, electric lamps, office supplies, church goods, fountain pens, mechanical pencils, jewelry, and sporting goods.

Harvesting machinery of $5,091,000 was authorized, as well as automotive parts, building materials, and plumbing and heating items.

Use of Steel Approved.

The use of 44,270 tons of carbon steel and 512 tons of alloy steel has been approved for the production covered by the report. In addition, WPB has authorized use of 902,154 pounds of brass mill products, 140,379 pounds of wire mill products, 450,148 pounds of foundry products and 17,395,563 pounds of aluminum for civilian goods.

Maintenance of WPB controls over the cotton textile and leather industries after Germany surrenders will be required in the "public interest" to avert possible acute shortages, said Chairman Krug.

Naming increased military requirements and lack of man power as the two major reasons for the current textile scarcity, he warned that additional control measures would be taken if necessary. Krug reported that cotton textile output declined from 11 billion 200 million yards in 1942 to an estimated 9 billion 900 million this year.

Shoe Production Lags.

An annual production of 349 million pairs of rationed type civilian shoes would be needed in 1944 to meet ration program and export requirements, he said, but production is estimated at only 276 million pairs, leaving a 73 million pair deficit to deplete low inventories further.

WPB also amended order L-23-C, relating to domestic cooking appliances and heating stoves, to permit production of oven thermostats and burner valves.

Increases in ceiling prices granted manufacturers of toilet tissue and paper towels may be passed on to consumers by each subsequent reseller, the OPA announced. This action, effective Oct. 28, was termed necessary to insure continued distribution thru customary trade channels.

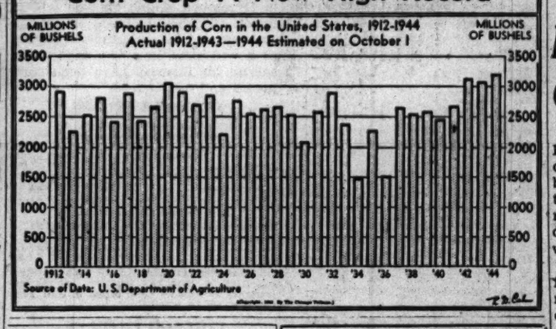
People and Events

Marshall Field & Co. will coöperate with the Associated Merchandising corporation, an organization of 23 independent department stores thruout the country, in expanding its household appliance department, William S. Street, vice president, announced yesterday. Thru the plan Field's will join with the Associated Merchandising stores in sponsoring a line of major appliances to be marketed under its own label. Field's already is coöperating with the organization in the development of foreign markets.

The first Cadillac automobile produced after the war will embody engineering, maufacturing, and metallurgical advances comparable to three years of normal peace time progress, D. E. Ahrens, general sales manager of the Cadillac division of General Motors corporation, told Chicago area distributors in the Blackstone hotel.

John F. McCarthy, who recently resigned as director and chief attorney for the OPA Chicago rent control office, has assumed control of enforcing various OPA regulations, including rent, in the Miami, Fla., area.

Corn Crop—A New High Record



Offer to Rebuy Utah Radio's Debentures

Cruttenden & Co., which headed an investment bankers' syndicate in the recent marketing of $885,000 of Utah Radio Products company 4½ per cent subordinated convertible debentures of 1954, yesterday offered to repurchase the debentures. The offer, in a letter to purchasers, resulted from government price renegotiation proceedings which may cut company profit substantially from the amount shown in the offering prospectus.

Utah simultaneously made the same repurchase offer to stockholders who purchased debentures directly from it, Cruttenden said. Stockholders prior to Sept. 28, the date of public offering, purchased $290,000 of the issue, said the amended prospectus. Sale of the unsubscribed amount was completed by the underwriters on Oct. 5.

Retains Most of Proceeds.

Such debentures as may be reacquired by the underwriters thru the repurchase offer will not be returned to Utah, the investment house said. Utah thus was assured of the sale's proceeds except for its own repurchases from stockholders.

Utah was not advised of the renegotiation proceedings for 1943 until last Sept. 19, during the period of the offering to stockholders and after the prospectus for the issue had been filed with the securities and exchange commission, the letter said. On Sept. 21 the renegotiators informed Utah that they would recommend a refund of $800,000 for 1943.

If made final, the refund would reduce Utah's 1943 profits to $188,724 from the $405,724 previously stated, Cruttenden said. If the same formula is applied to 1944 earnings, profit in the six months ended June 30 would be cut to $171,499 from $207,299.

Disagrees with Renegotiators.

Utah does not agree with the renegotiators' recommendation, said the letter, and it will take action to resist any unfair refund payment. F. R. Tuerk, president of Utah, was reported by his office to be in Washington, D. C., discussing with renegotiators the proposed refund.

"In view of the fact that the matter of renegotiation developed after the effective date of the registration statement and prospectus, but prior to your purchase from us of the debentures, we feel that you should have the opportunity to cancel your purchase if you so desire," said the letter, "and we hereby offer to accept from you the debentures which you purchased from us and receive from us the return of the purchase price of 103 plus interest to date."

24 PER CENT LAG IN HEAVY TRUCK OUTPUT IS TOLD

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—Production of heavy-heavy trucks [10 tons and above] fell 24 per cent behind schedule in the first nine months this year, the WPB reported today. They are on the war production "must" list and efforts are being made to increase output to meet army demands.

Production totaled 44,000 units in the nine months, compared with a scheduled 58,000 units. Production of light-heavy trucks totaled 187,000 units, compared with a program of 205,000 units, a deficit of 8.5 per cent.

Returning Yanks Obtain 6½ Million in Farm Loans

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 23 (AP).—I. W. Duggan, governor of the farm credit administration, said today that a survey in nine of the 12 FCA districts showed that approximately 1,500 loans, involving credit of about 6½ million dollars have been made to returning war veterans since Pearl Harbor by local coöperative production credit associations.

WPB Suspends Output by Portable Lamp Maker

WPB yesterday announced it had suspended the Marliss Manufacturing company, 1411 S. Michigan av., from producing portable lamps or parts until Jan. 22. The manufacturer was charged with exceeding its quota by 18,000 units between Jan. 1 and May 23.

BIG BLOCK OF STOCK IN HALSTED EXCHANGE BANK CHANGES HANDS

A large amount of the capital stock of the Halsted Exchange National bank has been purchased by an unnamed group of investors from Edward J. Morris and certain of his relatives and close associates, the law firm of Brown and West disclosed yesterday.

Altho the principals did not reveal the amount of money or stock involved or whether it represented a controling interest, other quarters reported approximately 700 of the 2,000 shares outstanding changed hands at $489.40 a share.

Reported Morris holdings do not represent half of the issued shares, but it was said the purchasers had or would acquire a controling interest because all stockholders were made the same offer as that submitted to the Morris group.

The law firm, a member of the buying group, said there would be no change in policy, management, or personnel—"down to the 15th assistant bookkeeper."

It also denied a report that the bank would be moved from its present location, 19th pl. and Halsted st., to quarters of the old Peoples Trust and Savings bank at Michigan av. and Washington st.

French Rush to Change Big Bank Notes

BY ROBERT SAGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, France, Oct. 23.—After a week-end of rumors, Paris banks and the stock exchange opened normally today without expected monetary measures being taken by the government. Many had believed Gen. Charles De Gaulle's government would put into effect drastic deflationary measures in order to lay hands on black market and collaboration fortunes and reduce the country's bloated circulation.

Rush on for Small Notes.

The government's silence failed to check a wild scramble to unload large bank notes. Most banks refused to change 1,000 and 5,000 franc notes, and almost all downtown stores were cleaned out of small change.

In many business districts it was impossible to get change for a 100 or even a 50 franc note. Some small shopkeepers said citizens were making a round of shops offering 75 francs for 50 franc notes. [The franc is quoted officially at 2 cents.]

Suitcases Full of Money.

Speaking of a rush to unload bills of large denominations on Saturday, a teller in a boulevard bank said, "We were obliged to close the money changing window. People arrived with suitcases full of bank notes and asked for hundreds of thousands of francs in small bills."

The first manifestation of fear that the government planned drastic action was a buying wave in which wealthy persons unloaded their bank notes at stores for jewels, furniture, carpets, and paintings.

Many Pay Their Taxes.

Many paid their taxes for the last two or three years, the collector still accepting 5,000 franc notes.

A rumor had been spread that all bills of 100 francs or more were to be called in by the government and exchanged for new money, with the owners of fortunes being obliged to explain where their money came from.

Financial experts are trying to reassure the public, saying that of 600 billion francs in circulation only 3 per cent is in notes of less than 100 francs.

Andre Istel, financial adviser at Washington, D. C., of De Gaulle's regime, has advised against abrupt deflation in France. He contends that depreciation of the franc is not much worse than that of the dollar and pound sterling.

'Swollen' Rail Profit Claim of OPA Is Denied

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—Railroads have not "outstripped industry generally" in war profit benefits, a railroad spokesman said today, and after the war will need net operating income of a billion dollars a year to rehabilitate war worn properties.

These statements were made before the interstate commerce commission by J. H. Parmelee, director of the bureau of railway economics, Association of American Railroads, at the opening hearing on the question of restoring or abandoning emergency freight rate and passenger fare increases.

Boost Ordered in 1943.

The 10 per cent in passenger fares and 3 to 6 per cent increases in freight rates were ordered March 18, 1943. The freight rate boost has been under suspension since May 15, 1943. The passenger fare increases are still in effect.

In the first five post-war years the minimum replacement needs of the railroads will be 350,000 freight cars and 635 locomotives, Parmelee said, at an annual cost of 300 million dollars, plus 50 millions a year for passenger cars.

Gross revenues for 1944 will be about 9 billion 450 million dollars, an increase of nearly 2 billion dollars over 1942, but net income this year will be less than in 1942 by about 250,000 millions, Parmelee estimated. He added that net earnings have been declining for 15 months.

Rail Costs Increase.

Parmelee said that the office of price administration has said the railroads have "outstripped industry generally" in war profit benefits, but actually, he said, they are "carrying freight at less than average pre-war charges despite the fact that wages and prices they pay have risen more than 35 per cent since 1939."

In asking the ICC to restore the freight rate increases averaging 4.7 per cent, Parmelee said that OPA's statement and tables "were not on a properly comparable basis." Figures for industry in general, he said, were taken from bureau of internal revenue reports, while figures for the railroads were from reports of the ICC, "in which the two important factors of fixed charges and taxation are treated differently."

WESTERN UNION BARGAIN AGENT VOTE ORDERED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 [Special].—The national labor relations board today ordered that seven collective bargaining elections be held within 90 days among employes of Western Union Telegraph company from coast to coast. The elections will cover 60,000 employes in 19,000 offices in six geographic divisions and the home office.

Employes who were on the pay roll in October, 1943, will vote whether they wish to be represented by the Commercial Telegraphers union [AFL] or by the American Communications association [CIO].

The seven geographical units were recommended by Samuel H. Jaffe, NLRB trial examiner on July 10. The CIO had asked for more than 100 units, but Jaffe held that this would mean a "crazy quilt" election. The AFL had asked for a single nation-wide bargaining unit.

Reaffirm No Court Review Decision on WLB Orders

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—The United States Court of Appeals reaffirmed today a former decision that directives of the national war labor board are not subject to court review. The court thus reversed a District court decision denying a WLB motion for dismissal of an injunction suit of the United States Gypsum company to prevent enforcement of a directive affecting a Warren, O., plant. The directive dealt with union maintenance and dues check-off.

STOCKS SLUMP IN WIDE TRADE, LED BY MOTORS

G. M., Chrysler Off 2 Points or More.

Crash Anniversary

Today is the 15th anniversary of the stock market crash of Oct. 24, 1929, when approximately 22 million shares of stock and 25 million dollars of bonds were sold on American securities markets to touch off the depression. Later market breaks, notably on Oct. 28 and 29 and Nov. 13, struck heavier blows at the markets.

New York, Oct. 23 (AP). — Stock prices swung lower on a broad selling wave today, led by motors, with pivotal issues yielding fractions to more than two points. Transfers were 1,024,690 shares, largest since Sept. 7, and of 967 issues appearing 721 were down and 98 up.

Selling appeared after a moderately active and slightly mixed opening and final hour sales made up more than half the total. Analysts blamed the continued reluctance of the averages to penetrate the 7 year highs of July. Accounts also were trimmed on the advice of some investment services which gave as their reasons election uncertainty and lack of war inspiration.

Average Off 0.7 Point.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite was off 0.7 point at 54.9, widest recession since Sept. 6.

Prominent losers were General Motors, Chrysler, United States Steel, Bethlehem, Goodyear, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Douglas, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Great Northern, J. I. Case, Deere, du Pont, Johns-Manville, Anaconda, American Smelting, General Electric, Consolidated Edison, and Standard Oil [New Jersey].

RAIL BONDS SLUMP.

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—Railroad bonds were under selling pressure today; many lost fractions to more than a point. Other major groups in the bond market made a reasonably good showing, altho all departments had declines.

CHICAGO LIST LOWER.

Prices were lower in turnover of 37,000 shares yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Active issues included Marshall Field, down ¼; Chicago corporation and Armour, each off ¼, and Commonwealth Edison, unchanged. Five 1944 highs were reached.

Expect Record Tire Demand, Prosperity for Manufacturers

The public will be in the market for at least 75 million tires annually in the first three years after the war, and this demand should bring an era of unparalleled prosperity to the tire business, D. W. Walsh, general manager of the tire division of the United States Rubber company, predicted yesterday at the annual convention of the National Association of Independent Tire Dealers in the Sherman hotel.

He said the rubber industry may have difficulty in meeting the demand, because its total annual pre-war output was 54 million units. United States Rubber, however, is expanding its production facilities 24 per cent in preparation for the unprecedented demand.

Performance at High Level.

The development of synthetic tires has reached a point where their performance is practically on a par with pre-war natural tires, he said, and experts believe half the post-war tires will be synthetics.

Guy Gale, representative of the National Bureau of Standards, reported that the bureau recently had investigated the need to establish standards governing new passenger car tires sold to the public, as distinguished from those sold to automobile manufacturers.

"Establishment of such a standard would in no way retard the production and sale of de luxe or premium tires with additional merchandising features," he said. "It would, in fact, call attention to known brands and give the tire salesman a better opportunity to sell up in quality rather than down in price."

Fewer Low Quality Lines.

"It would help create a demand by the purchaser that would be instrumental in reducing the number of lines of tires below the level covered by the standard adopted. This reduction of lines of low quality tires would promote increased turnover of stock investment, lower selling cost, increased profit, and better value to the purchaser.

"The low price market could then be taken care of thru the sale of used tires, good repaired tires and good carcasses recapped or treaded, and this would help make a better balanced industry."

STRIKERS VOTE TO RETURN TO 3 KELSEY PLANTS

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 23 (AP).—Striking employes of three Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company plants voted tonight to return to their jobs tomorrow. The decision was made at a meeting which Edward Cote, president of local 147, United Automobile Workers [CIO], described as a "last attempt" to end the eight day strike of 6,500 workers "without resorting to drastic measures."

Commercial Printers Strike.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—A strike by commercial printers today held up issues of several publications, among them the American Federation of Labor's Federationist and the National Geographic magazine. Members of Columbia Typographical union, 101, voted to hold continuous meetings until employers sign a contract raising pay 9 cents an hour.

Pork Fat Suit Against 4 Big Packers Dismissed

Federal District Judge Barnes yesterday dismissed a suit brought by OPA against Swift & Co., Armour & Co., Wilson & Co., and the Cudahy Packing company in which it was charged that the companies sold pork loins and butts with more than the half-inch of fat prescribed by OPA regulations. In dismissing the suit, the court overruled a motion by Alex Elson, regional OPA attorney, asking the court to keep the suit on the docket for possible reinstatement if basis for a suit was found in the future.

MINOR TRADES CALLED ON FOR POST-WAR JOBS

Terms Distribution Major Source.

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—Eric A. Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, asked tonight for widely expanded post-war employment in the distribution field and said 2 million jobs could be supplied if each employer in the service trades hired only one more employe.

"We can't expect too much of the manufacturing industries," he said. "In 1940 they employed 10 million people. The number has risen until now, in 1944, they employ 16 million. In the next few years our manufacturers, large and small, will do a whale of a job if they can employ 14 million."

Job Opportunities Told.

In an address at the first session of a two-day marketing conference sponsored by his organization, Johnston said: "The largest opportunities for new employment will come in the fields of trade, finance, service and what the economists term 'miscellaneous.' The last is always the hardest to define. It's the man who cuts your grass or stokes your furnace."

MINOR TRADES CALLED ON FOR POST-WAR JOBS

Terms Distribution Field Major Source.

He told the several hundred wholesalers, retailers and representatives of related industries that the United States has 30 million workers on farms, in factories, mines and construction work who fill "the industrial pipe line full of merchandise" but less than 20 million to distribute such goods.

Edward N. Allen, president of the National Retail Dry Goods association, said American retailers would have to distribute at least 110 billion dollars of goods yearly after the war against 24 billion in 1929 and a record high of 91 billion last year.

Must Have More Goods.

He pointed out that the government will no longer be a customer in peace time and said retailers must change their pre-war distributive setup to move such a vast amount of merchandise.

Howard E. Blood, chairman of the distribution committee of the National Association of Manufacturers and head of Norge division of Borg-Warner corporation, took the office of price administration to task for some of its policies when he said:

"The OPA's actions prove its officials believe they should not only protect the country from unnecessary price rises, but should squeeze unit profit structures and set individual prices even at the no profit level whenever manufacturers' overall profit position would, in the judgment of OPA, make that endurable."

Blood said OPA administrator Bowles "gives the impression that materials will cost no more than before the war. I wish he were my purchasing agent and could make good on that."

Will Consult Business Men.

Ernest L. Olrich, head of the treasury surplus property office, said business men will be consulted whenever the government has surplus inventories to dispose of in "dangerously large lots." He said his office so far has not had enough surplus goods to sell to cause serious dislocations.

B. Earl Puckett, vice chairman of the American Retail federation, said citizens seeking surplus goods should not be branded speculators. He said the price should be the same for all buyers of excess merchandise and disagreed with some trade quarters who argued groups which were not retailers as of a given date should be kept from buying surplus goods.

PROFIT CASHING REDUCES LARGE RYE ADVANCES

Rye futures advanced 1⅜ to 3¼ cents a bushel in early trading yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade to reach a new high since July on general commission house and professional buying which uncovered stop loss orders. December sold at one time at $1.14¼, or 20⅝ cents above the recent low. Profit taking caused a reaction from the top and the close was ⅛ to 1⅜ cents higher.

Wheat developed independent weakness in late trading in sympathy with a break of 1⅜ cents in Minneapolis, but regained part of the decline and closed ⅜ to ½ cent lower. Oats finished ⅜ to ⅝ cent higher with cash houses buying December and May. Corn was unchanged to ⅛ cent higher and barley ¼ cent lower to ¼ cent higher.

HOG OFFERINGS LARGER; SELL AT CEILING PRICES

The average price of hogs yesterday advanced to the highest level since October of last year altho receipts at the Chicago stock yards were the biggest for Monday since last July. Buyers paid an average of $14.65 a hundred pounds, within 10 cents of the OPA ceiling for top light classes, and 5 cents above the close last week.

Steel Output Estimated at 96.3 Pct. of Capacity

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—Steel production this week was estimated today at 96.3 per cent of capacity by the American Iron and Steel institute. Last week the rate was 97.0 per cent and a month ago 95.1 per cent.

LEGAL OVERCAST DARKENS CITY'S FUTURE IN AIR

Fate Rests with Illinois Port Authority Act.

BY FRANK HUGHES.

Chicago's future as an air travel center, hampered by the city government's indecision on a long range air terminal plan, also lies under a legal cloud, it was disclosed yesterday. This piece of high overcast is jet black or light cream, according to the degree of pessimism of the lawyer last interviewed. All of them, however, are looking to a forthcoming decision by the Illinois Supreme court for a possible way out.

While Chicago city officials are talking about taking advantage of the boom in air travel that everybody thinks will follow the war, New York City is constructing a gigantic 100 million dollar air terminal on Jamaica Bay, L. I. This is to be the world's finest airport. It has the two cardinal advantages that Chicago's port some day must have if Chicago is to get the overseas business: Easy access to the city and ready expansibility so that runways can be lengthened to, accommodate anything that flies.

Work Hums at Jamaica Bay.

Some forward looking Chicago citizens believe that if New York can do it, their city ought to be able to do it, too. But the drag lines and earth movers are working at Jamaica bay while Chicago officials make speeches, undecided whether to try costly improvements at the existing traffic bound Chicago airport or to locate a better one elsewhere.

There are two general plans of airport action for Chicago, city, and state, both of which have bogged down. Mayor Kelly on several occasions has expressed himself in favor of a great airport on the downtown lake front, similar to New York's Jamaica bay installation. He also has favored three, four, or five airports in other sections of the city, possibly supplemental to the lake front port. He hasn't said which will come first, so nothing tangible has been done about any of them.

Airlines Put Up $1,200,000.

The mayor and the city council's airport committee are faced with the more immediate problem of making the Chicago airport last out the war. This port, at 63d st. and Cicero av., had the world's finest runways before the war, but it would cost an estimated 50 million dollars to improve them to the 10,000 foot lengths some engineers believe will be necessary for transoceanic planes 5 to 15 years from now. The Chicago airport also is 45 minutes from the loop by airline limousine. Its terminal building has been inadequate for a long time, and the airlines have offered to lend the city $1,200,000 for a new building. Whether to build this terminal, and if so, where, is occupying the city officials now.

Gov. Green, disturbed by the prospect that Illinois and Chicago will be outstripped in the race for air supremacy because the Kelly administration can't get started, has announced a program of big airports, state financed where necessary, to serve the big cities, including Chicago.

"We have the resources to make Illinois the world center of air transportation and we are determined that we shall not miss that goal by any want of energy, planning, and funds," the governor said a month ago.

Working with Gov. Green is the Illinois post-war planning commission's airport committee, headed by Louis E. Leverone, and the Illinois aeronautic commission, of which Ben Regan is chairman. These groups are preparing expansion of present air facilities in Illinois on a huge scale, but their energy and their willingness to put state funds into the work have been hampered by the legal troubles.

The city operates the Chicago airport under chapter 23, section 96, of the revised cities and villages act, part of the Illinois statutes, which allows corporate authorities to acquire and maintain airports within or without city limits. It also gives them power to condemn, to remove obstacles, to regulate height of buildings within two miles of airports, and to lease the airports or charge fees for use of them.

Additional Powers Granted.

Chapter 24 of this act grants similar powers to municipalities of 500,000 persons or less, and also includes methods of financing airport construction thru bond issues and tax levies. In the last session of the legislature the Green administration-sponsored and secured passage of a municipal airport authorities act which would supplement, and might even supercede, this special powers act governing smaller municipalities.

To municipalities of 500,000 persons or less the municipal airport authority act gave these additional powers, not contained in chapter 24: [1] It allowed two or more municipalities to join together in forming an airport authority, which would be established only by referendum; [2] it made an airport authority a separate corporate body, able to levy taxes and issue bonds against the property within the authority's area, completely apart from municipal obligations and taxes; [3] it placed airport construction under state supervision as to size and specifications so that large airports cannot be built where they are not needed and poor design will be avoided; [4] it provided the means by which municipal airport authorities can obtain state and federal aid for construction of airports, and [5] it safeguarded home rule of communities over their airports.

Act Ruled Unconstitutional.

The airport authority act also included the condemnation and acquisition provisions and powers to manage, operate, lease, and collect fees for use of airports granted in chapter 23, section 96, which governs Chicago's airport activities, and in chapter 24, which governs airports of municipalities of 500,000 persons or less.

The airport authority act was passed in May, 1943, by the 63d Illinois general assembly, and signed by Gov. Green. Several cities, including Springfield, set to work organizing airport authorities under its provisions. On March 21, 1944, the Illinois Supreme court, on petition of a group of Springfield taxpayers, ruled the airport authority act unconstitutional.

It is this opinion, one of the most sweeping and unusual in recent aviation history, which has put the state program in knots and threatens Chicago's future and present airport facilities. Chicago was not directly affected by the airport authority act because of the 500,000 population limit in the original law.

Powers Held "Purely Private."

The Supreme court, however, declared the act unconstitutional because "such facilities [airports] will serve no public purpose whatever." The airport authority's powers, the opinion continued, are "in no sense governmental. They are purely private." The court, therefore, ruled the taxing, bond issue, and other powers granted under the act unconstitutional.

Some attorneys believe that the court's language hit not so much at the new powers granted in the airport authority act as at the original law under which Chicago and smaller municipalities have been constructing and operating airports for many years.

If airports "serve no public purpose whatever" they say, what is to prevent chapter 23, section 96 of the revised cities and villages act from being declared unconstitutional, thus making Chicago's 13 million dollar investment in the Municipal airport and projected investment in a post-war terminal thoroly illegal?

City Concedes Doubt Is Cast.

Joseph Grossman, assistant city corporation counsel, admitted that the Supreme court opinion "cast doubt" on chapter 23, section 96, when the city sought to intervene in an appeal of the decision last April.

Other attorneys say that 51 decisions in 27 states uphold the kind of law the Green administration drafted into the municipal airport authority act and that the Supreme court's original opinion cannot be sustained. They point to the New York Jamaica bay project and the great investment all major cities have made and are making in airports as evidence that the public want them and that they serve the public good.

They also say that the Illinois airport authority act is a model piece of legislation which will be copied by other states, and that Chicago would be wise, in the event it is upheld, to obtain an amendment lifting the 500,00 population limit so that a Chicago airport authority could be formed.

Rehearing Holds Out Hope.

The state supreme court has entertained a petition for rehearing of its March 21 decision, and is expected during this session at Springfield to announce whether it will reverse itself. Some state officials hope for a reversal and others say that appeal will probably be taken to the United States Supreme court if the state reaffirms its original opinion.
